

Torrid Battle by Out-of-Town Headliners on Tap Tonight

ANDERSON AND MONROE TO MIX

Plenty of Fast Action to Be Seen at Fight Card at Armory Tonight

TONIGHT'S FIGHT CARD
Main Event—Frankie Monroe, 128, vs. Jimmie Anderson, 128, Astoria, ten rounds.
Semi-Final—Pat Haley, 125, Independence, vs. Jack Young, 125, Siletz, six rounds.
Special—Bob Kelly, 170, Salem, vs. George Spurgion, 170 Falls City, four rounds.
Special—Jack Moore, 135, Hubbard, vs. Billy Eld, 135, Albany, four rounds.
Preliminary—Jack Davis, 135, Salem, vs. Billy O'Getty, 135, Salem, four rounds.
Place—Armory. Time, 8:30 sharp. Referee: Tom Loutitt.

Salem fight fans will be permitted, for once, just to sit back and enjoy a good fight in tonight's main event, without having to worry over the fate of a local favorite. The headlines are both from out of town, although Frank Monroe has the edge on support due to the fact that he fought here several times, a few years ago.

Even though the main events are both from out of town, there's no question but that they'll battle for blood. They have been trying for two successive scraps to get the better of one another, and it's reported that now they see red at the mention of each other's names. Jimmie Anderson, Monroe's opponent, has stolen several shows in Portland recently.

The fans are likewise assured of action in the semi final, which brings together the Siletz Indian, Jack Young, and the Independence southpaw, Pat Haley, for the second time. Haley pounded Young almost into a peeled onion two weeks ago, and then the Indian came back and all but earned a draw. He claims he can beat Haley over the six round tourney.

Two Volleyball Teams from City Enter Tourney

Two local volleyball teams went to Portland Tuesday night to compete in the state community volleyball tournament. They were the Kay Woolen Mills and Kimball School of Theology teams. This tournament was won a year ago by the Mt. Angel team.

Methodists Take Court Tilt 24-23

The First Methodist basketball team in the Church league nosed out a victory over the Presbyterians Tuesday night in a consolation series game at the Y. M. C. A. 24 to 23. White led the winners in scoring.

The First Baptist defeated West Salem in another consolation series game, 25 to 15.

Presbyterians First M. E. Allen (10) F. (13) White Hageman (9) Pense H. Colgan (2) C. (4) Van Dyke L. Colgan (2) G. Carlin Wovley G. (7) Winslow

Baptists West Salem Sicho F. (3) Warren Cross (8) C. (2) Fox Page (2) C. (1) Wilson Parker (15) G. Simmons Crum (4) G. (2) Finster Robins S. (7) Wright Referee, Adams.

CURT COMMENTS

There may be three Portland basketball teams in the state tournament—in fact there's a good chance that there will be, with Columbia university high something of a favorite to win in district No. 7.

The Columbia preppers are not in the Portland interscholastic league, so their possible entry will not disturb the fact that the winners and runners up of that league will be entered.

That would not be an ideal condition from the standpoint of interest in the tournament; the gate would profit if Dallas should beat Columbia. But the tournament is not run for gate receipts—the chips have to fall where they will.
