

Events of Interest in Social - Musical - Club Circles :-

OLIVE M. DOAK, Society Editor

THIS week will be lacking in dull moments. The young folk are home from college and that means parties, dances, and teas with which to renew acquaintance after separation in different colleges.

The high school folk, too, are to be busy welcoming back the college freshman who only last year were a part of the high school personnel. One of the large parties of this crowd will be that for which Miss Roberta Mills has issued over 70 invitations for a bridge and tea afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. K. Spaulding, Saturday. Miss Margaret Heltzel and Miss Dorothy Moore will also entertain Friday night with a dance in Castilian hall.

Not only is the spirit of entertaining among the youth. One of the brilliant affairs of the spring will be the tea given in compliment to the wife of the Japanese consul, Mrs. Horasha Acino, at the home of Mrs. Claudius Thayer, Monday afternoon between the hours of 2:30 and 5 o'clock. Mrs. C. K. Spaulding will also be hostess for an elaborate bridge tea at her home Friday afternoon.

The Woman's Press club of Salem will meet with Mrs. C. A. Sprague for an afternoon of cards followed with a tea hour.

The Masonic orders will entertain Tuesday night with the second of the series of dances being given by them for members of the orders and special guests.

Women of the Salem Golf club will also entertain with a unique party, an old fashioned box social for members only at the club house Saturday night. A program has been planned, and a merry time is anticipated.

In addition to all of these plans there are many more which will be announced the first of the week which will complete one of the fullest weeks for some time.

Edith Schryver Is Honored Dinner Guest

Miss Elizabeth Lord entertained with a delightful dinner party in compliment to the birthday of Miss Edith Schryver Friday night at her home on South High street.

As a lovely surprise at the end of dinner a huge birthday cake carrying out the color scheme of the evening was brought to Miss Schryver to cut.

Covers were placed for the guest, Miss Edith Schryver, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Schucking, Miss Dorothy Goodfellow of Eugene, Warren Gilbert, and Miss Elizabeth Lord.

An evening of conversation followed the dinner hour.

Following the business session and program the committee served tea.

The next social meeting will be April 17 and the committee is Mrs. G. F. Korinek, Mrs. Fred Hottinger, Mrs. Glen E. Fox, Mrs. Charles Gehlen, Mrs. C. E. Taylor and Mrs. Erma Sloper.

History Of Salem Woman's Club Traced In Ceremony

SATURDAY afternoon at the Salem Woman's clubhouse some of the most interesting programs of the years gone by was given. The occasion was the burning of the mortgage which has been held against the clubhouse since its purchase in 1923.

The business part of the program was made very short in order to allow for the ceremony. The program for the afternoon was in charge of the past presidents and trustees of the club.

A short play presented by six members of the club was greatly enjoyed by the audience just before the mortgage burning ceremony.

Miss Mattie Beatty began the history of the Salem Woman's club. She told of its origin in 1901 at the home of Mrs. O. P. Bishop who was instrumental in getting the club organized. Col. E. Hofer, at that time owner of the Capitol Journal, was also instrumental in the organization of the club, and did much to further its cause.

Mrs. T. T. Geer was the first president and served for two years. The club has taken up first one major project after another which would further the civic growth of the city.

Its first project was the Salem public library. This began in 1903 with a room in the city hall where it was carried on for several years without a librarian. In 1909 the club bought the present site of the city library, paying for it $5,500, all of which sum was raised by the club. Eventually, after much urgent persuasion, the city council accepted the present plant which, adding the $30,000 Carnegie appropriation for the building and the books which the Woman's club had gotten together, amounted to $45,000.

The next project was taken up in 1912 and was the foundation of the present Y. W. C. A. room, was established in the old T. S. Knight building on Liberty street where the Kaffoury store now stands. In 1915 there seemed to be a need felt for the beginning of a Y. W. C. A. and the Woman's club turned over the room and equipment to this organization, which room represented about $400 worth of property.

When the war time came along a Salvage shop was organized and was able to contribute to various wartime organizations $1,300.

Since that time various civic interests have been added by the organization in addition to purchasing the present clubhouse. Mrs. Seymour Jones was president the year of this purchase and Saturday afternoon she spoke briefly concerning the first year's work. Mrs. W. P. Fargo gave a resume of the work during her term of office and Mrs. W. E. Anderson told the story of raising the funds with which to pay off the mortgage.

At the conclusion of this Mrs. LeMoine Clark called Mrs. Sey-
