Statesman Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS
 A delightful sleeveless frock to wear now under a coat, and later without, is quite simple, easy to make, yet decidedly chic. The bodice is moulded to the figure and belted wherever most becoming to the individual. The gracefully flared skirt points upward in slender lines.

Pattern 1860 is fashioned of two fabrics, printed for the bodice and plain for the skirt, belt and neck trimming. A few suggestions are pongee, plaie, flax crepe, shantung, rayon, etc. If you have a jacket, the skirt and trimming might be made of the same fabric as that used in the jacket to form a stunning ensemble.

Designed only for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26 and 28. Size 14 requires 1-3/8 yards printed and 1-3/8 yards plain fabric, each 39 inches in width.

Patterns will be delivered open receipt of fifteen cents (15c) in a coin, carefully wrapped or stamped. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

For new spring book of pattern styles see ready. Price 15c. Ten cents, but only ten cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Statesman Pattern Department, 244 West 5th street, New York City.

Y.M.C.A. Presents New Type Program

Friday night's lobby program at the Y. M. C. A. will be the presentation of two one-act plays by the "recently organized" Y dramatic club. The group is under the direction of Dean Roy R. Hewitt and is making its initial appearance tonight.

The plays, "The Exchange," by Althea Thurston and "The Gate," by George S. Kaufman, will be presented by E. F. Kale, Pansy Slaver, Lewis K. Lawrence, Margaret Bjelland, and Mike Panek, make up the cast, while Glen Holman, Claudia Plank, Elmer Greipenroth, Nathalie Panek, and Clifford Gleason, have parts in the latter.

Dean Hewitt has been assisted in the coaching of the new group by Mrs. Hewitt and Mrs. Ben Rickell.

Margaret Cosper Will Visit Europe

Miss Margaret Cosper will leave at the close of school with Ann Shannon Monroe for a tour of 11 countries of Europe. They will leave New York City on the "Gripenholm." They will visit England and all the Shakespearian localities in detail and spend two weeks in London; Scotland, France with two weeks spent in Paris will be visited and tours will be made of Germany, Switzerland, and the Passion play at Oberammergau will be seen early in July; Austria with time spent in Vienna especially; Sweden, where they will take the canal trip, and other countries.

Ann Shannon Monroe, claimed by Oregon as her own author, has made the trip many times. Miss Cosper, principal of Garfield school, and well known in Salem, is to be back from this inclusive tour September 1.

Interesting Revue To Be Given

Miss Barbara Barnes will sponsor the second annual dance revue June 3 in the Fox Elsinore theatre with a group of at least 80 people in performance. This event proved of interest to hundreds of people last year and this year is planned for much more elaborate work than before.

The program will be made up of four big numbers. The most pretentious of the four will be the "Egyptian Ballet" which will include all Salem talent. The ballet is Miss Barnes' own production; the music was written by Don Schupp, local musician; the costumes being done by Mrs. Otto Paulus.

The ballet is after the style of Kreutzerberg, the German dancer who has within the past few years created a new school of dancing. This German technique will run through all the dances. The whole effect will be unusual and startling, in music, steps, and costumes.

The program will open with a children's musical number, "Baby Days." This will be followed by a rhythmic design which is the same as is being produced upon the stage by a Perry Mansfield troupe now, only it has a new finale which has been created by Miss Barnes.

The fourth number will be a torch ballet in black and white with an adagio finale. Josephine Achlin and Rex Lee will be the adagio team.

Oh These Women!

By LEO LA ALLARD

Here is a girl of 22 with a Father complex that threatens to ruin her life. She is in love with a young man and wants to marry him but her first duty is to Father. Father has plenty of money, is retired, can take care of himself, and perhaps if Daughter would step out, might find him another wife and forget some of his sorrow over the death of his wife. But no, Daughter must stay at home and care for Dear Daddy and let Larry, the fiance, go his way.

And in after years when father dies, or perhaps marries again, and the brothers and sisters take their own homes, "Daddy's Companion" as she signs herself, will be left alone with her memories of Larry. By that time Larry will have found him a wife and no doubt be settled for life.

Well sister, all I can say is that I feel very sorry for Larry. Unless you wake up you would make him a miserable wife. Neither of you would be happy.

The letter is signed: "Until I hear from you, I remain the child's mother. Daddy's companion and Larry's girl." What a break Larry is getting!

Her letter comes from San Francisco:

"Dear Miss Allard: In desperation I've decided to write to you. My mother died three years ago. Since that time I've tried to take her place in my father's life. He is retired and we play golf, tennis, swim and ride horseback. I am hostess in the home and go out with him as mother used to do. I have a brother fourteen and a sister sixteen. I am twenty-two. Since my mother's death I am in love with Larry and want to marry him. Daddy is so unselfish if I told him he wouldn't mind a bit, and would immediately make plans for a lovely wedding, just as if there were two of me. He is very unselfish and stays at home with him. Larry has been a dear but things can't be put off indefinitely. I've gone with him for five years. Then I have my darling brother and sister to think of. If Larry could see how I feel, he would be here and continue in Mother's place. He is twenty-six, do you suppose he could? I just must think of my family first."

(Martyr stuff won't work my dear. You are acting absurdly here and very unselfish. Your father will tell you so if you talk to him.)

"I can't give Larry up. I am counting on you for a solution," she says.

All right. Tell your father. Let him talk sense to you. Larry Larry and make him happy, be happy yourself and let father find his happiness or let sister look after him. Don't be a Goof my dear. You overestimate the importance of your home position. Your family won't be happy if you ruin your life for them. They sound like mighty nice folks.

Tell Dad now.

Apple Sauce Recipe

Pure, core and quarters several juicy, sour apples. Put them in a saucepan and cook with just enough water to keep them from burning. Add a dash of cinnamon and a little lemon juice. Cool and serve.

You only need one guess. Sugar is missing. And if you add sugar "to taste" just before you take your apple sauce from the stove, you will have the utmost in flavorful goodness.

Very often you wonder how to improve foods which are lacking in flavor or appetite-appeal. In most cases a dash of sugar is all that is necessary. This is especially true in the preparation of vegetables. Just try a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt in cooking spinach, carrots, string beans, tomatoes and peas. You'll be surprised at the way sugar improves the distinctive flavor of each vegetable.

When you consider that vegetables, cereals and fruit are essential in the diet for the vitamins, mineral salts and roughage they contain, you will realize the importance of making these foods appeal to the appetites of young and old. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.
