For First Meet

The new clubhouse which the Salem Golf club has had under construction will be completed this week, and will be used for the first time Saturday night when the club will hold its annual meeting in the lounge room. Business coming up at this meeting will include the election of officers and one director for a three year term to succeed Jack

The clubhouse, while modest in its dimensions, will be entirely adequate to the club's needs for some time. To the north of the lounge room are the women members' room and the kitchen; on the opposite side is the men's locker room. It like the lounge room has an attractive fireplace.

There is room for about 50 lockers in this room, and for 150 more in addition to the furnace space in the roomy basement. The attic space has been fitted up for caretaker's quarters. The new building adjoins the caddy house on the south.

Yesterday We Saw

About the queerest accident that ever happened in a basketball game. A Salem player and a Chemawa player were wrestling over the ball after the whistle had blown for a foul, and the Salem man got a good hold and jerked so hard that the Indian swung around in the air horizontally. His feet landed in the pit of another Indian's stomach and the latter Redskin Bit the Dust. He was out cold.

Chiefs Show Good Brand of Basketball But Are Defeated

The Salem high school basketball demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt Tuesday night that it is deserving of a place in the state tournament, when it defeated the Chemawa Indian school quintet, Marion county's most likely candidate for the district No. 7 championship, 44 to

The red and black got the jump on the redskins, running up a score of 11 to 2 in the first quarter during which the Indians did not score a field goal.

About halfway through the second period Coach Downie's boys from Chemawa demonstrated that they really can shoot baskets when they get down to business, and began rolling up points faster than Salem. Simmons was looping the hoop from all angles and distances, and made a majority of the points, but his team mates were making such Rutherford, centers; Ralph Cairshots as they had chances to

But the Salem high juggernaut was not to be stopped. Its fast breaking offense was so fast Tuesday night that there were often three Salem men down the floor ahead of any of the Indian defenders, and basket was made on "setups." Sanford made most of the points but Kitchen, Graber and Sachtler fed him in workmanlike fashion. West also showed a lot of benefit from the experience he has been getting Summary:
