

CURT COMMENTS

Al Karasick, the Russian lion, will come here next Wednesday after all, for a match with Wildcat McCann under Police Gazette rules. It was announced yesterday. There has been a lot of demand for this match and we hope, fans, you're all satisfied.

McCann told us Wednesday night that this stuff about his being too tiny to battle the hood, but Russian was all piffle. The Wildcat said he had beaten John Anderson of Salt Lake City, who once upon a time beat Karasick. Anderson, according to McCann, is so tough the local matchmaker at Salt Lake City can't get him any matches. Anderson has also beaten Ira Bern, Dr. Sarpolis and Billy Edwards.

Furthermore, McCann favored us with a glimpse of a picture of himself in the ring with Gus Kallin, world middleweight champion. Now, if McCann was good enough to meet the middleweight king, he should be entitled to a match with a 177 pounder, even if he does give away 15 pounds or so.

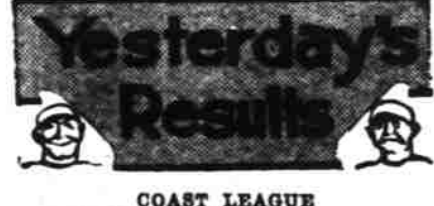

And by the way—McCann wants a real strenuous workout Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the armory, and invites anybody in town, no matter how big, to come out and tussle with him. No crowding, please.

This stuff about Vic Potter beating McCann is all wrong, too, the little Scotch Mexican avers. McCann was billed to wrestle somebody else who didn't show up, and they shoved him onto the mat against Potter for what he understood was to be an exhibition. Potter got hurt—a circumstance local fans can well understand—and the matchmaker gave Potter the bout. The Wildcat had beaten Potter previously at Newberg, and has clippings to prove it.

It's all right, Wildcat, nobody's going to suspect Potter of being able to throw you. You know, we used to know a Vic Potter up in the Puget Sound country, but after seeing this lad perform, we didn't bother to go up and see if he was the same guy.

These Police Gazette rules—well, fans, those of you who have weak hearts had better stay away.

Yesterday We Saw
Traces of two attempts to sow grain on the downtown streets. There was a trail of barley which evidently had leaked out of a truck, on Ferry street between Front and Commercial. A similar trail of cracked wheat led out of the alley between Commercial and Liberty onto State and then eastward.

Bearcat Tossers to Invade Corvallis Again Today

2 GAME SERIES IS SCHEDULED

Improvement Sought in Willamette's Infield, Reports Indicate

Willamette university's "out of luck" baseball team will invade Corvallis once more today for the third attempt to best the Oregon State college tossers. The fourth game of the series will be played Saturday, also in Corvallis.

The Staters have twice beaten the Bearcats this season, 5 to 0 and 8 to 7. Both times O. S. C. managed to halt Willamette's rallies just in time, and in the first game the Bearcats outthrew their opponents but lost through errors.

The veteran infield combination on which Coach Spee Keene has counted so strongly this season is expected to come up to expectations, and a shakeup is in prospect if some improvement is not shown this week end, the coach indicated Thursday.

HELENE BROKE 6 WORLD RECORDS IN ONE SWIM RECENTLY!

MARtha NORELIUS—16-YEAR-OLD WONDER FROM SEATTLE WHO HAS SUCCEEDED MARtha NORELIUS AS OUR GREATEST GIRL SWIMMER!

Miss Madison's immortal 500-yard swim broke four records previously held by Martha Norelius, who turned professional more than a year ago. Helene's feats seem to have definitely marked the eclipse of the marvelous Martha, something which is highly pleasing to red-hot amateurs, who were so shocked when Miss Norelius decided to swim for money rather than medals.

WOMEN in sports continue to dazzle with ever increasing distinctiveness. The current year was young, indeed, when Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, created some new world records through her extraordinary sprinting. The idea of March had barely been passed when Miss Helene Madison, of Seattle—just "sweet sixteen"—established five new women's swimming records in the course of a single 500-yard effort over a 20-yard course at Jacksonville, Fla. The slender Seattle miss with the long, supple legs missed only one record—the 100 yard—during that amazing record smasher. She made the 200 in 2:23; the 250 in 2:39; 300

On the Sidelines

By BRIAN BELL

John D. Rockefeller, who represents the older school in golf, uses clubs with short shafts and swings his wooden clubs just as he does his irons. Bill Potts, veteran golf professional who spent 11 years at Ormond Beach where Mr. Rockefeller has his home, explained the short shafts.

"Mr. Rockefeller makes no change in his swing for his woods and irons, so he has the shafts shortened in the woods. Outside of this he takes the clubs as they come and is not very particular about them. He leaves them in the shop just like the other golfers."

"The most striking thing about his game is the slowness of the back swing. No pro will ever have to tell him to take the club back slowly. As he starts back and continues to the top of the swing it looks like a slow motion picture."

"But for a man of his years," said Bill, who is now getting his Briar Hills club in shape for the approaching campaign, "Mr. Rockefeller is quite a golfer. Yes, quite a golfer."

If an international husband and wife golf foursome should be agitated it might be well not to challenge the British. C. V. L. Hooman, former Walker Cup player, and Mrs. Hooman, the former Mrs. W. A. Gavin, should be able to give a good account of themselves in any competition arraying family against family, with brothers and sisters barred to keep out Roger Wethered and Miss Joyce Wethered. Mrs. Hooman won the Canadian and Belgian women's championships and was three times runner-up in the women's championship of the United States.

Walter Hagen, who has been winning golf championships large and small for 15 years, has found the winter long and cold. The British Open champion has won only a few dollars, not enough to pay his caddies, as the golf caravan has wound through the Far West. A change in climate and time may do him some good so he will tour Australia, one of the few countries he has not visited, and gradually work himself in shape for the defense of the British title he won last spring for the fourth time. No matter how ill his golfing luck may be at other times and other places he must be reckoned a serious contender for the British crown.

"The Hag" has a chance to make a modern record by winning the championship three years in succession. This trick has not

CHIEFS DEFEAT GERVAIS TEAM

Chemawa Nine Wins 7 to 1; Meachem Gets Homer at First Attempt

CHEMAWA, April 17.—(Special)—The Chemawa Indian school baseball team defeated the Gervais tossers 7 to 1 today. Meachem, Chemawa's leadoff man, pounded out 8 home runs in his first time at bat. The score would have been greater but the Indians had difficulty hitting in the pinches. Schwab of Gervais twice whiffing a redskin batsman for the third out with the bases loaded.

DAYTON DEFEATED BY AMITY'S TEAM

AMITY, April 17.—Amity high defeated Dayton high in its second league baseball game of the season on the latter's field, 13 to 2.

Elmer Wood, Amity pitcher, showed midseason form and limited Dayton to four hits, and but for loose fielding in the first and second innings would have had a shutout. Younce, Dayton pitcher, was hit often and hard by the Amity batters.

The team, as a whole, seems in good shape and should win its next start, which is against Sheridan, Friday on the Sheridan diamond.

been negotiated since 1882 when Bob Ferguson made it three in a row. J. H. Taylor had a chance to duplicate Ferguson's achievement in 1896. Taylor won in 1894 and 1895 and tied with Harry Vardon in 1896, only to lose the play-off. This started Vardon on his string of six championships, but no three came in straight years.
