

BEARCATS TO PLAY C. P. S. HERE MONDAY NIGHT

CURI COMMENTS

Hurray Again!

Wonder if the Missionary fans threw apple cores at Spec Keene?

Sombody ought to get busy and have a few gold medals struck off to present to those bearcats when they get home today. With an extra big one for Ed Cardinal.

It will take more than an epidemic of flu to keep the boys from winning that championship now.

Nevertheless, our system is working so good we can't afford to abandon it just yet. We pick College of Puget Sound to beat the Bearcats Monday. If we're more than 30 points wrong, we'll reverse the verdict for the second night. We'll have to quit that pretty soon or the guessing average will be under par. Just now it's 581; 18 right and 13 wrong.

You hear about college athletes not being students, but there is at least one athlete at Willamette on the honor roll. He is French (Pete) Hagemann, who is likely to be named one man on the tennis team this spring. (Note by copy editor: Is a tennis player an athlete?)

The Newberg Graphic is a fair minded newspaper; we'll say that in spite of the little spat we had with it a while back. It says of Des Anderson's victory over Harry Kuehne in Newberg last week:

"The Graphic took Kuehne's side of the argument but we now have to back down and bow to the opinion of the Salem wrestler who won over Kuehne here Tuesday night, this being the third time that he has performed the feat.

"Of course we might offer the alibi that every match has been won on some sort of fluke, which in a sense would be true, but what's the use. Three in a row is proof enough for us. We admit we're licked and we quit now."

In the same wide awake sheet we read that Billy Sullivan, Jr., is chairman of the Junior prom at the University of Notre Dame. And we always thought Billy was a baseball lad!

Apparently the reason the Willamette valley baseball league proponents can't get together and organize, is the popularity of Ralph Coleman as a basketball official.

This false, exclaims Harry Levy. Not the hair on that man's head—that isn't what Harry referred to. Harry says there is but slight foundation for the rumor that Coleman is being nominated for the position of referee. Coleman is a basketball official.

Coach Jim Nutter's boys of the Oregon State school for the deaf lost their game Saturday afternoon to the "Silents" from Portland by a narrow margin, 21-16. The game was held Saturday and the experience of the Portland team, most of whom had had previous experience on the local team, was the deciding factor.

The local school plays Lebanon high school at the state school gym Tuesday night and the boys are now planning to make another victory over a high school team.

According to the coach the boys are rapidly rounding into shape for their proposed trip to play the California school for the deaf late next month.

Salem Handball Team Gets Even Break, Portland

Portland and Salem handball teams broke even in four doubles handball matches at the Y. M. C. A. here Saturday afternoon. Beecher and Paulus of Salem defeated Johnson and Ivey of Portland 21-16, 21-13. Burns and Ruckner of Portland, defeated Busick and Compton of Salem 21-17, 21-15 in an especially hot match. Winslow and Lynch of Salem defeated McGill and Luckner of Portland 21-19, 21-18.

Cebula, northwest champion who will compete in the national A. A. U. championships at St. Louis, paired with McAllister in one of the Portland teams, defeated Hertzig and Annunen of Salem 21-7, 21-15. Cebula was declared to be one of the fastest players ever seen on the local handball courts.

FOUR GAMES ON TAP THIS WEEK

Willamette Team Sees Hard Opposition in Conference Contests

Returning from a strenuous but successful eastern trip today, the Willamette university basketball team will engage in another grueling session this week. Monday and Tuesday nights here the Bearcats will play the College of Puget Sound quintet, and on Thursday and Friday nights the College of Idaho Coyotes will furnish the opposition. Each game will start at 7:30 p. m.

The Loggers from Tacoma do not promise to be setups for the Bearcats, even though the Puget Sound team lost two games to Whitman recently. The scores were reasonably close, the Loggers showing considerable strength on offense but failing to stop the visitors' sharp shooting attack.

College of Idaho is an unknown quantity, as it has played no conference games to date, but Coach Anse Cornell is expected to bring a strong squad even though he had no team last year. His players defeated the Eastern Oregon Normal quintet last week.

The Bearcats are favorites to win all four of these games, but according to reports from Walla Walla they were badly exhausted after last week's strenuous program of traveling and playing, and there is considerable danger of a slump.

The Willamette freshmen will play the Chemawa Indians Tuesday night in a preliminary to the varsity game, and will meet the Peninsula Aces from Portland in the preliminary Friday night. One of Salem high school's games scheduled for this week may be transferred to the Willamette floor as a preliminary to the Thursday night game.

RABBIT PUNCH TO BE BARRED

The rabbit punch will be barred when Des Anderson of Salem and Henry Jones of Provo, Utah, battle here for the western welterweight wrestling championship Wednesday night.

This is an important point, because it was a rabbit punch that prevented Jones from regaining the world's junior middleweight belt Friday night at Eugene. That is, it was Jones' use of the forbidden punch.

The strange part about it is that the Wildcat was attempting a Sonnenberg tackle, which is also barred in some wrestling areas but not in Oregon, when Jones laid him out cold with an elbow rabbit punch.

