Peter Trans Caught in Cribbing While Working Under Water Falls

Airplanes Rush Rescue Party To Scene of Disaster Late Wednesday

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two expert divers, who arrived at the isolated village of Riviere Aux Outrades late today by airplane, tonight donned underwater toggery and descended to the bottom of the Outarde river in an attempt to rescue Peter Trans, imprisoned by snagged equipment since Monday.

QUEBEC, Que., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The elements appeared to have triumphed today in a desperate battle for the life of a deep sea diver who was trapped at the bottom of the Outarde river, in an isolated section 175 miles north of here. Diver on Bottom Since Last Monday

Peter Trans was caught Monday in the cribbing at the bottom of a falls where the Ontario Paper company is constructing a power plant, at a point near where the Outarde empties into the St. Lawrence.

Two airplanes bearing two rescue divers set out yesterday to go to Trans' aid, but they were forced down by a snowstorm at Rimouski. A volunteer diver went down twice yesterday and reported Trans could be freed only by sawing away the crib, but he was afraid to try it himself lest he accidentally sever the air lines.

Today a laborer, Arvo Silvala, put a diving suit and went down into the ice waters. He worked close enough to Trans to grip his hand. There was no response, Trans was either unconscious from the long exposure or dead.

Three Party Makes His Way in Airplane
Meanwhile the two divers, Quessel Moreney and Lewis Begun, resumed their flight today and arrived at Riviere Aux Outrades. But when they got there the current had become too swift for them to go below.

They departed from Toronto, Ont., said a third diver, W. T. Dudley, who never had flow before, started from there this afternoon by plane. His party expected to reach Quebec tonight, and if weather conditions are favorable, to continue at once to another point across the St. Lawrence from Riviere Aux Outrades. They will complete the trip tomorrow as soon as daylight and weather permit.

A statement by General Estrada (above), Foreign Minister of Mexico, revealed that the Mexican Minister as Moscow had been ordered to leave Russia several days ago, and that all others in the Embassy personnel were directed to quit the Russian capital as an "act of protest." The break was brought about by recent Communist manifestations before Mexican embassies.

JUDGE NOT SANE IS HIS TRIAL DEFENSE

Acute Alcoholism Caused by Excessive Use of Bootleg Rum, Claim

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two physicians late today after John W. Brady's own counsel read a long indictment against him as a man who killed a woman because his finer instincts had been destroyed by bootleg liquor, testified in effect: "Such a man is insane."

Brady, on trial here for the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28, with whom the defense said he had had a long "affair" heard from E. A. Berry, chief of his lawyers, the story of the defense case as Berry described it to Doctors Goodall and Joe Wooten, brothers.

The 59 year old defendant, a former civil appeals court judge, did not alter his expression perceptibly as Berry said in substance to the Wootens: "Doctor, it is in evidence here that John Brady until a few years ago had an exceptionally bright mind and held a high place in the public service and the public trust."

It is in evidence here that a few years ago he started greatly over-indulging in bootleg liquor. That he became surly, morose, (Turn to Page 2, Please.)

ANTI-FILIPINO POGROMS ARE TO BE PROBED

Investigation of Race Riots Launched in Central California Section

Islanders Barred From Participating in Prize Fights To Avoid Trouble

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—William J. French, director of the department of industrial relations, said in a report to the council of Governor C. C. Young today that a state investigation of the recent race riots in central California has been launched.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Filipinos, involved during the past fortnight in several disturbances in several California communities, were barred today from the state's prizefight rings. "To prevent further ill feelings and possible serious trouble," said a telegram to a Vallejo promoter from the state boxing commission, "please do not book any Filipino boxers until further notice. If any are now booked, take them off the cards and get substitutes."

Police heads at centers of recent disorders moved today to prevent further trouble. Stockton was quiet after a noisy night, in which the front of a Filipino clubhouse was blown away and several streets were reported. No one was injured. More than 15,000 Filipinos make their homes in or near Stockton.

Authorities investigating the bombing are not fully convinced that it was the work of whites and are investigating the possibility of an internal dispute among members of the local Filipino colony. "The Filipino question at Watsonville, near which city Fernin Tobera, Filipino lettuce worker, was killed last week in a riotous attack on a Filipino bunk house, developed a political angle. The county committee of the Filipino Citizens league announced the organization would file suits for damages against Sheriff N. P. Sinnott and District Attorney Wilbur Gardner on the grounds that the riots last week would not have occurred if they exercised "proper vigilance."

