STILL ANOTHER EFFORT MADE BY RIVER BOAT

Third Attempt to Carry Provisions to Ice-Locked Town Planned

Steamer Effin Able to Get To Port 900 Feet From Shore Yesterday

ASTORIA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A third attempt will be made tomorrow by the river steamer Effin to carry provisions to the 70 families of ice-locked Brookfield, Wash., a fishing village on the north bank of the Columbia river. The Effin failed to reach Brookfield yesterday and today could only penetrate the ice to within 900 feet of the shore. Captain J. C. Babbidge, master of the steamer, climbed from his vessel and walked over dangerous ice to meet two residents of the village, however, and delivered a sack of mail and medicine for two children who are sick.

Relief for Dairy Cattle to Be Brought

Following the Brookfield trip the Effin and Rose will attempt to break a channel to Tenas Isalah island, where 200 dairy cattle are reported to have only one bale of hay between them and starvation. The two vessels also will endeavor to free the river steamer Wasco from the ice near Cathlamet, Wash.

Relief for Dairy Cattle to Be Brought

The Barkline line steamer Beaver arrived here at 1 p. m. today, 30 hours after leaving Portland. Captain Hordford said his vessel was twice caught fast in the ice for several hours. The Beaver will start up river tomorrow.

WASHINGTON NOW IS SNOW COVERED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Snowflakes swirling hour after hour dressed Washington deeply in white today to the delight of the children and the dismay of persons in a hurry.

Just as with Herbert Hoover, the thousands of government workers found their getting to work presented a problem out of the ordinary. The president, whose temporary office is only across the street from the White House, avoided walking through the snow by being driven from his front door to the state department building.

On Capitol Hill, senators debated the tariff duty which could be laid against straw hats—seemingly heedless of damp, cold feet caused by wading through the thick but soft mass on the ground outside.

The snowfall was the heaviest since the record day eight years ago this week, when the weight of 28 inches led to the loss of 98 lives in the crash of the Knickerbocker moving picture theatre roof. By late afternoon the foot-flogging mark had been passed. Whirls still dotting the air as twilight approached—a probable 16 degrees above zero forecast for tonight. No serious accidents were reported during the day.

INTOXICATION CHARGED

James Fleming was arrested by local police Thursday night on a charge of drunkenness. Officers reported he had been imbibing hopped beer.

Liquor Ring Declared To Be Nipped As 3 Arrested

What may have been a flourishing liquor ring was nipped in hand by state and city officials here Thursday with the arrest of three men in whose possession was found a considerable quantity of bottled "imported" gin, whiskey and ale. Two of the men, Leonard Grant and Charles Dake, were apprehended at the home of Mike Lewis, a laborer living on the river road north of Salem, while the third man, Dewey Dickson, was arrested by a city officer.

Surveying Crews Of County Start Work in Earnest

County Engineer Medda Swart's surveying crews are slated to start work in earnest today lining up surveys for market road work to be completed or started next summer. One surveying crew was sent out from the engineer's office yesterday to start a survey on the Fern Ridge road. This morning a crew under Engineer McGee will depart for Union Hill for a short period of work.

The Fern Ridge crew is under the direction of Don Bell, with A. C. Shaw and J. C. Herron as assistants. It is doubtful that any length of time will be necessary to complete the survey on that road and it is likely that this crew will be transferred over to the Marion-West Stayton road, which is due to be added to the list of market roads.

BIDS REQUESTED ON FILTRATION PLANT

Report Made to Public Service Commission at Its Hearing

Tenders for bids on the filtration plant which the Oregon-Washington Water Service company will have erected in Salem, have been sent out from the San Francisco office of the company, and bids will be opened February 14, it was stated by J. T. Delaney, vice president, at the hearing before the public service commission here Thursday forenoon.

The contract will be let early enough so that construction will be started February 23; water will be coming through the filtration plant July 15, and the system will be entirely completed and giving full service August 15, Mr. Delaney assured Frank J. Miller, chairman of the commission.

Penalty Provided To Prevent Delay
The contract will provide a heavy penalty for any delay in completing the system. Mr. Delaney explained, assuring that it will be finished by the time specified unless some unavoidable circumstance prevents.

In response to Mr. Miller's statement that the company had taken an unwarranted length of time to complete its plans, Mr. Delaney declared that a great amount of research and planning had been necessary to assure the type of plant that would be suited to Salem's needs. It was designed, he said, to fit the requirements of purifying the water available here.

Much Money and Effort Used
Study had been made originally, he continued, of all possible sources including wells and mountain water. After the Willamette river was selected as the source, several sites for the filtration plant were considered, and originally one west of the river was selected but it had to be abandoned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A rough and tumble prohibition debate swept over the tariff-occupied senate today after Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, read part of a letter reporting that "real gin cocktails and 'fish house rum punch' are served in the Century club in New York City."