Local fans who attended the match at Eugene state that the armory there was filled to capacity with fans, and while the bout lasted they got their money's worth.

It was the mere fact that Jones' head was harder than Pete's that gave the former champion in that division his first fall. Jones had thrown Pete out of the ring with one whip wristlock attempt, and a minute later they both piled out onto the floor. Crawling back, each apparently decided on a Sonnenberg, and their heads crashed together like a couple of freight trains with the signals mized.

Pete weaved on his feet with glassy eyes, but the hard headed Jones staggered up and applied a perfect whip wristlock to the helpless Pete and pinned him to the mat. Both of the wrestlers had to be helped out of the arena.

They didn't work so fast, but punished each other with equal ferocity in the second round until Jones jammed down on Pete with the forbidden rabbit punch. When Pete was found unable to go on with the match, the referee and commission ruled that he should keep the belt.

Jones will be in Salem, Monday to complete training for the match with Anderson. The latter went to Portland Saturday to work out with Ted Thye, and will not return until Monday night.

The western welterweight belt is on display at Brown's sporting goods store.

Tennis Open Tournament Favored by Moguls When Annual Meeting Is Held

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The United States Lawn Tennis association at its annual meeting today voted in favor of open competition between amateurs and professionals, elected as president Louis B. Dailley of New York, and ranked William T. Tilden II first in the national list for the tenth consecutive year.

Providing the International Tennis federation at its meeting in Paris March 21, approves of open competition the first annual United States tournament will be held either the week of September 15 or 22 at the Germantown Cricket club, Germantown, Pa.

New York was selected for the 50th annual meeting in 1931, at which time the golden jubilee of the association will be celebrated. Davis was also approved of a small vote by the executive committee on resolutions.

Colcum, all of New York, and Dwight W. Davis, governor general of the Philippines. Davis was named as an honorary gesture for his promotion of tennis.

Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, the former Helen Willis, of Berkeley, Calif., was again ranked No. 1 in women's national singles and Davis was named as an honorary gesture for his promotion of tennis.

The annual meeting went on record as favoring a stricter check of expense accounts; voted to return $20,000, from the na-

GRID PRACTICE IS SCHEDULED

Webfoots Anticipate Great Season in Football Next Fall, Is Report

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Spring football practice will start at the University of Oregon about February 24, Dr. Clarence W. Spears, new football coach, informed Virgil D. Earl, director of athletics, in a letter today. Dr. Spears is desirous of getting practice under way as soon as possible, and will lose no time after his arrival here from Minneapolis, he said in the letter.

Unlike previous spring practices, Dr. Spears plans to organize a league of four teams which will play a round robin tournament. In that way he will have an opportunity of watching his proteges in action before the fall campaign opens.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Feb. 15.—(Special)—Although three regular of last year's grid team who are expected to form the nucleus of this season's eleven, will be watching practice from the grandstand, Dr. C. W. Spears, Oregon's new football coach, will be greeted with as fine a group of athletics as has represented the Webfoots in a decade. The three regulars who will not be able to turn out are Johnny Kitzmiller, the "flying Dutchman" who captain John J. McEwan, former Oregon coach, says is the greatest halfback in America; Ed Moeller, huge discus tosser and fullback, and Jerry Lillie, guard, selected on the Portland Telegram all-northwest eleven.

Kitzmiller Won't Do Stuff This Spring

Kitzmiller broke his ankle in the Oregon State game last fall. Some time ago he discarded his crutches, and while his ankle is mending nicely, it is not believed he will be in shape to play before fall. Lillie and Moeller are injured when their bobbed collared with a telephone pole, Moeller breaking his elbow and Lillie his ankle. Neither will be in shape to take active part in spring practice. Lillie, however, is not so much in need of it as is Moeller, but needs a lot of experience to become a finished player.

But while these three luminaries will not take part in spring practice, there are 60 or 70 candidates who are ready to don the moleskins.

McEwan, before he left Eugene for the east, said he bequeathed to Dr. Spears the greatest line that has ever played under him, either at Oregon or West Point. Two of that line will be missing, but five will be left. The two who will be gone are George Stadlerman, all-coast center in 1928, and Fredrick Mercer, all-coast guard in 1925. Stadlerman, however, was in out of all except the first two games, and his understudy, Eric Forata, played so well, that McEwan included him as a member of the "greatest line that he had ever coached."

Crustensen, Colbert

Th. u. s., besides Forata, Dr. Spears will have the services of George Christensen and Austin Colbert, all-coast tackles; Woody Archer, all-northwest end; and Jack Erdley, who starred at a wing post last year, his first in conference play. With Jerry Lillie, who will rejoin the team in the fall, six regulars will be on deck.

