TIME IS VITAL SPRAY FACTOR

Prof. S. C. Jones Makes Talk Before Cherry Growers On Saturday

"The success of the whole system of combat of the cherry fruit fly rests upon spraying the trees at the proper time," said Prof. S. C. Jones, entomologist of O. S. C. at the cherry growers meeting on Saturday.

Prof. Jones reported that 50 traps have been set in various parts of the cherry growing district to determine when the first flies emerge. As soon as they are discovered the spray must be applied to the entire tree. He urged that growers spray all the trees and not just one side as has been done in the past. It is essential that other types of trees such as pears and walnuts which are planted between cherry trees should be sprayed at the same time according to Prof. Jones. Three applications of spray were recommended.

Cherry growers were urged to write to the O. S. C. experiment station for the free booklet which gives in detail the methods of combating the pest. This booklet will be sent free of charge to all growers who write for it.

The spray recommended by Prof. Jones is a formula of molasses, arsenate of lead and water which has proved very effective in killing the fly.

That a determined war against the cherry fruit fly is necessary if the cherry crop is to be saved was pointed out by Dr. Don C. Mote of the O. S. C. experiment station who was also present at the meeting.

W. G. Allen, manager of Hunt Bros. cannery of Salem, presided and introduced the speakers.

APPLE GROWERS TO SEEK FEDERAL HELP

A committee of 15, representing the various apple growing regions of the United States will meet in Washington D. C. on May 14, at the call of the Federal Farm board, to develop a plan of procedure to further cooperative efforts among the apple producers in order that they may avail themselves of the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing act.

The committee was appointed in accordance with the recommendations made at a conference of representatives of fruit and vegetable cooperatives held with the farm board in January.

Representatives from the western section are: Victor C. Polienus of Hood River, general manager of the Hood River apple growers' association; J. W. Herbert of Yakima, Washington, general manager of the Yakima Fruit Growers' Assn.; L. M. Elgison of Wenatchee, Washington, president of the Wenatchee district cooperative association and E. C. Merritt of Sebastopol, California, manager of the Sebastopol apple growers association.

The apple committee is not an advisory commodity committee as provided for in the marketing act but rather a general committee to work with the farm board in the development of a national program for cooperative efforts among apple growers.

Circuit Court TERM STARTS

First Four Weeks Already Filled With Cases to Be Decided

One of the busiest circuit court terms in recent years began Monday morning when Circuit Judge Percy R. Kelly, presiding in department one, called court to order promptly at 10 a. m.

For the next four weeks cases have been set for each day and then court must be adjourned under the law a jury panel can not be held together for longer than 30 days.

The court will hold over until June 6 under the order prepared by Judge Kelly.

Twenty-four cases have been scheduled for the May term. Cases for the May term are: Edith McCord, West Woodburn; Rose B. Hagedorn, Salem; Anna O. Hynes, North Howell; Helen Gunderson, West Silverton; Thomas S. MacKenzie, Salem; Jacob Bercholdt, East Mt. Angel; Joseph H. Smith, Donald; Stella W. Ellis, Salem Heights; Ralph H. Kletzing, Salem; Carl Lorenzen, East Silverton; Grant W. Day, Salem; Charles F. Loose, Stayton; Frank D. Bligh, Salem; Mary L. Boesch, Salem, W. M. Service, East Silverton; W. M. Koppinger, Salem; Harold A. Zosel, Liberty; Albert J. Crosby, Scollard; K. H. Pickens, Salem; O. L. Darling, Salem; Mary Imah, Salem; Charles A. Stowell, Stayton.

NON-SUIT ALLOWED AGAINST T. C. JAMES

The May jury term of circuit court opened yesterday, Judge Percy R. Kelly presiding. The first case was that of T. C. James vs. Roy King, et al., for $2,000. After a portion of the testimony was taken Judge Kelly granted an involuntary non-suit on motion of attorneys for the defendants. The case involved some hard points of law. King operated a grocery store in Salem which was badly involved financially. He made an assignment for the benefit of creditors who disposed of the store and distributed the proceeds to the creditors. James is the father-in-law of King's and was a creditor not listed, so he failed to share in the distribution. His suit was against King and against the various wholesale firms who had received a certain percentage on their claims. The plaintiff's attempt failed when the judge held that the assignment did not come within the bulk sales law.

A half-day was taken with impounding a jury. The rest of the day was taken with statements of attorneys and opening of the testimony.

The case on the docket today is that of Simon Director vs. Henry Mangunson, a suit for goods sold and delivered.

Judge Kelly had to grant a good many excuses to persons called for jury service so a special venire of four was ordered drawn last night.

Sudden Death of Chaplain Gilbert Causes Poignant Grief Among Salem Folk

The sudden death of Chaplain W. S. Gilbert at his home near Oak Grove Saturday night has touched many folk in Salem. He has been serving as stated supply for the First Presbyterian church for two months past and was expected there to fill the pulpit Sunday morning and evening. He had planned a Mother's Day service, and worshippers there found the church calendar all printed with the topics he had chosen for the themes of his sermons. Dr. Doney called the night before when word came of his passing, consented to serve and preached both morning and evening.

The chaplain had been invited to be a guest at the Walter Spaulding home, for he and Mr. Spaulding had served together in the army. Mrs. Spaulding had baked Dr. Gilbert's favorite cake, and a pleasant reunion was anticipated. These incidents are typical of the way in which Dr. Gilbert touched life and the way in which he was busy and active clear to the end. Details of his death were that after a busy day in Portland he was sitting at his home reading the spiritual of the loved soldier-minister was gone.

Dr. Gilbert was born in Dayton, Ohio, December 7, 1863. He was educated in Otterbein College, Dayton, Ohio, and the University of Chicago. He came to Oregon in 1889 as president of the United Brethren college at Philomath. There he met and married Florence R. Davidson. His pastorate in Oregon included Central Presbyterian, Eugene; Central Presbyterian, Portland; First Presbyterian, Astoria, 18 years. He rendered distinguished service as an army chaplain and bore the rank of colonel in the Oregon national guard. He was also state chaplain of the national guard.

When the Spanish war broke out Rev. Gilbert went with the rank of captain, a chaplain in the 2nd Oregon Infantry. He served through the Philippine campaign. He followed his men in the charge to save the wounded. He went as chaplain of the 3rd Oregon Infantry to the Mexican border in 1916. In 1917 he went with the boys into the World war, serving with distinction as chaplain, winning honors and decorations. He was chairman of the relief committee at Astoria after the fire in 1922 and chairman of the charter committee of that city.

The funeral services will be held today at 2 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church, Portland, conducted by Rev. H. L. Bowman.

Active pallbearers, chosen from the national guard, will be: Colonel Eugene Moshberger, Colonel Eugene C. Libby, Lieutenant Colonel Thomas E. Riley, Lieutenant Colonel William C. Scott, Lieutenant Colonel Alvin C. Baker, and Lieutenant Colonel Harry C. Brumbaugh.

Honorary pallbearers will be Major General George A. White, Fletcher Linn, K. J. Baxter, John F. Risley, J. F. Ross, A. D. Garner, C. C. Colt, M. R. Chessman, Frank W. Parrott, Charles Staver, Orlando W. Davidson and E. N. Wheeler.

Chaplain Gilbert is survived by his widow; a daughter, Margery, teacher in Grant high school, Portland; a son DeWitt of Seattle; a brother Dr. J. Allen Gilbert, Portland.
