HOUSE AGAIN WILL CONSIDER TARIFF

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(AP)—The house will return to the tariff bill tomorrow for the first time in almost a year, but only to go through the routine procedure of sending it to conference with the senate.

The house rules committee presented a resolution today to disagree to all the some 1,250 senate amendments and request a conference with that branch. Republican leaders are confident of the adoption of the proposal after several hours debate.

The rule makes no provision for pre-conference votes on controversies between the two houses. Under a gentlemen's agreement between republican groups, however, the house conferees will be pledged not to agree in conference on the sugar, cement, lumber and shingles duties until the house has had an opportunity to go on record on these items.

In this connection, word was going the rounds today that the house, if put to the test, probably would line up for the lower senate duties on sugar and cement and for free soft wood lumber and shingles. The house measure, passed without a roll call on any of these individual items, carries higher sugar and cement rates, a duty of 25 per cent on shingles, now free, and no duty on soft wood lumber.

The senate bill leaves shingles free but places a levy of $1.50 a thousand board feet on lumber made from fir, spruce, pine, hemlock and larch.

RUSSIANS SEEK TO ABOLISH FAMILIES

MOSCOW, April 2.—(AP)—A plan submitted to the soviet government recommends the freeing of wives and mothers from domestic duties and child care that they may have equal opportunity with men in carrying out the government's industrialization plan.

The proposal worked out by a special "commission for improving the conditions of labor and life" also aims at "collectivization of city life," by encouraging collective forms of labor, rest and recreation among the city proletariat.

Under this project it would be forbidden to build kitchens in newly erected dwelling houses, while existing kitchens would be converted into nurseries, kindergartens, shower baths, reading rooms, and other places for public use. Houses accommodating 100 or more dwellers would have only one large communal kitchen and a common mess room.

NEW MEXICAN TOWN HOLDS ITS ELECTION

WEST LAS VEGAS, N. M., April 2.—(AP)—The municipal election was completed here tonight with little necessity for martial law. The voting was marked only by a fistie encounter during the day.

Indications were that Lorenzo Delgado had won re-election by defeating the citizens ticket the sponsors of which had urged Governor R. C. Dillon to send state troops to preserve order.

Throughout the day a squad of national guardsmen supervised by Adjutant General W. G. Halthusen stood in uniform but unarmed, about 200 feet from each of the polling places. They acted only as observers. The fistieuffs occurred when state representative Julian Prada, a Delgado republican, ousted Antonio C. Gallegos, a citizens ticket supporter, from one of the polling places.

COMPLAINTS FILED AGAINST REALTORS

Persons having justifiable grievances against Oregon real estate agents, received refunds from the agents totaling $8,253.93 during 1929, according to the records of C. V. Johnson, head of the real estate division of the state insurance commissioner's office.

A total of 123 complaints were investigated during the year and of this number 41 had facts to substantiate them, according to Johnson's records. Restitution was made in all these cases through the real estate department.

The department conducted six formal hearings during the year. One license was suspended, five were cancelled and one application for a broker's license was denied.

A total of 2157 real estate broker's licenses and 459 real estate salesman's licenses were issued. The number of brokers' licenses was less by five and the salesman's licenses less by 254 than the previous year.

At the present juncture for 1930, the brokers registered are 48 less and the salesmen 217 less than at the corresponding time

COOPERATION HELD NEED OF GROWERS

BERKELEY, Calif., April 2.—(AP)—Aron Shapiro, Chicago attorney and national authority on cooperative selling in an address at the University of California here tonight, said solution of American and Canadian farm problems lay in organizing of cooperative bodies on a commodity basis rather than on a basis of local organization.

The federal farm board should do all in its power to aid in organization of such cooperatives, he added.

Denouncing what he termed use of speculative methods in agricultural problems, Shapiro said the farm board by attempting to maintain fixed prices in cotton and wheat under loose financial arrangements with growers had cost the country millions of dollars and so far failed to produce satisfactory results.