Refusing to name the author of the letter Senator Brookhart fought back at the wags when that "booze conditions" in New York City have improved.

Senator Tydings, democrat, Maryland, told Brookhart if he made a diligent search he could find 50 such clubs in any of the larger cities of the country. Brookhart replied to Tydings that he "belongs to that crew which is absolutely crazy on this liquor issue."

While Lewis, the Salem man, was questioned regarding his part in the affair, he was not held. Only Grant and Dake were arraigned upon the liquor charge yesterday. Grant pleaded not guilty and will be sentenced today at 10 a. m. from justice court. Grant is an ex-convict.

TRANS' CORPSE BROUGHT UP BY FELLOW DIVERS

Death Wins Desperate Fight On Bottom of Outards River in Canada

72 Hours of Frantic Effort To Rescue Under Water Worker Fruitless

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Peter Traps, whose quest for livelihood led him into paths that he feared—down along the cold and lonely beds of seas and lakes and rivers—is dead.

And somewhere in far away Denmark are two little boys who won't be "going to America next spring to see daddy."

Trans died as he had feared he would die—helpless and alone, locked in the cumbersome and grotesque habiliments of his job, deep down in the black waters, surrounded by the fantastic shadows of the river bottom.

His lifeless body was brought up at dawn today from the beds of the Outards river, where he had been imprisoned since Monday forenoon after his lines became caught on spikes in a cofferdam in which he was working. Distaste for Job Freely Expressed

"I don't like this job," Trans told a friend in Montreal a few days ago. Just before he started for the little work camp of Point Aux Outards, at the junction of the Outards and St. Lawrence rivers, to help build a cofferdam for the Ontario Paper company.

"But," he added, "I have never refused to go down and don't expect I ever shall, whether I come up or not."

The single telegraph wire out of Pointe Aux Outards could carry today hardly more than the bare facts of the death of Peter Trans.

All through those 72 hours, (Turn to Page 2, Please.)

COMMITTEE NAMED TO MEASURE SHIPS

Arms Conference Tackles Issue of Estimating Naval Strength

ARMS SESSION IN BRIEF
By The Associated Press
Naval conference takes important step toward establishment of a "yardstick," by appointing committee to consider French compromise proposal as between categories and total tonnage.

Committee meets at three p. m. today to begin work. Secretary of the Navy says he thinks the question of her parity with France should have been taken up first, but agrees to wait in order to expedite matters.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—In a plenary session at old St. James' palace today, the five power naval conference publicly attacked and partly diminished the problem of finding a method of measure naval strength for purposes of international treaties.

As a result of the first conference session open to newspapermen, the problem of measurement by global tonnage or by tonnage in categories of ships was tonight in the hands of a special committee.

Secretary of the Navy Adams and Ambassador Hugh Gibson are the American members with (Turn to Page 2, Please.)

Borland's Gloves And Helmet Found Near Plane Crash

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The flying helmet and gloves belonging to Earl Borland, Seattle youth who disappeared with Pilot Carl Ben Eielson on a flight over Siberia on Nov. 9, were identified today among the plane wreckage found buried in snow 10 miles from the Arctic ocean and 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia.

Pilot Harold Gilliam brought two men by plane from the Russian supply ship Stavropol, icebound off North Cape, to aid the seven who have been digging in the snow at the scene of the wreck for the bodies.

WIFE, PARAMOUR BOTH BREAK DOWN

Hutchinson Admits Deserting Spouse for Woman of Less "Arrogance"

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Two women, one the wife of Samuel S. Hutchinson, Chicago film distributor, and the other his admitted paramour, today were led weeping hysterically, from the superior court room where Hutchinson was on the witness stand testifying.

Both women broke down as he told of his love for Mrs. Edith P. Taylor, mother of his 18-year-old daughter, the result he testified, of her "thrill and modesty" as compared to his wife's "arrogant attitude" and extravagance.

Hutchinson spent most of the court day on the stand, testifying against the allegations of his wife, Mattie Dean Hutchinson, who is suing Mrs. Taylor for $300,000 alienation of her husband's affections.

The Chicago man admitted that he was the father of Mrs. Taylor's 18-year-old daughter, Jane, and that the girl did not know her parents were not married.

"Mrs. Taylor did not know I was married," Hutchinson said on the stand, tears occasionally coming to his eyes, "when I met her in Valparaiso, Ind., in 1907. I made love to her and our relations were at my suggestion."

"When she learned I had a wife," he continued, "she said she was going to leave me. I told her I hoped she wouldn't. I told her that my wife was selfish and arrogant, and was greedy for my money. I said that I was not happy."

The plaintiff's wife, and the defendant burst into tears during this part of Hutchinson's testimony, and were helped out of the court room.

