outstanding prominence, sat on the sidelines without a chance to be heard, leaving their own office responsibilities wait, and being forced to listen to reports that no doubt interested them very little. The longest of these reports was concluded to a very scattering house.

Active Support of Hospital Is Urged

Those giving reports were Mrs. L. C. Palmer, of the Doernbecher hospital fund, who briefly urged club members ardently to support the federation pledge to the hospital.

Mrs. J. D. Lynch reporting for the credentials committee stated briefly that there were 8 state officers represented in the federation meeting, 14 chapters of committees, 1 fraternal delegate, and 173 club delegates. This federation meeting is considered one of the largest meetings which has been held in years by the Oregon federated clubs.

Mrs. Randall M. Hopkins, chairman of the press and publicity committee, saving her detailed report for the Oregon Clubwoman, simply stated her appreciation for the support of the press of the state.

Scholarship Loan Fund Report Given

Mrs. Walter Hembree, reporting on the scholarship loan fund gave a long and detailed report of the work of this committee. Important highlights showed 971 girls and women have been assisted by these loans which average $150 each in the few years since this activity was undertaken by the federation. This year there are 103 girls taking advantage of the loan fund. Much honor has been reflected on the federation, it was pointed out, by women who have been served by this scholarship loan fund.

The meeting was adjourned to allow members to make a tour of the Indian school at Chemawa and of the state school for the blind. Today following the close of the session at noon a tour will be provided for all those who wish to visit the boys and girls industrial school, the feeble-minded institution, state hospital and the tuberculosis hospital.

Arrest of Absent Solons Necessary to Allow Vote Upon Issues in Congress

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—Speaker Longworth was brought into the house tonight by Sergeant at Arms Rodgers after arrests of absentee members had been ordered to secure a quorum at a protracted night session.

Sergeant at Arms J. C. Rodgers was dispatched to bring in the absentee members upon adoption by a roll call of 122 to 74, of a resolution for the arrests, offered by Rep. Quinn, democrat, Mississippi.

The resolution was offered as the house found itself in a parliamentary tangle over a miniature filibuster on a minor bill.

Engineered by Rep. Wood, republican, Indiana, and Rep. Stafford, republican, Wisconsin, against the Ketcham bill to provide for an expansion of the foreign agriculture information service, the filibuster involved parliamentary maneuvers which rendered the house unable to adjourn and unable to transact.

Rep. Tilson, republican leader, began signing warrants upon adoption of the resolution and with little loss of time the assistant sergeants at arms began bringing in members. Some were found nearby, but armed with the warrants the officers started searching for representatives at their homes, theatres or wherever they might find them.

It was the first time in eight years that arrest of members of the house has been ordered to secure a quorum. At that time the membership was needed for a vote on the Dyer anti-lunching bill.

A quorum of the house is a majority of 218 members. There were only 200 present at the roll call.

Applause greeted Rep. Ruth Bryan Owen, democrat, Florida. The galleries of the house began to fill as soon as word of the arrest order went out, but as the absentees started entering at a faster rate the tension lessened. Rep. Crisp, democrat, Georgia, as soon as 222 members were present asked that further arrests be dispensed with, but a vote on the motion was asked by Rep. Stafford.

ENFORCEMENT ON NEW BASIS

Senate Passes Bill Placing Authority on Justice Department

Assailing the commission, he said it had spent nearly $250,000 already and was asking for that much more. He said so far as was known it "had diverted the money to an investigation of topics absolutely foreign to the purpose of the appropriation and the action of congress."

Statement of All Expenditures Asked

Glass, who sponsored the first appropriation for the commission gave notice that he would introduce a resolution before additional money is appropriated, calling for a statement of expenditures already made. He asserted the commission had been spending its time "inquiring into delinquents, the depth of automobiles and such things."

The Virginian said prohibition became effective while he was secretary of the treasury and that he protested against placing enforcement under the internal revenue bureau. He added that other treasury secretaries since had recommended transfer of enforcement.

Act to Take Effect First of Next July

The principal amendment placed in the bill by the senate judiciary committee provides that the legislation shall become effective next July 1. The house provision providing for joint control by the treasury and justice departments of industrial alcohol permits was retained.

Arguing for his proposal to prohibit use of poison in industrial alcohol Tydings asserted that those who voted against his amendment would be placed in the position of wanting every drinker of industrial alcohol to die.

He said he favored use of denaturants which would nauseate the drinker, but would not result fatally.

Several senators opposed the amendment on the ground it was out of place in a transfer bill and also because it had not been considered by the judiciary committee.

Poor Mickey Mouse Under Attack Now

Juvenile clubs organized by moving picture houses to promote interest of children in attending the movies were severely criticized by the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs in session in the house of representatives Wednesday afternoon.

The criticism came through resolutions submitted to the federation by Mrs. W. R. Minsinger, chairman. The resolution was in the form of a protest against such clubs as the Mickey Mouse club, the Whoopee club, the Junior Better Movie club, all mentioned specifically, which are sponsored by the theatres, and which the resolution maintained, are the means of presenting to the children unwholesome and pernicious entertainment which is mentally, morally and physically injurious to the children.

Through these clubs, the resolution continued, children were exploited for the benefit of the theatre in such ways as having the children call up radio stations and ask for certain musical numbers from some picture, calling up a certain number of people and getting them to go to the movies; selling Fox scrip books; and distributing literature for the theatres.

