

Bearcats Open Tough Week's Ball Schedule Here Today

PACIFIC TEAM NOW ON DECK

Andy Peterson Expected to Start on Mound for Willamette

The baseball team of Willamette university faces a strenuous campaign this week, starting with a game at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon on its own field against Pacific university's tossers. This is the same position from last Friday on account of rain, and should prove one of the hardest conference games of the season for the Bearcats.

Pacific has in Nelson a capable twirler who is likely to give the Bearcat batsmen an unprofitable afternoon, as was evidenced when he held the University of Oregon hitters to three runs in an early season game.

Wednesday afternoon the Willamette team goes to Portland to play Columbia university a return game, with a hope of revenge for the defeat suffered here last week.

On Thursday Reed college's team will come here for a game, and on Friday the Willamette team plays the second of its series with Pacific at Forest Grove.

This campaign will be a trifle hard on the Bearcat pitching staff, especially if any relief hurlers are required to perform in the early games, but Coach "Spec" Keene is not disposed to follow the same tactics he employed last week, when he refrained from using first string pitchers against Columbia, saving them for the two conference contests, one of which did not materialize. He figures the hurlers need more work and will use his three regulars from the start. Peterson will probably essay to stop Pacific's threat this afternoon.

Mrs. Erceel Kay set a new woman's record for the course Sunday, 84. About 35 players participated in the "allbi" tournament Sunday.

Salem Athletes In Track Events

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, May 5.—Ed Siegmund and Salem will enter the high hurdles and the medley relay for Oregon in the track meet against the University of Washington team.

Don Siegmund, also of Salem, and brother of Ed Siegmund, will enter the 440-yard relay for the frosh against the O. S. C. Rooks this afternoon.

Both of the men are affiliated with Beta Theta Pi. Ed Siegmund was recently elected as vice-president of the House Manager's association.

One Real Tough Gob

Sailor Watkins, who meets Wildcat Pete on the mat at the armory Wednesday night. Watkins answers either to "Sailor" or "Tex" and is equally at home in a Jack Tar outfit or in the cowboy boots he wore when he arrived in Salem Monday. He was junior middleweight champion of the navy from 1927 to 1929, and just now he's wearing a beard and monstache which he refuses to cut off until he takes the world junior middleweight belt away from Henry Jones.

"Manufacturing" Stars

By HARDIN BURNLEY

BALLYHOO

Kid Chocolate

WAS IT FIGHTING ABILITY, OR SMART MANAGING, PLENTY OF SET-UPS, AND LOTS OF BALLYHOO THAT MADE THE KEE A BIG-MONEY SCRAPER?

EVERY fight fan knows of the so-called "build-up" whereby many a champion or contender is shrewdly matched and loudly publicized into big money bouts. With Primo Carnera thus far it has been universal curiosity in his gigantic physique that is being capitalized by a truly extraordinary exploitation man, Leon See—an astute and courteous 53-year-old Frenchman who speaks, reads and writes English fluently. In less than a year the Italian giant—"a stranger in a strange land"—has been ballyhooped into a definite heavyweight contender role, despite his inexperience with unaided opponents, so-called "nats." He also was another questionable decision in his 12-fight that naturally he before a "foreigner who is 'cleaning up' financially in a hard-boiled racket. A few months before that, Bucky Graham dropped Chocolate twice and was leading when he accidentally fouled the nimble negro and got in the seventh round. Second-raters like Dominick Petrone and Steve Smith extended him, though they lost, in 10-rounders.

With two or three other possible exceptions, Chocolate's victories were over boys hardly better than those Carnera has been practicing on during his K.O. tour. Yet Chocolate may yet prove to be a great fighter. He is a superb defensive boxer and may justify the extravagantly dazzling acclamations developed by the tremendous ballyhoo in his behalf. Yes, it is possible occasionally to "manufacture" champions as well as stars.

Local Bowling Five Places First at Seattle

LEGIONNAIRES LEAD CLASS A

Salem Men Rank High With Individual Scoring in Northwest Meet

SEATTLE, May 5.—(AP)—High scores of Friday, Saturday and Sunday continued to lead through today's play of the various divisions of the 18th annual northwestern international bowling congress. Forty matches were on the program for tonight with teams from Portland, Tacoma, Fernie, B. C., and Seattle competing.

In today's events Steinbock and Stolker of Salem, Ore., rolled into second place in the major doubles class with 1093. L. V. Hall, of Salem, forged into third place of the major singles with 446 and Virrell Stolker of Salem went into sixth with 558. In the commercial division Mann and Harrison, Seattle, copped sixth place in the doubles with 1111. Mert Hemenway of Salem rolled into sixth place in the singles with 587, while Hall forged into the second spot in the all-event race with 1,680.

The Salem Legionnaires were holding first place in the class A competition for five major teams in the latest reports received at the Winter Garden here, with 2768. McKay Chevrolet of Salem was in fourth place in class B with 2,661, and Weinstein's Army and Navy was fifth with 2555. Hain's Body Shop was in first place in class C.

