Former Salem Youth to Return to Give Glider Exhibition

CLAUDE GRIMM SHOWS SUNDAY

All-Metal Machine Will Be Demonstrated for Local Crowds, Report

When Claude A. Grimm, former Salem youth more recently of Oakland and Los Angeles, stages an exhibition flight of his new all-metal glider next Sunday, Salem will get its first glimpse of this new and interesting phase of aviation.

Grimm has been interested in aviation for a number of years, studying it intensively for the first time in Salem in 1926 under Bodeker. He later continued his study and instruction in Oakland, Calif. After several months of stunt flying he opened aviation schools at Oakland and Vallejo.

Soon after, he became interested in gliders, turning to the position of salesman for the Hawley Bowlus sailplane. It was in this latter capacity that he was sent to Del Monte and Los Angeles where he assisted Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in their recent experiments in this field of aviation.

Grimm Once Played On Junion High Team

Grimm will be remembered by many Salem people as he attended Washington junior high school for several years, playing on the football team of that school in 1922. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Grimm of 1515 North 20th street are his parents while a brother, Howard Grimm, is a teller in Ladd and Bush bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Grimm (who is the former Miss Dorothy Spiers of Oakland, California) are guests of his parents for the present.

Aviation enthusiasts of Salem were interested Monday in learning of the plans of Lee U. Eyerly, president of the Eyerly Aircraft corporation and superintendent of the municipal airport, to develop a light, fast airplane that may carry the name of Salem to every section of the nation.

Eyerly placed an order with the Cirrius Motor plant at Marysville, Mich. for the immediate shipment of a new Cirrius motor after a trial offer had been made by the factory in order to prove the adaptability of the motor to the particular needs of Eyerly.

The motor will be mounted in a Lee monoplane where it should develop 95 to 115 horsepower and attain a maximum speed of 130 miles per hour. It is of approximately the same weight as the Kinners and Seimans-Halsky motors which this plane has formerly carried, but is expected to greatly increase the speed, endurance, stability and climbing power.

These factors Eyerly believes will enable the Lee Monoplane to be entered in the light plane division of the national air derby starting from New York late this summer. Although of the opinion that he will be assured of some degree of success in this event he is not committing himself on the project until thorough tests of the motor have been made.

MUSICIANS CHOSEN FOR SALEM GROUP

Tryouts for individual entries from Salem high school for the state music tournament to be held in Forest Grove Friday and Saturday, April 25 and 26, were held last night in the studios of Lena Belle Tartar, director of high school music, with the following results:

Elizabeth Boylan, piano; Dalbert Jepsen, violin; girls' voices—Vivian Benner, high; Ruth Howe, medium; Helen Benner, low; boys' voices—Willard Moses, high; Bradford Lee, medium; Richard Smart, low.

Judges were Mrs. Walter Zosel, Miss Gretchen Kreamer and Mrs. Frank Lilburn.

The entire list of high school students, who will participate in the tournament from Salem have been announced by Miss Tartar as follows:

PATIENT IMPROVES

NEW YORK, April 14—(AP)—David Warfield, veteran actor who recently underwent what was described as a "rather serious" operation at Post Graduate hospital, tonight was reported in a satisfactory condition.

Trunk's Prescription
Rheumatism

People once nerve-racked and sleepless from torturing pain now testify to relief in the use of this famous physician's prescription. It has a double action, designed to ease pain when you commence to use it and to ultimately remove the cause not reached by ordinary methods. It does not depress the heart or injure the stomach. Sufferers who want more relief try Trunk's Prescription today. It has stood the supreme test for 20 years. Druggists have it.

Tell the Whole World About Oregon

RUSSELL BROOKS IS GIVEN PROMOTION

Salem people were gratified to learn Monday of the further advancement in the United States consular service of Russell M. Brooks, a native of Marion county and son of Mrs. Mildred M. Brooks, county recorder. Mr. Brooks has been assigned consul, London, England, being transferred from Belfast, where he has been stationed for nearly six years.

Brooks entered the consular service just after the war, being assigned to Rotterdam, Holland, where he remained for three years, from there going to Dresden, Germany and then to Newcastle, England. It was from this latter station that he was sent to Belfast. To draw this prize post of London, England, is the continuance of a most eviable record in the consular service of his country.

Russell Brooks is a graduate of Willamette university law school and was at the time of his enlistment in the army a student at the University of Oregon, from which institution he would have graduated in one more year.

DISBARMENT CASES ARE ARGUED TODAY

Attorneys who were appointed by the supreme court to prosecute George W. Joseph and Thomas Mannix of Portland in the disbarment cases involving the two, met here Monday to marshal the points that will be presented in the final arguments before the supreme court tomorrow.

Judges George F. Skipworth of Eugene, H. D. Norton of Grants Pass and Fred W. Wilson of The Dallas, who were the board of referees that tried the cases, recommended unanimously the permanent disbarment of Joseph. By a two to one majority they recommended the suspension of Mannix for three years. Judge Skipworth dissented by recommending that Mannix also be permanently disbarred. Following these recommendations to the supreme court, the accused attorneys were given opportunity to make a final appearance before the supreme court before the latter hands down a decision.

Evans Reames of Medford, A. K. McMahan of Albany and Arthur Clark of Corvallis, who prosecuted Mannix conferred here on Monday, as did John H. Carson of Salem and Oscar Hayter of Dallas of the Joseph prosecution. W. Lair Thompson of Portland, the third member of the Joseph prosecution, was not here, but it is understood he will be here today.

None of the defense attorneys, Frank J. Lonergan of Portland for Mannix, and John C. Veatch and B. E. Haney of Portland for Joseph, was in Salem yesterday.

The Joseph case will be heard in the forenoon and the Mannix case in the afternoon as now scheduled. It was believed the Joseph case would be completed by noon. The attorneys were informed, however, that Chief Justice Coshow had stated that he would give all the time asked by the attorneys, so there was a possibility, they said, that the arguments might extend into Wednesday.

Japanese Girl Peace Envoys Meet Hoover

WASHINGTON, April 14. —(AP)—Heavy silken Kimonos, as formal as for a royal Japanese garden party, but not old fashioned like court costumes, were shaken from suitcases today by Japan's four girl "envoys of gratitude" in preparation for the most meaningful event of their American trip—tomorrow's officials call on President Hoover.

"Quite a solemn thing," said Miss Kimi Ashino, honor graduate of Tokyo women's college, of their choice as Nippon's voice in appreciation of American aid during the Yokohama earthquake of 1923.

TEACHERS TO GIVE REPORTS ON MEET

Teachers in all the Salem school will hear this week reports from the eight local school heads who attended the Inland Empire association meeting in Spokane last week. The meeting was the largest ever held and the entire program was excellent, reports George Hug, city superintendent. Four hundred more teachers than last year, or 3,300, were in attendance. Hug presided over the one-day session of the Northwest association of higher and secondary schools, of which he is ending his fourth year as president.

The teachers who attended, and schools at which they will give reports this week are: Mrs. Susie J. Emmons, Grant and Highland; Miss Dorothy Taylor, Parrish, McKinley and Lincoln; Mrs. Mildred Wyatt, Park and Richmond; Miss Gretchen Kreamer, Leslie and Garfield; Joy Hills, Washington and Englewood. Principal Fred Wolf and Miss Mabel Robertson of the senior high gave reports last night before the high school teachers' meeting and Superintendent Hug will give a brief report before the general teachers' meeting at 4 o'clock today.

BRISTOW BACK AMONG FRIENDS

Kidnaped American Millionaire Crosses Boundary Of United States

NOGALES, Ariz., April 14—(AP)—A little oblong sign of two words, weather beaten but legible, brought unbounded joy to a gray haired haggard man of 60 years today as he trod on the sun baked streets of this border town after a month of existence between life and death in the none too gentle hands of Mexican desperadoes.

The sign read: "United States." The man was J. E. Bristow, mining operator of San Angelo, Texas. A little more than a month ago March 9, while seeking a claim he was fallen upon by a bandit gang who held his life as the price of freedom until his family last week paid a ransom of 3,000 pesos.

Today, after a long trip by horse and train from the bandit stronghold in the interior of Nayarit, Mexico, through an outlaw infested country, he reached his homeland, from which he probably never will venture forth again.

As his train rolled across the international border where that little sign sticks like a sore thumb for the attention of all passersby, a warning to some—a welcome to others, a broad smile of mixed happiness and relief lighted Bristow's face.

"Oh, it's great to be back in the United States!" His passage through the United States customs officers already had been arranged and after a few usual duties had been performed by the border guards, he stepped a free man on American soil.

Late today, Bristow left Nogales for El Paso, where his family will greet him.

METHODISTS PLAN HOLY WEEK RITES

Holy Week services will be held in the First Methodist church this week under the direction of Rev. Fred C. Taylor, the pastor, and special sermons will be given by Miss D. Willis Caffray, evangelist, who is conducting the Christian Life campaign services before Easter.

The Men's Council of the church with Ralph K. Ohling as president will have the leadership of 99 men on Tuesday evening, singing Sankey's famous gospel song "The Ninety and Nine." Prof. F. W. Gaw will direct the singing and Prof. T. S. Roberts will preside at the organ. Wednesday evening will be featured as "visitors' night" when groups from other churches will be given special recognition.

The Holy Communion of the church will be administered on Thursday night. This will be a "candle light" service when only the Bible and ritual of the church will be used and the members will partake of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Evangelist Caffray, who spent a year in India, will give an address on India Saturday evening, using a number of young women dressed in Indian costume to assist her.
