

NORBLAD GIVES ADDRESS HERE

Present Governor Talks on Candidacy to Chamber of Commerce

Giving his only political address of the campaign in Salem, Governor Norblad addressed the chamber of commerce luncheon Monday noon. The governor comes to the end of a long and strenuous campaign but appeared in fine physical trim when he spoke to the merchants of Salem and presented his claims for continuance in the office to which he was called by the death of the late I. L. Patterson in straightforward manner. The governor was introduced by Tom Kay, state treasurer, his colleague on the board of control. Mr. Kay praised the governor's radio address in tribute to motherhood delivered Sunday night, and said that in his service in the senate Mr. Norblad had been friendly to Marion county interests.

Early Experiences Briefly Reviewed

The governor quickly reviewed his early life as a Swedish immigrant boy landing at Castle Garden, thrown on his own resources at 13, musician in a circus band, foundry worker, student in correspondence school, and finally practicing attorney. He mentioned a number of the civic services he had performed in Astoria during war times and as member of the school board. He then gave rather an intimate picture of the problems he had had to face in bearing trust suddenly without warning or anticipation, into the office of governor. "I have had many strange and unusual experiences and problems. The matter of appointments has caused trouble. There were the appointments of two members of the game commission and the problem of protecting the recreational advantages of the Rogue river. By next January I will have had 13 months experience in the office and believe that the people will benefit by continuing one who has had this experience."

Vital Issue Lacking Norblad Declares

After saying that all the candidates were agreed in pushing programs for Oregon's development so that there was no issue at stake but merely a matter of personality he submitted that he was best qualified because he was neither a radical nor an extreme conservative and because he rose from the ranks and knew the impulses and experiences of common people. The governor cited his friendly support of measures affecting Marion county. He said that he would with Lenore Ulric and Charles Bickford.

Constance Bennett in "Rich People" was at Fox Elsinore Monday in her initial, dramatic all-dialogue picture and with her appeared Regis Toomey and Robert Ames.

The plot of the story is an amusing, quite unoriginal, fairy tale of riches, love and a willful, modern, spoiled daughter of luxury. Personally I can't say much for Constance. But there is a great deal of good that may be said for Regis Toomey, and Robert Ames. They are excellent.

"South Sea Rose" at Bligh's Capitol is an interesting picture. Lenore Ulric does some admirable work. She is so much like a native South Sea islander that one finds it hard to believe that she is really the attractive Miss Ulric of some of her former productions.

bringing to the office a strong physical reserve and an energy such as few men of 49 possess. "I have spent as much actual time in the governor's office as my predecessor. I have been in my office at four in the morning and at midnight. My habit is to get several miles of walk each morning, that and eight hours of sleep fit me for a hard grind."

Before the governor spoke, Capt. Robert McBride of the Salem Navigation company in reporting the refusal of the board of engineers at Washington to grant appropriation for a four foot river channel at this time, said that his company could handle more freight if they had additional terminal facilities and urged public support of a terminal project costing $50,000 which would be taken said of by the rentals of the boat company. They handled about 40,000 tons of goods last year which he estimated was 10 per cent of the total traffic between Salem and Portland.

ductions. Her voice is delightful and she masters a foreign accent in intriguing fashion.

Charles Bickford, who plays opposite Miss Ulric, is very good, only poor Charles always seems to have to take the "low-brow" parts, and it is hard sometimes to sympathize with him. It just occurred to the reviewer that this is much thinner than in his last pictures. Perhaps success in wearing for him.

There are some beautiful photographic shots in this picture and some exceedingly realistic ones. Alf told the show is amusing.

"Q Ships," the movie of submarines, will be shown under the auspices of the Marion chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the Grand theatre Wednesday and Thursday. This movie tells the story of the mystery ships which did so much to stem the onslaught of the German submarines that threatened England's life in 1917. The German U-boats had destroyed shipping, harrassed the coast line, sunk food vessels and a great alarm in the allied nations. Something had to be done and done quickly. Jellicoe's appeal for destroyers and fast small craft was answered from America and a flotilla of American destroyers slipped into Queenstown harbor.

Then came the mysterious "Q" ships, the vampire which led the U-boats to destruction. Disguised as an ordinary schooner, but heavily armed and manned by sailors of the line these vessels met the German submarines.

This movie is full of dramatic scenes from the British naval records. It is said to have been produced with the co-operation of the British admiralty.

To the People of Salem and District:

In 1928 the Terminal Ice & Cold Storage Company built at 990 N. Front St., one of the most up to date refrigerating and ice-making plants in the Northwest.

What does a plant of this kind mean to Salem and District, tributary there too? Producers, Manufacturers and Consumers?

It may be safely stated that few people realize how large and important a factor the use of refrigeration and ice as a refrigerant has become in the industrial and economic activities of human life.

The immense fruit trades of this country could never have been developed without the use of refrigeration, likewise the fish industry, meat, dairy products, etc., in fact all perishable Farm-products.

This great plant is yours to make Salem and the products of the great Willamette Valley known to the world. Can we do this? I'll say we can. Try OUR storage.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY FOR GRAY HAIR OR BALDNESS

Brings Back Youthful Color. Stimulates Growth Too

YOU LOOK YOUNGER AND EXPERTS CAN'T DETECT

"I was amazed to notice my hair getting thicker, more even colored and healthy looking and every single gray hair in my head turned back to youthful color again as if by magic," declared an enthusiastic user of Lea's Hair Tonic which has amazed thousands and is being introduced here now.

Lea's Hair Tonic contains numerous ingredients a doctor labored years to work out in his search for something harmless which one could use for years with unvarying change in the hair—a stimulating massage treatment of the scalp which seems to put nature back on the job. He didn't want an ugly dye or one that produces shocking shades, ever growing darker and dull. He figured if tonic would stimulate the liver, heart, digestion, bowels, etc., the proper tonic massage would stimulate the growth and health to the scalp, hair roots and color glands. How successful he was can be proven by using Lea's Tonic a few weeks, each night to bald or gray hair. To test apply nightly to spot size of silver dollar and watch results. There are over 3,000 shades to human hair—no dye expert can paint the hair so exquisitely as nature. One appears years younger. No shocking change to startle your friends—just a gradual change day by day so naturally not even an expert will detect Lea's. Any hair with a spark of life left springs into activity, and bald spots fade away. Thousands of exhaustive empirical tests prove this and every claim is backed up by the nationally known Lea Tonic Co.

If a reader desires to try Lea's Hair Tonic on guarantee of complete satisfaction, they should get a bottle at drug store or six dollar bill to this and send to Lea Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md., for regular bottle, full directions, postage paid. Sent C.O.D. if desired—12c extra.