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 29.—(AP)—With the arrest late today of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Baze and Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, police and federal prohibition agents announced that the four probably will be charged with interfering and attacking a federal agent in the discharge of his duty in connection with the kidnaping and beating of D. Dunning an under cover prohibition informer, early today.

Bonds for the two men were set at $10,000. Mrs. Williams at $1,000 and Mrs. Baze at $5,000. The arrest of Mrs. Baze, who was charged with having taken an active part in the attack, was followed rapidly by the issuance of warrants for the others. Williams was the owner of the car used and the driver at the time, police said.

Dunning, with R. Ginn, had just completed a deal for a quantity of liquor with the four, and had started to arrest them, the agents reported. Ginn was knocked from the running board of the car and Dunning, who was in the machine, was taken away, they said. He was found wandering in a dazed condition several hours after the kidnaping. Dunning said he had been beaten with a wrench and choked while he was being driven around Lake Washington. He was in the city hospital today suffering with severe bruises and an injury to one eye.

MINNESOTA SEEKS NEW GRID MENTOR

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 29.—(AP)—three year contract at $10,000 a year are the terms on which Tom Lieb, former assistant coach at Notre Dame, will accept the post as head football coach at the University of Minnesota, it was learned today.

Lieb, who was formerly an assistant coach at the University of Minnesota, was named today as the new mentor of the football team. Lieb is a former player at the University of Minnesota and was a member of the team which won the national championship in 1927.

Minnesota's counter proposal to Lieb was $7,500 a year with an annual increase of $500 to $10,000 a year, which is the highest salary paid any member of the faculty. Lieb had a contract in his pocket calling for $12,000 a year from another school which he declined to name. It is known, however, that he is wanted as an assistant coach at the University of California, and as head coach at Auburn college in Alabama.

Everett Billiard Artist Winner in Northwest Event

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Everett C. G. Olaguez of Portland, 290 to 114 in the final and deciding game of the tournament, won the Pacific Northwest amateur 18.9 ball billiard championship at the Hotel Vancouver here tonight. The contest went 21 innings.

Wallgren will meet Richard Fouts, southwest champion at Seattle next month for the Pacific coast title, now held by the Everett sharp shooter. The winner of the match becomes eligible for the national title, to be held at French Lick, Indiana, the week starting March 10. Wallgren won the national title last year, only to lose it two months later to Ray Fessenden at Madison, Wis.

Olaguez, a comparative newcomer in major competition, lost only one game during the tournament here, giving him second place. Sam Cooper, Seattle, was third.

WOMAN AVERS SHE CULTIVATED 'BEST'

Common People Avoided for Husband's Sake Asserts Plaintiff in Suit

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Interposed with defense attempt to impeach her testimony, Mrs. Mattie Dean Hutchinson, Chicago society woman, told under cross examination today of her attempt to cultivate the "best people" as an aid to her husband, Samuel S. Hutchinson, whose alleged paramour, Mrs. Edith P. Taylor, she is suing for alienation of affections.

Hutchinson, a Chicago film distributor, and Mrs. Taylor, from whom the wife seeks $200,000 for an alleged love affair which she claimed existed for 20 years before she became aware of it, sat in the superior court with bowed heads, occasionally glancing at the witness as she told of her life in tones sometimes faltered. "What do you mean by the best?" Defense Attorney Bryon Hanna asked Mrs. Hutchinson following her testimony about her social acquaintances.

"Well, the best," she replied. "I tried to cultivate people of social distinction to help Mr. Hutchinson in his business and socially. "Did you try to cultivate common people?"

"I tried not to," Hanna produced a letter written to Hutchinson by his wife three months after their separation in 1927, while he was living in Chicago. The letter, which she claimed existed for 20 years before she became aware of it, sat in the superior court with bowed heads, occasionally glancing at the witness as she told of her life in tones sometimes faltered. "What do you mean by the best?" Defense Attorney Bryon Hanna asked Mrs. Hutchinson following her testimony about her social acquaintances.

SILVER THAW HELD NOT LIKELY TODAY

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 29.—(AP)—With the forecast of not much change in temperature, there will be no prospects of a harsh silver thaw in this district tomorrow or Friday, the weatherman promised today.

Today the mercury hovered one or two degrees above the freezing point and the weather was sufficiently warm to fill gutters to the brim with running water and slushy snow.

A mild silver thaw hit the higher regions of the city late yesterday, but the ice melted today. Traffic moved up the Columbia river highway today after a day of workmen from Multnomah county and the state highway commission joined forces in clearing off the ice from the pavement near Waukena Falls and drifts of tapoca snow near Multnomah falls. The air battle was successful and Union Pacific trains, blocked by huge drifts in the same district, moved over their regular tracks today.

PATROL TO PREVENT IMMIGRATION ASKED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Sweep along by an ineffectual effort to claim an additional $100,000 for patrolling the borders, the immigration question moved into the house today with signs pointing toward its becoming a major issue.

The matter was brought to the fore with the offer of an amendment by Chairman Johnson, of the immigration committee, to the $400,000 appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1930. The bill carries $100,000 for coast and border patrols. After a brief debate, the amendment was defeated by a 76 to 9 vote. Undismayed, proponents of a strengthened guard along the boundaries of the nation to prevent the illegal influx of immigrants in Oregon and Washington, continued to express their views.

ICE PREVENTS VESSEL'S TRIP WITH SUPPLIES

Community of Brookfield Is Still Marooned Awaiting Provisions

New Attempt to Be Made Today; Other Towns Are Reached Easily

ASTORIA, Ore., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Efforts of the river steamer Effrin to carry provisions to the isolated community of Brookfield, on north bank of the Columbia river, failed today when the vessel was unable to break through a 10 foot ice barrier fronting the village.

The Effrin penetrated the ice to other communities without difficulties, however, and anchored at Skamokawa, Wash., tonight. She will make another attempt to smash her way to Brookfield tomorrow. If this fails the light-house tender Rose will be asked to open a channel to the marooned village.

Food Supply Now Nearly Exhausted
Reports received here from Brookfield today indicated food supplies in the village were being pooled and that while privation does not yet exist, there would be great need of provisions in the next few days. Some families were said to have been without supplies for the last ten days and have been living on food furnished by neighbors.

The steamer Beaver of the Haskins Transportation company, which started down the Columbia river today, was not expected here until tonight as she found ice conditions in the river difficult between Portland and Longview. No attempt was made to send the Undine, of the same line, up stream.

DENTAL EDUCATION DECLARED NEEDED

Health Unit Official Submits Report After Examinations Here

A report of the findings of Dr. Eastl Brunk, dentist with the county health unit, in the dental examinations held this month in the nine grade and two junior high schools in Salem has just been submitted to the office of the city school superintendent, and shows that 66.4 per cent of the 3,119 children examined in the schools are in need of dental care.

The fact that school children are not responding more to the dental aspect of personal cleanliness is disappointing to school health leaders, but following Dr. Brunk's report, an intensive campaign of dental education will be put on in the schools here from February 10 to 14, inclusive, when the school dentist will show films and in each school make a special effort to induce children to help reduce the percentage of bad teeth. Dental defects have consistently shown in the health program in Salem, and have alone been responsible for keeping many children from the annual health honor roll.

A large number of school children here have defects corrected one year, or following the dentist's recommendation, but do not form the habit of keeping teeth cared for regularly or of going to the family dentist every few months for examinations, the dental inspections reveal. Children simply wait, in many cases, until the annual school inspection comes before any attention is paid. Some children's teeth are (Turn to Page 2, Please.)

NEW FORESTER FOR DISTRICT IS NAMED

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Clarence J. Buck, assistant district forester in charge of land management, will succeed C. M. Granger, former district forester here, on March 1.

Buck has been a resident of Oregon since 1908. He was born in Massachusetts, October 16, 1881, graduating from Williams college in Massachusetts in 1903. He obtained his master of forestry degree from the Yale School of Forestry in 1905.

Two years after his arrival here he was appointed to the position which he has since held. Previous to that he was deputy forest supervisor in the Klamath national forest in California. Later he was made supervisor of the Crater national forest in Oregon and in 1929 he held the position of assistant chief of operations during the formation of the western forest districts.

Notable among his achievements during his service with the local district office were his efforts in the reforestation work in Oregon and Washington, and his work in the establishment of a competitive

Parts Of Eielson Plane Scattered Over Large Area

Last Hope for Flyers Abandoned When Cabin Is Found Unoccupied Short Distance From Scene of Machine's Wreck

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The fourth day of digging for the bodies of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland in northern Siberia's hard packed snow at the lonely spot where their plane crashed nearly three months ago revealed more objects from the plane scattered far and wide but the remains of Alaska's great air hero and his young comrade had not yet been found.

