

"Organize" Keynote of Dairymen's Meet at Hubbard

UNIT GROUPING PLAN TALKED

Statewide Organization is Basis for Talk; Keen Interest Manifest

HUBBARD, Feb. 26.—Organization was the keynote of the meeting sponsored by the Dairy Cooperative association at the city hall Monday evening. Two hundred farmers from the Willamette valley between Salem and Portland gathered to hear the dairy interests of the state discussed.

The speakers for the evening were F. E. Jackson of Portland, head organizer of the association, and E. A. Nuby of Washougal, Wash., president of the association.

Not to Oppose Creameries

In their discussion the speakers urged the dairy producers to cooperate in a movement to better the market conditions, explaining that the purpose of the association is not to oppose the functioning of the various creameries, cheese factories and distributing centers, but to work with them in order to better the conditions for both them and the farmers.

Localities were mentioned where organization had proved beneficial; that where organization existed prices were higher.

The proposed organization, which is backed by the government, plans to organize the state into units, each of which covers a radius of 20 miles. The cost of marketing will be controlled by the organization and will be placed at a small percentage, and a fee will be charged for membership.

Meetings are held at cities where units may be established, Hubbard included among those selected.

The leaders of the organization agitate the milk producers to sign $0 per cent for the new movement.

That interest was keen at the Hubbard meeting was felt by the many questions asked the leaders. Many who were present expressed their intention of attending the meeting held by the leaders of the association at Oregon City Tuesday.

Salem Leaders Attend

R. W. Clark, C. L. Blodgett, M. T. Madsen and D. Sancy, backers of the Salem organization for cooperation, were present and aided at the meeting by their enthusiasm in the project. Canby was represented by Herman Lafky, of the vocational department of the high school. W. Colvin, Colman Mark, Henry Kraft, O. M. Ausve and

CLUB WORK IS POPULAR THING

William Fox Finds Bethany School Active; Rally Draws Crowd

SILVERTON, Feb. 26.—A big 4-H club rally was held at Bethany school Monday evening with seven districts represented with pig, calf, sewing and cooking clubs. One hundred twenty-five people were in attendance. The club districts represented were Bethany, Silverton, McLoughlin, Evans Valley, Porter, Brush Creek and District No. 67.

William Fox, club supervisor, was present and spoke on club work. Mr. Fox indicated that so often people were not interested and knew very little about the work of the 4-H clubs, but that he found it entirely different in this district where everyone seemed interested in the club work. He also spoke of this section as being the home of club work in Marion county. The pig club is one of the oldest of the livestock club, it being close to ten years old now.

The sheep, pig and calf clubs will hold a joint meeting March 11, the regular meeting day of the calf club of which Silas Torvond is leader.

A program was given during the evening by club members, each district furnishing at least one number.

EUROPEAN TRIP IS TO BE DESCRIBED

GERVAIS—Monday evening, March 10. Very Rev. Father Thomas of Mt. Angel will deliver a lecture here on his recent trip through Europe. He will also tell of his meeting with Theresa Neuman, young woman who has sprung into prominence because of her weekly transition into a Christlike appearance and who has been interviewed and seen by countless thousands while in that coma.

Father Thomas comes here under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus of Mt. Angel and also through the solicitation of members of that order who are residents of Gervais. The lecture is open to the public and no charge for admittance is made. The speaker is said to be one of the best in this part of the state, and all who can should arrange to hear him.
