

Feed Dealers to Oppose Tariff Upon Oil Meal Product

SENATE BILL IS NOW CRITICIZED

Oregon Association Acts to Register Protest With Lawmakers

Following the regional meetings recently held at Hillsboro, Salem and Eugene, the newly organized Oregon Feed Dealers association, directed its officers and members to the active protest against the proposed duty on oil meal and all meal cake.

The subject was considered at a meeting in Portland on March 16, called by President W. C. Theda, of the Oregon Feed Dealers association, and attended by representatives of the feed group, importers, steamship men and the Portland chamber of commerce.

Opposition to the duty which amounts to $6.00 per ton and has already been put into the tariff bill by the senate, is based upon its anticipated detrimental effect upon the poultry and dairy industries in the northwest.

As originally written the amendment provided a duty on soy bean meal and cake. This was later expanded to include all oil meals and oil meal cake. Commenting on this proposed duty, President Theda said:

"Our opposition to this duty is based on a desire to maintain every possible advantage for Oregon poultrymen and dairymen. Proponents of the tariff allege its need to protect soy bean and other oil meal producers in the central west and south. We contend that this is illogical because tariff walls of approximately $12.00 per ton freight already exist between here and the middle west on this commodity. Moreover, we, on the coast, require oriental meals as a source of protein concentrates for poultry and dairy use, and this proposed tariff would simply mean the addition of $6.00 per ton to all protein concentrates used in commercial feeds. This would be a serious blow to Oregon farmers, and one which we are determined to prevent, if possible."

It is expected that this tariff read into the bill by the senate will be considered by the conference committee of the senate and house in the near future.

ball outside and Sanford was scored on attempting a shot. He threw a one point out of two free throws.

On the next tipoff play Kitchin charged down the floor again and let fly. The ball sank far down in the basket, then twirled out and more groans. All through the game, Sanford had no one under the basket to recover missed shots; but Sigmond had just gone in with instructions to play under the basket, and he was there to recover the ball on the rebound and sink it for the winning points. Twenty seconds of furious passing under the basket saw a field goal and two free throws to pull the local team up to within one point of the Stenons.

Scroggins, southpaw sharpshooter from the business school, was a serious threat throughout the game, ably seconded by O'Connell.

Although they did not break into the scoring column, Sachtler and West of Salem played outstandingly on defense and as feeders to the red and black attack, and are entitled to fully as much credit for the victory as their team mates.

FEEN PUSHERS LEAD

Commerce took an early lead and at one time was ahead 13 to 8, while the red and black seemingly could not steady down and make its shots count. It was Sanford whose brilliant tosses kept Salem in the running throughout this stage of the game, and just before the half ended he sank a field goal and two free throws to pull the local team up to within one point of the Stenons.

SCROGGINS, SOUTHPAW SHARP SHOOTER FROM THE BUSINESS SCHOOL, WAS A SERIOUS THREAT THROUGHOUT THE GAME, ABLY SECONDED BY O'CONNELL.

Although they did not break into the scoring column, Sachtler and West of Salem played outstandingly on defense and as feeders to the red and black attack, and are entitled to fully as much credit for the victory as their team mates.

Employment Week Launched by Lions

"Employment week" will be observed by the Salem Lions club next week, and cooperation in the movement will be urged upon other organizations and the public in general.

The plan, suggested by Newell Williams, is to ask each family which has any odd jobs available such as spading or garden work, to employ an idle man for one day.

Superior craftsmen on a New York building were awarded gold buttons.

GERVAIS HIGH HAS HONOR ROLL NAMED

GERVAIS, March 21.—Report cards for the first six weeks' work of the present semester were given out at the high school Friday and those receiving pink cards were Florence DuRette, Kenneth Manning, Vera Short and Clara Messer.

A pink card indicates that the student has all A's on his card. He is placed on the grand honor roll. Those receiving pink cards with at least three A's on their cards were Zan and Evanelle Esosa, Catherine Mutter, Chaucey and Francis McDougall, Edna Lesher, Arthur Grafhaus, and Agnes Jensen.

An interesting program was an added feature at the high school student body meeting Monday morning. It was arranged by four girls, one from each class and was as follows: Reading, Zan Esosa; song, girls' quartet; oration, Florence DuRette; school song by all; song, freshmen class.