FILIPINOS TO HOLD 'HUMILIATION DAY'

MANILA, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A second call to observe "national humiliation day" next Sunday was issued today as a result of the bombing of a Filipino clubhouse at Stockton, Cal., following attacks upon Filipinos in Watsonville, San Jose and San Francisco.

The call says: "We must protest vigorously, but peaceably." The call is placarded with posters calling the people to services to be held on the Luneta public square. One thousand students of the University of the Philippines today adopted a resolution of protest against the attacks upon Filipinos in California.

Permission to parade was denied the students by the mayor of Manila. He announced that after Sunday's meeting, no permits for protest parades or mass meetings would be issued.

The authorities are taking all possible measures to prevent untoward incidents, and thus far there have been no disturbances. The fighting has been increased, especially in the Tondo district of Manila, where many of the native laboring class live. In this district there was some talk of gangs organizing for reprisals against Americans. Ill feeling, however, seems to have quieted down and the situation is being viewed calmly.

Welcome Being Organized For New Grid Coach

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Directors of the local chamber of commerce today took the lead in planning a welcome for Dr. Clarence W. Spears, the University of Oregon's new football coach. Dr. Spears will arrive here on Saturday or Sunday, February 22 or 23. He will arrive at Portland, where a huge reception is planned, on February 21.

PETITION FOR ANTI-FAG BILL IS FILED HERE

Initiative Measure Seeks to Make Use of Cigarettes Unconstitutional

Signatures of 99 Registered Voters Carried on Paper; Test Vote Sought

A petition asking that the initiative anti-cigarette measure be more every day the names were obtained from persons living within the immediate vicinity of Salem, it was reported.

Briefly, the anti-cigarette measure has for its purpose: a constitutional amendment prohibiting the importation, manufacture, sale, purchase, possession, giving away, or marketing for manufacture of cigarette, or advertisement thereof, and imposing penalties. A violation of the proposed law will be classed as a misdemeanor and the offender will be fined from $25 to $250 or imprisoned from 30 to 90 days, or both fine and imprisonment.

More than 10,000 names have already been obtained in our campaign," said Atchley, as he filed the petition at the court house yesterday. "Interest in the anti-cigarette move is on the increase. People are realizing more and more every day the need of such a move. Churches of the various denominations throughout the state are opening their doors and giving us a chance to present the facts on the evils of the cigarette," the field representative said.

Although the anti-cigarette league is working spiritedly in putting the measure before the people for the November election, its representative held little hope that the bill would be adopted this year. "While I doubt if the measure will pass this fall, I am assured that we will poll a large vote," said Mr. Atchley. "We are merely taking the pulse of the voters of Oregon and what we will do after we have learned that is not ready for publication," he added.

More Signatures Sought by League
The signatures of 15,556 voters are desired by the league, that number being eighty per cent of the votes cast for the election of a supreme court judge during the last general election.

It was claimed that promoters of the measure were not being backed by a church or a political organization. Support of the work is gained through subscription, it was said.

Two lectures will be given in Salem pulpits Sunday by Mr. Atchley. Sunday morning he will speak in the German Baptist church while the congregation of the First United Brethren are to be his listeners in the evening.

A. C. Bates, pastor of the Christian church at Mill City, assisted the league representative in collecting signers to the petition submitted to the county clerk yesterday.

Expenditures of Silk Producers Told at Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Expenditure of more than $10,000 by the Silk association of America to advocate a protective tariff on silk products during consideration of the pending tariff bill was disclosed today before the senate lobby committee.

This testimony was given by Howard B. Cheney, of South Manchester, Conn., chairman of the association's legislative committee, who said he had been coming to Washington on tariff matters since 1898. The first trip was with his father, who had been active in tariff matters for many years previously.

Princess Ileana Is Now Betrothed

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The wedding of Princess Ileana, daughter of Dowager Queen Marie, to Count Alexander Hockberg was being definitely fixed for April 27, at the royal palace in Sibiu.

Princess Ileana is betrothed to Count Alexander Hockberg, a member of the Rumanian nobility. The prince will leave shortly for London to visit his family, which claims to have the only descendants of the Piat dynasty which ruled Poland from the ninth to the end of the 14th century. The family has large estates in Poland.

Queen Marie and her daughter are to travel in Suria, Palestine and Egypt during the next month or so and all will return to Rumania together.

Prominent Legal Experts Will Give Police School Instruction

Martin F. Ferrey, left, and William S. Levens, dean of the college of law at Willamette University, Salem, Oregon, where a short course police school will be held February 3 to 8 inclusive for all law enforcement officers. Ferrey is an expert on psychology and will deliver a series on this subject. Levens is assistant attorney general and was outstanding in his success as a state prohibition director. Hewitt is an outstanding teacher of law and a former successful attorney.

