Inspection Opposed—Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, objects to psychology students visiting the institution on Sundays and holidays, particularly on Easter Sunday. He was authorized by the state board of control Wednesday to use his own judgment about receiving a class of 50 students from Camas, Wash., high school on Easter Sunday. The letter from the school asked that various types of patients be brought before the students during the visit. Dr. Steiner explained that so many relatives of patients visit the institution on Sundays and holidays that it is undesirable to admit other visitors.

Records Broken—Population at the state hospital for the insane, the state penitentiary and the state institutions for the feeble-minded broke all previous records during February, according to reports made to the state board of control Wednesday by the superintendents. At the insane hospital the number of inmates passed 2,000 for the first time, and today was 2026. The highest number of prisoners at the penitentiary was 449, while the report from the feeble-minded institution shows a total of 854.

STATE ORDERS OREGON DESKS

Board of Control to Support Local Industries so Far As Is Possible

Oregon wood desk equipment will be used in the new state office building now nearing completion here, according to announcement made here Wednesday by the state board of control.

The announcement followed a request by certain state officials that their departments be provided with steel desk equipment. Members of the board said desks made from Oregon wood were equal if not superior in quality to those made of steel.

"It is the duty of all state officials," read a statement prepared by the board of control, "to support home industries whenever it can be done without sacrificing the interests of the state."

Three state institutions reporting peak populations. These included the Oregon state hospital with 2026 patients, the state penitentiary with 449 prisoners and the feeble minded home with 854 patients. It also was reported to the board that both of the state tuberculosis hospitals have waiting lists.

Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the Oregon state hospital, voiced his protest against a proposed visit of 50 students from the Camas, Wash., schools on Easter Sunday. He said the trip was being planned so that the students might study the various types of patients in the institution.

Steiner made it plain that he was not in favor of placing patients on exhibit, and especially on Easter Sunday when many of their relatives would visit the hospital.

The board instructed Steiner to use his own judgment. The board of control today sent Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson, widow of the late Governor Patterson, printed and bound resolutions of condolences. The resolutions, which bore the state seal, were signed by Governor Norblad, Secretary of State Hoss, State Treasurer Kay and Carl Abrams, secretary of the board of control.

Report filed with the board of control by Henry Myers, superintendent of the state penitentiary, showed that receipts from the prison industries during the period April 1, 1927, to January 1, 1930, aggregated $613,442.92.

COLD WORLD SEEN IN EAST AS TRAIN GOES THROUGH ONTARIO

Bob-Sleds and Cutters Look Strange to Former Salem Woman on Her Jant Cross-Canada

Five full days on the train come to a close with today's letter describing the last 24 hours on a train going through northern Canada. The letters are by a former resident of Salem.

On the N. Y. C. R. R. just across the border in New York. Dear Donette:

The sun just burst out in all its glory, a good omen, I think, at the close of a splendid 3300 miles ride.

Yesterday we were going through northern Ontario most of the day. There was a sameness of scenery and but little of outstanding interest. Rarely did a fine farm house appear, but we saw many little log houses and one story shacks, huddled in groups though they shivered and snuggled close to earth to escape the cold. Being Sunday, the platform watchers at the little stations were dressed up more than usual.

There were two things noticeable by their absence all day, autos and billboards. Of the former we scarcely remember to have seen one, but sleds of various sorts pulled up at the stations, little one horse bob sleds (I call them this for lack of name), some cutters, a few larger bob sleds and, where the snow was thin, I saw some big wheeled carts that were strange to me.

In all the ride from Franz to Cartier, I do not remember to have seen a prominent advertising sign. Early this morning I spied a barn carrying a large advertisement for Fletcher's Castors. It really looked homelike. My mind reverted at once to the big bill boards we saw last summer as we entered Canada from Washington.

"Thirsty" Seek Canada These called attention to the various brands of liquors to be found in Canada and I have no doubt were most welcome to thirsty Canadians.

I could not contrast the two announcements. The first, Castoria, has given comfort to many a mother, the second, has brought her many a curse. As we entered Montreal every achievement of civilization and industry was emphasized.

"Five Development Seen" Fine farms and homes, school and church buildings, factories, highways and expansion of railroad and digging will start soon on the sewer.