Steps were taken this week looking to the organization of a high school orchestra or band. On inquiry it was found that a large number of the students are interested in some musical instrument.

WOODBURN HAS CHAMBER MEET

W. B. Bartram Tells of Possibilities of Flax in Oregon

WOODBURN, March 21.—Colonel W. B. Bartram, flax expert of Salem, was the speaker at the meeting of the chamber of commerce in St. Luke's community hall Wednesday evening.

Following a delicious supper served by the ladies of St. Luke's parish, Elbura T. Sims, presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president, W. H. Badde, Blaine McCord, chairman of the boy scout committee reported that the annual drive for funds for the maintenance of the scout work was being conducted and that Woodburn was asked to subscribe $150 to the general fund, $50 of which would be used for their troop and the remaining $100 to be placed in the general fund. The chamber decided in favor of subscribing this amount and moved that the work be soon put under way to solicit the people in Woodburn and the vicinity.

H. F. Butterfield, chairman of the committee which was to investigate the matter of getting a picture taken of the chamber to be published in several periodicals referred to John P. Hunt who had conveyed with local photographers and as a result of his investigation said that it would be impossible to take such a picture without paying from $20 to $30 to get someone from Salem or Portland with the extensive equipment to photograph such a large gathering in the hall in which they meet.

V. D. Bain, representing the educational committee gave an excellent report concerning the 4H club work in Woodburn and said that on May 20, the state club head, would be in Woodburn and there would be a club fair held, the club executives to be the judges in the work submitted.

Mr. Bain suggested that the chamber of commerce sponsor two scholarships for the boy and girl having the best exhibit to take them to the summer school at O. A. C. The territory would take in Woodburn, West Woodburn, Belle Pass and Union. The chamber moved in favor of the suggestion and these scholarships will be offered.

Cattle Club to Meet

Ronald Burnett announced the all day meeting of the Jersey cattle club and invited all the men interested in the promotion of the dairy industry to attend. The meeting will open at 10 o'clock a. m., April 8, with a basket dinner at noon and an afternoon session.

John Ramage, of the roads committee reported that the county court of Clackamas and Marion county met at the Morris bridge which spans the river dividing the two counties and discussed cutting the hill on the Clackamas county side and moving the dirt to the Marion county side thus leveling the approach and the hill but the two groups thought the idea too expensive and decided to make the road come in as a market road, cut the hill and put in a new steel bridge.

Elbura Sims, reporting for the National Guard committee, said that the local company received a rating of "very satisfactory" in the annual inspection Tuesday evening and that Woodburn would rate fourth in the state in equipment and efficiency. He also said that the guard appreciates the efforts of the chamber of commerce in securing the appropriation which made it possible to make extensive improvements on the armory. H. F. Butterfield represented the Garden club and asked that the chamber of commerce appoint a committee to work with the city beautiful committee of the Garden club as last year.

Cucumbers Contracted

Eugene Courtney announced that the Cooperative Fruit Growers had received a contract from Libby, McNeil and Libby for 150 acres of cucumbers which was at the Bank of Woodburn and which could be signed by anyone interested in obtaining the seed from Libby, McNeil and contracting to sell their cucumbers to them. Mr. Courtney then introduced the speaker, Colonel Bartram, said that the scientific development of agriculture had been comparatively slow but due to modern machinery more and more progress is being made in this great industry annually. He talked mainly on the future of the flax industry in Oregon and enlightened the growers' group deal as to the opportunities any and all charges made against him. He said that he was willing to leave the final decision in the hands of the board but declared he was unwilling to let the refusal for him to use the hospital some alone from the executive committee of the board without formal charges.

While no representative of the board would issue a formal statement Friday it was understood on good authority that Dr. Vehrs had been requested not to use the hospital solely because he had been a disturbing element and "for the good of the institution" refusing to abide by general hospital rules and creating internal disturbances which lead to friction. He is alleged to have been a silent force in a nurses' strike which occurred months ago and temporarily upset hospital order.

Injury to Practice Not Sought by Hospital

Members of the board said Friday that there were no charges of malpractice or lack of professional ability to be lodged against Vehrs and that refusal on their part to let him use the hospital further was not aimed in any way injury his practice.

