BRIEF WAIT ASKED BY CENSUS CHIEF

Salem residents will help the census headquarters if they will be patient just a few days longer before they begin to call in to say they have not been enumerated. R. J. Hendricks, district supervisor, said yesterday. Quite a bit of territory in the city has not yet been covered, including that northeast of the Southern Pacific track, from the Broadway west to the city limits and in the southeastern part of town. Hendricks pointed out, and the check-up will not begin in earnest until the enumerators complete their work. After that time, residents will be asked to lend their cooperation in making the wipe-up.

Preliminary figures released yesterday show that Hubbard gained just 10 inhabitants in the last ten years, with the 1930 count standing at 330 and that for 1920 at 320. In that city the 1910 population was 233 and the 1900, 213.

MONOPOLY CHARGED TO BILLBOARD FIRM

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—(AP)—Charges of a monopoly of interstate commerce in outdoor advertising were contained in a suit filed in federal court today against the Foster and Kleiser company, its officers and the Realty Realty company, a subsidiary, at the direction of the United States attorney general.

The suit was based on the Sherman anti-trust law and specifically alleged that a monopoly existed in the company's business in California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona. The officers named were George W. Kleiser, Walter F. Foster and August F. Lauson, Jr.

The allegation was made that the advertising company transacts 90 per cent of the total business of outdoor advertising on the Pacific coast and controls 80 per cent of all outdoor advertising structures in this territory.

M'NAMARA ADMITS RUNNING SPEAKEASY

C. B. Aplin and J. J. McNamara, arrested at St. Paul Monday evening for operating a "speakeasy," were brought into justice court for arraignment on Tuesday. The men were charged with unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor. Aplin pleaded not guilty, while McNamara pleaded guilty.

A jury trial was scheduled for Aplin at 2 p. m., yesterday, but he was suddenly taken ill with a condition bordering upon delirium tremens and it was found necessary to take him to the hospital. His case will be continued for trial.

Following his arrest, McNamara continually denied having any knowledge of the liquor and was planning upon pleading not guilty but quickly changed his mind when brought into court. It was pointed out to him that a man in possession of a firearm where liquor is found is liable to a sentence of one to four years. McNamara deemed it better to plead guilty to the possession charge than to be the object of more serious accusations. He will probably be sentenced after Aplin's trial.

SOVIET MENACE TO LUMBERING IS SEEN

PORTLAND, Ore., April 22.—(AP)—The Oregonian says today that local lumbermen see a serious menace to the northwest lumber industry in reports current locally that the official Russian delegate recently in Oregon and Washington had opened negotiations for construction of more than 120 lumber mills in the Soviet.

The newspaper says it has learned that the delegation of ten visits in the most modern mills in the two states and interviewed the men who designed and constructed many of them, Fred W. Horstkotte of this city.

With low labor costs in Russia and no tariff barrier in the United States on lumber, the Oregonian says, Portland lumbermen foresee keen competition from the soviet government in the domestic lumber trade.

Horstkotte said that members of the Russian delegation visited Portland yesterday and that definite negotiations were opened.

KAY ANGERED AT MR. GEORGE

State Treasurer Gives Out Bristling Statement on Legion Episode

The recent letter of S. S. George of Eugene, state commander of the American Legion, to Mrs. Ada V. Skiff of Salem, in which he spoke lightly of the operations and intentions of the American War Mothers, belittled the writer to the point of incomprehensible absurdity, and as commander of the Legion, has brought shame upon that organization.

This was one of the outstanding statements contained in a letter prepared here Tuesday by Thomas B. Kay, state treasurer. Mrs. Skiff is president of the Salem chapter, American War Mothers.

"For him now to say that his first letter was misinterpreted merely adds further insult to his original affront, as his answer to Mrs. Skiff's first letter was unequivocal and readily understandable," continued Mr. Kay's comment.

"I know that the entire state of Oregon regrets exceedingly that such unwarranted calumny as was contained in Mr. George's letter to Mrs. Skiff should have attempted to be cast upon one of the most worthy and patriotic orders in America—an organization, in fact, which officially antedates the formation of the Legion auxiliary.

