ROBERTS, March 20.—The last meeting of the community club will be held Saturday evening. Division two has a fine program planned. There will be a pot luck supper served after the program.

"Shorty" Risten has bought the land owned by G. W. Gerber, north of the farm belonging to Mrs. Alice Coolidge, and intends to build there in the near future. Mr. Risten and his family will live in one of Carpenter Bros. houses until his house is built.

Raphael Bettincourt is planting an acre of strawberries in the southwest corner of his farm.

Carpenter Bros. are planting four acres of red raspberries. They have contracted with Reid and Murdock.

Mrs. Julia Henningsen and Howard Henningsen went to Centralia Sunday to attend the funeral of R. R. Armstrong who was buried Tuesday. Mr. Armstrong was the husband of Mrs. Mary Armstrong (Mary Henningsen) who formerly lived here. His death occurred a week after an operation for gallstones.

Mrs. James Fidler, who is staying with her son at Boy City, Oregon is very low. Mrs. Fidler has been ill for some time but has been in a very critical condition for two weeks.

Farmers here are busy planting crops and cultivating orchards. They all report that the land works up wonderfully, some good benefit from the heavy freeze and lack of heavy rains.

Valsetz Stages Reading Contest

VALSETZ, March 20.—The 5th and 6th grades have been having a book reading contest. Alvin Zuber and Beulah Woods were captains. Beulah's side lost, so they furnished the winners with a party and dainty refreshments Monday night in the school gymnasium. Miss Dallas and Miss Walker supervised and saw that everyone had a good time.

Spring vacation, March 19 to 24 is being enjoyed by the children of the Valsetz school. The practice teachers, Miss Mary Walker, Miss Ellen Poud, Miss Welan and Miss Clark left Wednesday morning. Another group of students, from Oregon Normal school, will soon be with us to receive teacher's training.

George Redington, 86, and his wife, 89, of Vinton, Ia., have been married 78 years.