The doctor intimated Friday that in event the board would not grant him a hearing and prefer charges he would feel constrained to bring legal action against the hospital, a corporation, on the grounds that the order of Sunday had injured his standing in the community, socially and from a professional standpoint.

"I've had sufficient antagonism shown by other doctors in my six years continuous practice here," said the doctor, "to make me feel that I want this thing aired once and forever. I'm content that my record will prove satisfactory. Now that the hospital has acted I want the matter entirely heard and settled fairly."

It was understood that one reason no definite action had been taken by the hospital board, confirming or rejecting the action of its executive committee, lay in the fact that the board's investigation of the action were being investigated. A local attorney has been consulted and in addition the hospital has submitted details of the case to the American College of Surgeons. No reply has as yet come from the latter.

No charge has been made against Vehrs by the staff of physicians who operate the hospital in conjunction with the general board consisting of non-medical men.

JOHNSON'S SHOP WILL OPEN TODAY

Today marks the opening of Johnson's, Salem's newest and one of its most modish stores for ladies' ready-to-wear garments and for women's accessories.

Provided with the very latest and most attractive store furnishings which could be purchased and with a stock which O. P. Johnson, proprietor, has purchased over a number of weeks spent at leading style centers, the new business institution here promises to provide Salem with a thorough metropolitan, smart and popular shop.

For the past two weeks installation of the new fixtures in the storeroom on State street in the Johnson building, has been in progress as well as the work of finishing the remodeled room which will house the new firm.

Nearly one year ago when O. P. Johnson, proprietor, had purchased a large storeroom in the building, he occupied by the store.

The front has been remodeled and provided with two large plate-glass windows. As the customer enters the store to the left is a mirror section with electrically lighted show windows above the cases.

A glove section with easy stools for the customers and lighted show windows is next while farther on, and to both sides of the store are benches and cases, fully seven feet in height, with full plate glass slides to protect the dresses and coats and yet to provide complete visibility for the customer. To the front and the right several alcoves have been built in to provide space for a variety of accessories, a wrapping counter and cash register have also been provided for in the built-in equipment.

To the rear of the store three fitting rooms, each attractively decorated in varied and tasteful ways are available to the customer while the store office is in the balcony.

A thick carpet, old rose in color to harmonize with the light green color scheme of the entire storeroom, covers the entire floor.

The lighting effects have been worked out to harmonize with the general store scheme.

"I've attempted to provide for Salem a thoroughly complete and modern shop," said Mr. Johnson in announcing the opening of his store. "I have judged it right in feeling it justifies a store of which every citizen can be proud."

Mr. Johnson with his brother, the latter now conducting a store in Portland, came to Oregon nearly two years ago choosing it as the state in the west in which they desired to reside. Mr. Johnson recently completed a fine home on Lincoln street. He expects to make Salem his permanent residence and to be in business here. Before coming west, the Johnsons had a chain of stores in South Dakota.

more superior to the Buckaroos than the score indicated, getting ten field goals to Pendleton's five. The play was so fast that numerous fouls were unavoidable, and Pendleton cashed in on free throws for seven points, Astoria converting none. Jeffers was forced out on personals near the end of the game.

Terjesen and Schannup Score for Roughriders

Terjesen led the Buckaroos in scoring through medium close shots, and Schannup with brilliant long ones ran him a close second. As the final period progressed with victory narrowing down to a matter of one basket, the play became erratic with Pendleton a trifle cooler than the Fishermen but nothing could stop the speedy Ystad.

CANNERS HIT BY FARM BOARD WORK

Like the man who suddenly found out he was shot, in the story, canners gathered in conversation at the Chicago convention of the National Canners association last month suddenly discovered that something which they had been regarding as somebody else's trouble was beginning to hit them right where they live.

Many members and speakers at the convention were outspoken in their condemnation of Farm Board activities, and of the manner in which those activities are threatening the canning industry. It was declared by one speaker that "every time the Farm Board lends money at 3 3/8 per cent to cooperative farmer canners it establishes an agency of unfair competition." Other speakers stressed the objection to being taxed to provide funds with which to establish competition for themselves.
