

Local News Briefs

Religious Worker Coming — Mrs. M. J. Fulkerson, county school superintendent, is most proud of the work of some of the girls of the Crawford school, near Turner, are doing in a cooking club they have formed. One day this week when she called at the school an enticing aroma of cooked meats greeted her before she entered the building, and upon going in she found two of the girls demonstrating proper cooking; of ham. And of course there were ham sandwiches for all. This club makes it a point to demonstrate before the whole membership the lessons it learns in the cooking project.

Found guilty — J. Lincoln Ellis of 487 Center St. has been tried and found guilty of selling class, high quality "made-to-measure" clothing at about half what others charge, because he sells the "Miss Butner" line so well known here. Your choice of 200 fabrics for suit or top coat, $23.50. He has about 700 late, snappy samples of this and other "all wool" lines. Style, fit, workmanship, fully guaranteed. See them at 487 Center St.

JERSEY CATTLE CLUB HAS MEET

County Organization Forms At Session at Chamber of Commerce Here

The Marion county Jersey cattle club met in the Salem chamber of commerce rooms Friday and adopted by-laws for the organization but failed to elect new officers.

The by-laws as adopted provided that new officers be elected at the annual meeting in January and thus forced the present officers to hold over until January 1931.

Ivan Loughary, field representative of the American Jersey Cattle club was present at the meeting and urged attendance at the meeting of the Oregon Jersey Breeders association which is to be held in Salem on March 1.

Henry Crawford, a member of the Marion county state fair board, will give an address at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, talking on "The State Fair and the 4-H Club Boys and Girls."

A large number of the leaders of the nearly 100 clubs in the county are expected to attend this conference.

School Routine Gets Under Way At Salem High

With the first week of the second semester of school closed, readjustment of over-large classes at the high school has been practically completed, and by next Tuesday all students should be adjusted to school routine again. After school yesterday one biology class and one physics class and four English classes were still carrying too large an enrollment, but this will be adjusted by the principal this week end. One of the largest classes, that of Miss Helen Richards, commercial arithmetic with 42 pupils, will be cut into two parts and a shift made in her class schedule to remedy that situation. Foreign language classes and commercial classes have all been pretty well evened up.

THETA ALPHA PHI TO PRESENT PLAY

Practices will begin next week for the production Channing Pollock's "The Enemy" which will be presented by the Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity at Willamette university. The play will be under the direction of Prof. Herbert E. Rahe of the university public speaking department and will be presented about March 8.

The play is Channing Pollock's great argument against war and has had great success on the legitimate stage in other parts of the United States. The setting is in Austria and the characters are principally Austrians and the viewpoint of the German people and their struggle during the war is dramatically portrayed.

The play cast includes Camilla Gates who received considerable recognition in her part in last year's junior play but the balance of the actors are new to Salem audiences.

West Salem

Tuesday night the Boy Scouts will hold their regular meeting. At this meeting examinations and reviews will be given to various boys who plan to complete their tenderfoot work.