Bobby Robinson, colored halfback, who was named on several all-coast teams, will be missing from next year's lineup. Others who will return, however, include Johnny Landahl, an able understudy to Kitzmiller when the latter was injured, who has all the earmarks of a great backfield star; Hal Hatton, fullback, one of the best line plungers Oregon has had in years; Wally Shearer, a light but speedy halfback, whose brilliant ball totting against St. Mary's and Florida in post-season games was a feature; Al Brown, a husky halfback of great promise, and Moeller and Kitzmiller who will not join the team until next fall.

Yearlings Contribute High Class Material

All this, however, does not include the freshman stars. Dr. Spears will fall heir to the greatest freshman team that Oregon has had in 10 years. There is Bernie Hughes, a center of much promise, who should win a varsity berth this year. And there is Mary's and Florida in post-season games was a feature; Al Brown, a husky halfback of great promise, and Moeller and Kitzmiller who will not join the team until next fall.

WEBFOOTS WIN TILT 35 TO 21

Cougars Quintet Virtually is Eliminated From Coast Competition

PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 15.—(AP)—The University of Oregon basketball team further dimmed Washington State college's chances ever to reach the top of the northern division by winning 35 to 21 in a Pacific coast conference game here tonight. After an early 7 to 7 tie the Webfoet held the lead throughout.

Oregon took the lead from the tip off and Eberhart's ability to place the ball where he wanted it kept the visitors out of danger. Once in the first half a vigorous Washington State offensive brought the score to a 7 point tie, but Oregon drew away and was leading 14 to 9 at half time.

Oregon abandoned floor maneuvering for individualism shortly after the second period opened, and a series of "dead eye" long shots kept the score in its favor. Exasperated, Washington State loosened up on tactical guarding and went after the ball, which was what Oregon wanted.

The bulk of the Oregon attack was carried by Stevens, forward, who was high scorer with ten points; Keenan, midset forward, and Eberhart center. Keenan was only a point behind Stevens for high scoring honors.

AMITY SECOND IN OWN COUNTY

AMITY, Feb. 15.—(Special)—Amity high school still holds second place in the county league following a fast, rough game on the high floor Friday night in which the Amity quintet defeated the Sheridan hoopers 63 to 1.

The Amity boys defeated the Sheridan co-eds 24 to 13 despite the absence of the local right coach.

ORANGEMEN BEATEN BY VANDAL QUINTET

MOSCOW, Idaho, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The University of Idaho Vandals defeated Oregon State college 41 to 30 in a Pacific coast conference basketball game here tonight. The Vandals came from behind at the start and held the lead to the end.

Awed and a bit nervous before the team that defeated them decisively last night, the Vandals were ragged and slow at the start and at the end of the first few minutes were four points behind. Gaining rapidly, they tied the count at eight after six minutes of play, and by half time held an 18 to 15 lead.

The Vandals found their stride in the second period and outclassed the Orangemen in all departments. They threw up a defensive wall that held out nearly every shot except Ballara, O. S. C. hoopling light, who converted nine points. Four minutes before the end, with the score 39 to 24 for the Vandals, Oregon State opened an effective offensive, but there wasn't time to overcome the Idaho lead. Shurtliff, hurt in Idaho's first game with Oregon State at Corvallis, went out of the game tonight with an injured knee, Stowell, Idaho scoring forward, was high point man with 14, all from field goals.

The Mirrors of Your Soul

Everywhere, now-a-days, one reads of the countless products of man's invention which may be developed to aid modern living in achieving perfection in beauty, whether it be of the skin, hair, teeth, hands or nails. Comparatively few, however, have devoted their thoughts to our most priceless possession, and that one which can be our greatest attraction. We speak of the "Mirrors of Your Soul"—dancing, sparkling, bewitching or deep, dark, mysterious Eyes.

We all know that the first essential to beauty in any form is good health and science has taught us that health is purely a matter of right living. Now just pause a minute and consider how impossible it would be to have beautiful, shining hair if you did not pay regular visits to hair specialists and to have a lovely flashing smile if you did not have a dentist care for your teeth, but we could go on like this forever naming everything living on earth illustrating necessities on health; further example is not needed.

But how many, if even the most fastidious, look to the care of their eyes. Conservation of vision has come into existence through a growing appreciation of good eyesight and its relation to general health. As a result of this growing interest thousands of people are daily consulting optometrists. Their educational requirements, experience in general practice, legal recognition of the science of Optometry by the State, all offer you evidence of the satisfactory service you can only obtain by consulting a competent Optometrist.

SCRAMBLE IS MADE FOR SECOND PLACE

The first half of the Statesman bowling league race wound up Friday night with a wild scramble for second place. The result was a three-way tie between Carson Pharmacy, Day and Niles and Centra Pharmacy.

The Carson quintet climbed up alongside the other two by winning three games from Sunfreze while Day and Niles was losing two to the Fulops quintet, champions of the first half, and Centra Pharmacy lost two to the Oldsmobile Vikings.

Miles Linen won two games from the Butternut Doughboys in the Owl league, and the Chevrolet Shopmen won two from Salem Maled.

The tie will be rolled off for second and third money on Saturday, February 22, and some exciting competition is expected.