In class B doubles Pratt and Young were in eighth place with 1049 and Hall and Nebergall in ninth with 1039. In the class B singles Van Weider was leading with 652, Monson in fifth with 583, Hussey sixth with 754, Greenlaw ninth with 556, Young 11th with 543, Pratt 13th with 538 and Nebergall 15th with 524.

BEARS BEAT UCLAS

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—(AP)—The University of Southern California moved into the lead of the California college baseball league today by defeating University of California at Los Angeles 12 to 1 in a slow game.

CURT COMMENTS

The wrestling match Wednesday night will be conducted under the prevailing rules, we understand, except that the additional local ban on the Sonnenberg will not apply. The two-handed rabbit punch is barred. If the boys want to flying tackle each other we have no objection, but the rabbit punch prohibition seems to us a good idea. It looks as though the rappers are a bit doubtful of the drawing power of their legitimate game and want to add a little kick on the side. We like ours straight.

But we haven't seen a real Sonnenberg tried yet. We hope these boys will give us a demonstration, and then if it's too rough, we can put the thing back in the cage.

Henry Jones is back in this territory and he used a Sonnenberg last Friday night to beat this same Sailor Watkins, who is scheduled to appear here, taking the deciding fall in less than a minute of the third round.

Watkins is said to be one of those funny lads with a lot of comedy antics fled away for ready reference. As for Wildcat Pete, the fans here know him already. Tough enough for anybody.

We heard young James of Salem high won his heat in the hurdles at Eugene by such a big margin that they didn't take the trouble to run off the finals.

But the Willamette Bearcats think they are playing in organized ball before the week is over. Four games in as many days, with the usual spring qualification.

Don't be surprised if we miss a ball game altogether one of these days. Schedules are like the railroad time tables; subject to change without notice.

About this night baseball—wonder if the lights shine on the grandstand too? If not, the game will become as popular with young couples as the movies.

"Repairing done while you wait"—everybody has seen that sign. And it's quite correct. We've waited for days for some repairing to be done.

Yesterday We Saw
A line of lawn mowers about half a block long in a store, all marked "sold." Looks like there'll be some grass cut around here this summer.

HUBBARD GRADERS BEAT BROOKS NINE

HUBBARD, May 5.—(Special)—The Hubbard grade school boys won the championship of the north division of Marion county Friday afternoon when they defeated Brooks in a game of baseball with a score of 5 to 4.

The rain forced the boys to take shelter under the played several times but each time they rushed to the game again as soon as the rain ceased and finished the last of the league baseball games scheduled for the north end of the county.

Hubbard will meet the winning team of the south end of the county for the final decision.

The lineup for the Hubbard team is Gerald Hershberger, pitcher; Garfield Voget, catcher; Lester Barrett, first base; Manion Carl, second base; William Myers, shortstop and also captain of the team; Marvin Barrett, left field; John Dimick, center field; Jerold Williams, right field and Bob Beckman and Harold Williams, substitutes. Prof. Arthur Myers, seventh and eighth grade teacher is the coach.

Salem High Ball Team Will Play Rooks' Tossers

Wednesday afternoon the Salem high school baseball team will go to Corvallis for its second game of the season against the O. S. C. Rooks. The Rooks won the first game by a one run margin, and that at a time when Mel VanCleave, Salem's regular hurler, was not at his best having pitched two game earlier in the week.

On Friday and Saturday Salem high will play the Eugene high team at Eugene, and may also have a return game with University high to be played on the same trip.

Woodburn Plays Silvertown Soon

SILVERTOWN, May 5.—The Woodburn-Silvertown baseball game which was scheduled for last Friday and which was called off because of the weather conditions will be played here Thursday afternoon. Considerable enthusiasm is already being shown over this game. Silvertown and Woodburn are old-time athletic rivals and any contest between the two schools brings out considerable pep.

HUNTINGTON BOOKED TO KEEP COACH JOB

Holls W. Huntington, athletic coach at Salem high school this school year and for several years prior to 1928, will probably be re-elected to the position when the school board considers teachers' contracts at its meeting tonight, it was indicated Monday.

Last winter when the state high school athletic association passed a rule requiring all coaches to be full time teachers, a possibility was seen that this would not permit Huntington to retain his position another year.

The outlook now, however, is that Huntington will be offered a contract which will permit him to fulfill the requirements, whatever the state association's board of directors may define them to be.

At present Huntington is doing work which requires as many hours as that performed by many "full time" teachers, but is not at the high school in the forenoon.

Numerous applicants have appeared for the coaching position, including some men who have made formidable records at other schools, but the board here is understood to be entirely satisfied with Huntington's work and anxious to retain him if the matter can be worked out to suit the requirements of the state organization.

Huntington this year took an almost entirely green basketball squad and moulded it into a team that reached the finals in the state tournament. His football material was equally inexperienced, but his team made an acceptable showing.

There is certain to be one change in the local coaching staff, Aubrey L. Fletcher, football coach at Parrish junior high and a teacher in the physical education department, is leaving to devote full time to his newspaper at Turner. Harold Hawk, Willamette university basketball and baseball star, is an applicant for the position and may receive it.