Seven men were opening four foot trenches through ice and snow over an area as large as the average city block 90 miles southeast of North Cape, where Eielson's ship crashed in a hole, apparently traveling full speed. But Seven of 18 Gas Cases Found
Only seven of the 18 cases of gasoline which Eielson was carrying from Teller, Alaska, to the icebound trading ship Nanuk at North Cape, on his ill-fated flight of November 9 have been found. Mitten seat cushions, parts of the motor, batteries and provisions have also been uncovered.

Belief that the fliers' bodies are buried in the same area and covered by several feet of snow during nearly three months of winter blizzards was strengthened by the discovery of a trapper's cabin a few miles from the wreck. Searchers believe that if Eielson and Borland had escaped alone they would have found the Russian's shack, which lies about half way between the wreck and the coast of the Arctic ocean, ten miles away.

ANOTHER FAMILIAR LANDMARK CHANGED

Service Station to Be Built On Boise Property Upon Court Street

Extension of the downtown business section eastward on the north side of Court street, was forecast Wednesday when it was revealed that Breyman Boise had leased a portion of his property on the northeast corner of Court and Church, occupied for many years by the old Eugene Breyman dwelling, to the Texas Oil company which is planning, it was reported, to erect an elaborate super service station on the property.

The dwelling, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Boise, will be moved to property which they own on North Summer street, just south of Mill creek. Construction of the service station cannot be started until weather conditions permit of the removal of the dwelling.

The ground lease, Breyman Boise said Wednesday, does not include the large walnut tree which stands on the property. That some development in that part of the city might be expected soon was indicated more than a year ago when the city council at the recommendation of the planning and zoning commission approved a change for this corner.

Mr. Boise had assured the commission that no building would be permitted there which would detract from the beauty of the civic center. He said Wednesday that his investigation of plans for the plant would be attractive and in keeping with the surroundings.

STOCK MART MAKES YEAR'S HIGH LEVER

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Speculative interest in today's markets was divided between the further recovery in stock prices which carried the index of 90 leading issues to a new high level for the year, and the renewed weakness of wheat and cotton futures, the latter touching new low levels for the season. Gains in the stock market ran from 1 to 1 1/2 points but these were interspersed with a number of declines ranging from fractions to 4 points.

Excellent steel news, including the publication of the unexpectedly favorable statement by the U. S. Steel corporation and reports of a further upturn in steel mill activity, provided the chief stimulus to the buying movement. This was fortified by a series of favorable dividend developments, including a resumption of payments by Colorado Fuel after a lapse of nine years and extra payments by Liggett and Myers and International Silver, and by a further reduction in the daily average of crude oil production.

Such irregularity as developed in the stock market during the day was due largely to speculation by traders who had piled up profits in the recent advance.

HIGH SUGAR BEETS PRICES HELD VALID

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 29.—(AP)—High prices paid for sugar beets by the Great Western Sugar company of Denver, were merely "bargain days" for sugar beet growers holding contracts with the company and were not paid to restrain interstate commerce, Federal Judge J. W. Woodruff ruled here today in dismissing the government's criminal action brought against the company.

By FRANK H. KING

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—New and unexpected difficulties of procedure arose tonight to threaten the smooth running of the plenary session of the naval conference tomorrow. To this power agreement on the method of measuring fleet tonnage was practically complete, however, and ready to be broadcast to the world through the newspapermen who will be admitted to the session.

The problem which so suddenly reared its head grew from objections to the proposed steering committee of delegates on methods and limitations, the setting up of which was expected to be the chief formal business of the session tomorrow. To this committee were to be referred technical questions such as those France and Italy have been wrangling over for more than a week, so that the conference proper can go forward with the business of disarmament.

OFFICE CORRUPTION IN WYOMING CITED

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Efforts of Wyoming bootleggers to create a system of state maintained blockades with their districts, thereby shutting off importations from outside territory, were related here today in the trial of W. C. Irving, former state law enforcement officer and 22 co-defendants on a conspiracy charge.

George A. Smith, a deputy in the law enforcement department, testified that Sylvester Taylor of Thermopolis asked him to stop the importation of Kemmerer, Wyo., liquor into Thermopolis territory. "It's hurting my business in Thermopolis and something is going to be done about it," Smith said Taylor told him.

Smith testified that he refused to have any dealing with Taylor. "That being the case, I'll have to go over your head for I have done business with other officers," Taylor is alleged to have told Smith, adding that his demands had been granted.