Luncheon guests at the home of Mrs. W. L. LaDue of Third street Tuesday were Mrs. A. L. Tumbelson, Mrs. E. R. White of Salem, and Miss Lottie McAdams of Plaza street, West Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Hubbard and daughter, Miss Cora Hubbard of San Rafael, California, spent Monday with Mrs. Hubbell Young of Plaza street. The Hubbards were on their way to Portland where they were to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCullom, Mrs. Jennie, mother of Mrs. McCullom, and Mrs. Parker, mother of Mr. McCullom, all of Portland, were Sunday dinner guests at the Billings-McAdams home of Plaza street.

Mrs. Hubbell Young is expecting as her house guest some time during the week, Mrs. Pete Miller of Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gardner and family of Kelser and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Rose and daughter of Salem were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Brinkley of 1351 Plaza street. Mrs. Brinkley is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gardner.

PRICES ON MARKET AGAIN SHOW BOOST

NEW YORK, March 5.—(AP)—The level of share prices rose further in today's stock market, only to find the structure weakened by the rather cheerless character of current business reports, and to burst forth in a torrent of liquidation which reduced the level substantially below yesterday's close.

The sudden reversal of the movement came late in the day, and appeared to be precipitated by a bear drive. The bear attack, however, owed its success to the psychological effects of the continued unsettlement of the commodity shares, Secretary Davis' report on unemployment, and the slight retarding of steel mill activity, and unimpressive February merchandise sales reports and freight car loadings. Although the markets has remained a highly professional affair, the selling assumed large proportions. Total sales were 3,715,000 shares, exceeded only four times since the first of the year.

Net losses at the close were not large, generally ranging from 1 to 4 points, but among issues closing 2 or more points lower were about a dozen of the leading utilities and industrials. The utilities bore the brunt of the selling, which was to have been advanced in view of the sharp advances in this group during the past few days.

Henry Corbett and J. E. Bennett, both of Portland, invaded the state capitol Wednesday in connection with their campaigns for governor at the republican primary election. Bennett arrived early in the day, distributed a large number of cards, and left for Portland at noon.

Corbett reached the city early in the afternoon, and after conferring with a number of state officials, paid his respects to Governor Norblad, who also is a candidate to succeed himself in the executive department.

DOBBIS' SUCCESSOR NOT YET SELECTED

Governor Norblad was not ready yesterday to announce his appointment of a successor to Ben F. Dorris of Eugene, member of the state game commission who resigned to manage the gubernatorial campaign of Charles Hall. Dorris was chairman of the commission.

Dorris' letter of resignation, dated March 1, did not reach the governor until yesterday. In the letter Dorris said that in justice to the governor and himself, he did not think he should continue in office under one candidate for governor while working in the interests of another.

"Please accept my resignation as a member of the Oregon state game commission," Dorris wrote. "With three friends running for the republican nomination, I find it impossible to support all three, and with due regard to past friendship and obligation I have arrived at a decision to support Charlie Hall."

"In justice to you, as well as myself, I feel that I should not continue to hold an office under you while actively supporting an opponent."

"I had hoped to give you earlier notice of my intention in order to minimize even the slight embarrassment that might be caused, but I seem to have missed you rather consistently, so I took the liberty of informing some close friends of yours as soon as I came to a decision, which information I trust was duly given you."

"Thanking you for past consideration, and trusting that our political separation will not effect our past friendly personal relations, I am very respectfully, "BEN F. DORRIS."

Obstetrics Can Be Practiced by Various Doctors

Physicians and surgeons, osteopathic physicians, chiropractors and naturopaths are all authorized to practice obstetrics under the Oregon laws, according to a legal opinion handed down here Wednesday by I. H. VanWinkle, attorney general. The opinion was requested by Dr. Joseph F. Wood, secretary of the state board of medical examiners. The attorney general explained that while the different schools of healing are not specifically authorized by the statutes to practice obstetrics, there is nothing in the laws to prevent them from doing so.

Alleged Crook Wanted Here Is Now Arrested

R. D. Parrish, charged with larceny of $1400 of public funds while acting as bookkeeper at the state tuberculosis hospital here, was arrested Wednesday at Bellingham, Wash., where he has been teaching school under an assumed name. Parrish will be returned here for trial.

Parrish left Salem a year ago after being questioned by Dr. G. C. Bellinger, superintendent of the hospital. The bonding company that furnished Parrish's surety assisted in tracing him to Bellingham.

Dr. Bellinger signed the warrant of arrest at the request of the state board of control.