"Indeed, it is a sacrilege to ensnare American war mothers in the folds of the American flag, can it be said that the valiant sons of that same motherhood rise higher than their maternal protectors?"

"Everyone knows of the mental torture and physical suffering inflicted by the war mothers of America, and that, in many cases, those sufferings were not less than the physical strain endured by their brave sons upon the battlefield. No one with self-respect would ever discredit those loyal American mothers who gave their all in the recent world conflict.

"And yet, we have the spectacle of the sort of one of those mothers rising up to cast discredit upon them and to point an accusing finger by saying that their motives are actuated by personal selfishness and that they would flaunt the flag for sentimental purposes and would desecrate a most sacred institution.

"I have no quarrel with Mr. George, in fact do not even know him, but, merely as an impartial observer, I earnestly believe that a person who apparently has no more respect for American war mothers than he has just displayed, should withdraw from the leadership in Oregon of the patriotic organization which so recently honored him with election.

"Mr. George should realize that the American war mothers are not to be insulted nor slandered."

Problems of Operating Modern Home to Be Told And Solved by Speakers

What mother doesn't wonder now and then what makes her child so naughty, or how to get him to eat the foods he needs, or how to make him mind without recourse to numerous "don'ts." Answers to these and similar perplexities will be part of the discussion at the Parent Education conference which opens at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow in the First Presbyterian church under joint auspices of the home economics division of Oregon State college and the state board of vocational education. More than 200 local women are expected to attend the two days' conference.

Three sessions of the conference will be held, this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon and tonight. The evening conference has been scheduled in order that fathers will have an opportunity to attend and make it truly a parent's conference instead of a mothers' conference, says Miss Frances Wright of the state board of vocational education, who is making the arrangements. Mrs. C. A. Downs of Salem is general chairman of the sessions and Mrs. R. E. Wright will have charge of registration. Everyone interested is invited to attend any or all meetings.

Mothers who have no way of having their small children cared for while they are attending the conference are invited to bring them to the church, where arrangements have been made to have an older person in charge of them during the sessions.

Speakers and specialists on child training will include Mrs. Sara Prentiss, specialist in child development; Miss Ruth Glassow, director of the women's physical education department; Miss Beatrice Geiger, associate professor of foods and nutrition; and Miss Claribel Nye, state leader of home economics extension, all of Oregon State college.

The first address, "How Much Adults Can Learn from This Conference" will be given at 2:10 o'clock today by Miss Nye, in which she will present recent knowledge on adult learning. According to Miss Geiger, who will speak at 2:30 o'clock on "The Foods Children Need," parents may easily check the eating habits of children to tell whether or not the children are getting what they need in amounts desirable to maintain health and provide for growth.

Miss Geiger, who studied at the University of Chicago and at Columbia university, is in charge of food which is served to the children of the nursery school at Oregon State college. Her wide experience with food problems of pre-school children qualifies her to discuss these questions.

BALLROOM DANCING SCORED BY BULGIN

Dancing and modern dress came in for the brunt of the general criticisms which Dr. E. J. Bulgin directed against many customs of the present day in talking last night on "If I Were the Devil, What in Hell Would I Do?" Dr. Bulgin is conducting a revival at the Calvary Baptist church.

In the course of his talk the evangelist said: "If I were the devil I am certain that I could think of no better way to undermine the morals of the younger people than to give them the privileges of intimacy allowed on the ballroom floors. I will not say that everyone who dances will go to hell. I am not that narrow. Card playing is in the same class with dancing.

"If I were the devil I would dress women in the same manner in which they have been dressing in the past few years. Their skirts I would have above the knee while the tops of their dresses would be so low that they would seem that they had on only a belt.

"Hollywood needs cleaning up. The motion pictures have come to be a vital factor in the education of our boys and girls and as long as this is true all objectionable scenes should be erased. Conditions at Hollywood are deplorable. Enlarging upon all the above points, Dr. Bulgin painted a vivid picture of every-day life as he sees it; life in its most sinful aspects with here and there a suggestion as to how it could be made clean and wholesome.