The pledge card of the Mickey Mouse club was said to encourage the child to cheating and deceitfulness.

A second resolution was that induced by the Marshfield Woman's Civic club, which protested the free housing of delegates by the hostess club during a federation convention and resolved that in the future each club provide expense money for its delegates.

The last resolution was one extending to the Oregon delegation in Washington D. C. the sincere appreciation of the federation for the work it has done in securing government aid for George Walter who is the crippled victim of a mistake of a prohibition officer during a liquor raid in Oregon.

These resolutions were adopted by the federation and in addition to this the club went on record in support of the federal child welfare bill drafted by President Hoover.

thereto, shall be sufficient to pay such interest due on such outstanding bonds of this issue, and to retire the principal thereof as it matures."

Extending Credit Of City Sole Object

Thus the bonds in question are made a general obligation upon the city, but this is done solely to lend the city's credit to the venture in order that a more favorable sale may be had for the bonds. Figures available upon the earnings of the present water company—the company's own figures, by the way—show that earnings have been more than adequate to pay interest and provide a sinking fund for retiring the principal, and that these earnings are steadily increasing.

And so the water company's only effective argument is proven to be a false argument, a bugaboo raised to frighten the voters away from a favorable decision on the municipal ownership issue.

Experience of other cities also brand this claim as false, for practically all publicly owned utilities have proven self supporting, usually at lower rates than were charged by private companies, and in many cases profits of the publicly owned utilities have gone into the city treasury and resulted in reduced taxation. There are a few cities which levy no tax whatever, supporting their public institutions out of profits of the publicly owned utilities.

Opinions gathered at random by The Statesman Wednesday indicated that the charter amendment would carry, but not by any such safe margin that any voter who favors it can afford to neglect the opportunity to have a hand in its success.

RED CAGLE FAMILY UNITED AGAIN NOW

NEW YORK, May 14—(AP)—Somewhere in or near New York tonight the Christian K. Cagles—either of whom, any number of newspapermen will aver, would make a good military strategist—were united.

More or less official reports said the reunion between the football star who resigned from West Point by request, when his marriage came to light, and the young woman who has been Mrs. Cagle for nearly two years, took place on the road between West Point and Montauk Point, away out on the tip of Long Island, where they were said to be spending the night.

They were not to be found at Montauk Point, however, and switchboard operators refused to put through calls to a certain suite in the Astor hotel where reports had them located.

Both Cagles won complete victories over reporters today, Chris made his exit from West Point in an automobile while Major General William R. Smith was telling reporters how foolish he thought it was for the famous halfback to get married against the West Point regulations and ruin his military career.

Raffety Names New Member of Traffic Force

T. J. Sheridan, 115 East 24th street, North Portland, Wednesday was appointed by T. A. Raffety, chief inspector for the state motor vehicle division, a member of the state traffic department. Sheridan is one of eight new traffic officers authorized recently by the state highway department. Names of the seven other officers were announced a week ago.

The recently appointed officers are now in training and will be assigned to their respective districts within the next week.

To the People of Salem and District:

In 1928 the Terminal Ice & Cold Storage Company built at 990 N. Front St., one of the most up to date refrigerating and ice-making plants in the Northwest.

What does a plant of this kind mean to Salem and District, tributary there too? Producers, Manufacturers and Consumers?

It may be safely stated that few people realize how large and important a factor the use of refrigeration and ice as a refrigerant has become in the industrial and economic activities of human life.

The immense fruit trades of this country could never have been developed without the use of refrigeration, likewise the fish industry, meat, dairy products, etc., in fact all perishable Farm-products.

This great plant is yours to make Salem and the products of the great Willamette Valley known to the world. Can we do this? I'll say we can. Try OUR storage.

Extreme care has been taken in the fashioning of these hats—they're not merely manufactured. You'll like the feel as well as the look of them! They have that "something" all men seek in headwear... it's hard to define, but easy to find in every SOLAR straw.

Braids and bodies of these straws are the pick of the world markets. Experts deftly shape them into hats well ahead of the style trend. This year the sweep of the brims is smarter and the crowns mount becomingly higher. Silk bands are in deep shades, either plain or striped.

Inside, as well as out, SOLAR stylists make strict demands. Sweat bands must be soft, yielding easily to the form of the head. Linings and details of finish must never swerve from a superior standard.

All this, because SOLAR straw wearers must know they are smartly correct!

Students Take Seashore Trip For Two Days

Approximately 55 members of the biology and zoology classes at Willamette university will leave this afternoon for a two-day trip to the seashore to observe life in their natural state at and near Newport. The group will be accompanied by Professors Morton E. Peck and C. R. Monk and will return Saturday afternoon.

The students will observe plant and animal life at the marine gardens at the Lighthouse, at Newport and below the Punch Bowl, and in the DePoe bay region 18 miles from Newport. Some specimens will probably be brought back.

Entries Being Made in Radio Audition Event

Five entries have already been made in the Atwater-Kent audition tryouts, according to J. N. Chambers, president of the chamber of commerce, the local organization which is sponsoring the event here. The date for Salem contest has been set for Wednesday night, June 11.

The auditorium of the Knight Memorial church will be used for the affair this year as it was last.

Chambers feels that at least as many contestants will enter this year as last when 18 Marion county young men and women were entered. The two winners compete at Portland for state honors and the state winners enter the national contest.
