HOOVER URGES RIGID ECONOMY

Too Much Money Is Spent By Congress Says U. S. President

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP)—Giving assurance of treasury surpluses for this fiscal year and next, President Hoover in a statement today warned that the margins depended upon the "most rigid economy" by congress and the executive departments.

Mr. Hoover reported that the first installment of income tax collections for this year showed that "the unfavorable developments of last fall did not affect individual incomes to the extent that many had feared," nor prevent corporations "from reporting for tax purposes a net income substantially in excess of that reported for the calendar year 1928."

He said the government should be able to finish this fiscal year, ending June 30, "with a very moderate surplus." Careful treasury estimates, he added, showed a margin of $47,000,000 to the good for the next fiscal year.

However, the president said that already congress "has imposed a burden of additional expenditures amounting to $30,000,000 during the next fiscal year" which would come out of the $47,000,000 surplus. He added that the "major difficulty" ahead for next year arises from prospective legislation already favorably reported by congressional committees which entail "an additional burden of nearly $200,000,000 next fiscal year." This, he said, would "inevitably result in a deficit."

DALLAS BOY SCOUT STRONGLY PRAISED

A letter of commendation and record of heroism was received yesterday from the national office at Boy Scout headquarters here for Scout Raymond Koser of troop 27, Dallas. The record, a document about 18 inches by 12 inches, has been awarded from national scout headquarters for Koser's bravery in saving Carl Wertz from drowning on August 14 last.

Very few of these records are given, says O. P. West, scout executive, and the awarding of one to young Koser is a signal honor for this Dallas high school boy.

Application for it was made by West after he had made a thorough check-up, and it was only within the past few weeks that the national office finished its investigation.

The paper is signed by Daniel C. Beard, veteran national scout commissioner, and will be presented to Koser at a special court of honor to be held at an early date in Dallas.

The drive is about $4,000 short of the original goal, however, it is anticipated considerable of this will be made up in a post-drive to be conducted quietly by a small group of workers.

The wind-up of the campaign came yesterday at the luncheon at the Y. M. C. A., when Dr. Estella Ford Warner was the speaker. Dr. Warner pointed out some of the work the Y. W. C. A. is doing here and particularly for the girls there, but recalled also that the movement is world wide.

UNIFORMS SIMILAR TO COPS' OPPOSED

Legislation that would prevent stage drivers and other persons engaged in unofficial capacities from wearing uniforms similar to those worn by state traffic operatives, is favored by the Newberg chamber of commerce, according to a letter received at the state department here Friday.

"At a meeting of the chamber held Monday," read the letter, "the question of stage drivers and others wearing Sam Brown belts and uniforms similar to those used by state traffic operatives was discussed. This chamber would favor a law prohibiting the use of a uniform so nearly like that of the state traffic men for the reason that it is almost impossible to distinguish the officers from the stage drivers."

Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, replied that the matter of uniforms had caused his department considerable concern, and that he would gladly cooperate in any legitimate move to eliminate the existing confusion.

"I consider it very confusing to the public," read Hoss' reply, "to have stage drivers, private chauffeurs, deliverymen and others dressed in the same fashion as the officers."

Hoss said he doubted whether it would be possible to enact legislation to protect the uniform worn by state traffic officers.

ATHENS.—(AP)—The local chamber of commerce, announcing that 21,185 autos have been imported by Greece since 1921, said further that rough Greek roads and rougher Greek chauffeurs cut down the normal life of the cars by a big margin. It asked that roads be made smooth and drivers be taught how to care for cars.