Enforcement of Law Studied Here
Special Course for Officers Will Be Given by Willamette Law School; Fifteen Experts in Various Lines to Have Faculty Places

POLICE officers and law enforcement officers who wish to use in their profession the modern attitudes of science, will find courses offered by experts and prominent law enforcement officials at the police school to be presented by the college of law at Willamette university for six intensive days, February 3 to 8.

The police school has the endorsement of the governor of Oregon, the chief of police at Portland, the prohibition commissioner for Oregon, the president of the Northwest Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police association, and many other prominent public officials in the Pacific northwest.

Originator of School
The police school is the idea of Roy R. Hewitt, dean of the college of law. Dean Hewitt has gathered for the faculty 15 men with outstanding records in their professions. He says the "purpose of the school is to provide that specialized training which will prepare the officer to more efficiently and intelligently perform his duties to the public, and to enable him to find pleasure and satisfaction in his work."

The school will have six full days, with morning, afternoon and evening sessions. The public will be permitted to attend the evening sessions. Three main courses will be presented in a series of six lectures for each course, covering in that way the main fields of the law of search and seizure, the prohibition, preservation and presentation of evidence, and the elements of psychology as applied to the reaction.

NEW GOVERNMENT LAUNCHED IN SPAIN

MADRID, Jan. 30.—(AP)—The new government headed by General Damazo Berenguer officially came into power this evening, ending the six year dictatorship of General Primo de Rivera. The new premier and most of his ministers took their oaths of office at the royal palace shortly after 6 p. m.

King Alfonso and a small group of officials of the royal household were witnesses, but there were no elaborate ceremonies to mark the inauguration of a new regime pledged to restore to Spain the constitution of 1876.

Later tonight Primo de Rivera formally turned over his offices to his successor and the new ministers began taking charge of their respective departments. The ministers held a conference tonight, but Premier Berenguer said no formal cabinet meeting would be held probably for several days.

The induction of the new government into office was in an anteroom of the king's apartment. King Alfonso administered the oath to the premier, who in turn swore in the others of the cabinet. The queen and the royal children were in the anteroom where the cabinet proceeded to present their respects.

Game Is Scoreless Portland, Ore., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Portland and Seattle battled three periods and an overtime period to a 0-0 tie in a Pacific Ice Hockey league contest at the Coliseum here tonight. The one point gained by the Bucks through the tie went to the locals back into a deadlock with the league leading Vancouver Lions.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The annual convocation of physical education directors of Pacific northwest young men's Christian associations will be opened with a dinner at the Central Y. M. C. A. here tomorrow.

King Winter Routed
PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Light rains and a rising temperature combined today to continue the rout of winter in this district. The unusually heavy snow that has blanketed the city for the last three weeks began to disappear under the fall of rain and warm temperature.

Gold Medal Presented
PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Jane Brewster, 13, a Portland student, today was presented a gold medal by O. M. Plummer, manager of the Pacific International Livestock exposition in recognition of her victory in health project work among 85,000 4-H club girls of the Pacific coast last year.

DANCY, SMITH MENTIONED IN CITY CAMPAIGN

Rumors Rife as to Possible Successor to Livesley As Next Mayor

Local Physician Declines to Comment on Likelihood Of Making Race

Although city politics had been "frozen up" along with other activities recently, a few show early indication of warming up so early in the election campaign, it has progressed to the point at which some possible candidates for the mayoralty are being consistently mentioned.

Two men whose names have been brought forward in this connection are W. H. Dancy, present alderman and chairman of several important committees in the council, and W. Carlton Smith, local physician and a member of the legislature at its last session. Dancy already has Place in Limelight

Mention of Mr. Dancy in this connection is entirely logical, as he has been the presiding officer at numerous council meetings in the absence of the mayor and is familiar with those duties as well as with the general affairs of the city government.

Mr. Smith, when interviewed Thursday, said he was not aware that he had been mentioned for the office, and had naturally made no decision as to what his course would be if approached in the matter. He had not decided whether to become a candidate for the state senate, seek to succeed himself in the lower house or run for no office at all, and he considers that there is ample time left to make a decision.

Prove Real Handicap
Nevertheless, it is generally rumored that Mr. Smith will be urged to run for the office of mayor. He is well known, prominent among the world war veterans, and generally popular. There is only one real objection to his selection, but in many quarters that is considered a serious one. If a candidate, his name will undoubtedly be linked up with the perennial efforts of the Capital Journal to dominate city politics, and it has been said that his election would mean perpetuation of the present antagonism in the council against those efforts.

State Denies Judge's Claim In Court Trial

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 30.—(AP)—The prosecution attacked the insanity defense of John W. Brady, charged with slaying Miss Leahia Highsmith, 28, here today in Brady's trial for murder.

At the end of the session, L. A. Bert, chief counsel for the 69-year-old former appeals court justice, removed the conditional phase of the defense's earlier announcement that it had rested, saying that his side definitely had closed.
