

Opposition to Proposed Tariff Bill May Prevent Passage

G. O. P. LEADERS FACING DEFEAT

Favored Industries May Not Succeed in Pocketing New Favors

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The prospects that after 18 months of work there may be no tariff bill were being seriously discussed today by republican and democratic leaders after the republican conference on the measure wound themselves deeper into a morass of difficulties over procedure.

Party chieftains conceded that whether a bill finally will be sent to the White House hung on the slender thread of an agreement by the senate to give its conferees a free hand to work out a compromise on the flexible provision.

Half a dozen conflicting viewpoints were expressed as to the next move. It was quite generally understood, however, that the senate republican conferees would ask the senate the latter part of the week to let them return the measure to conference with no ties binding them to the senate's legislative flexible provision.

The house, supported by President Hoover, has turned down the flexible clause withdrawing presidential rate changing power and its conferees are unwilling to hold further conferences until the senate has authorized a "full and free conference."

Both democratic and republican independent groups conferred on strategy plans, but no definite courses were determined. Further conferences will be held tomorrow.

Leaders Admit Kill Bill
Republicans asserted the coalition, which wrote the debenture and legislative flexible provisions into the measure at the height of its power, could kill the bill by denying the conferees a free hand.

Democrats countered with the claim that the republicans were inclined to let the bill die. Some went so far as to predict President Hoover would prefer the present law instead of the pending measure.

Senator Smoot, republican, Utah on whose schedules the burden of the administration's fight has rested, was plainly worried over the outlook.

He said it was up to the senate whether a bill ultimately would emerge from the long tariff labors.

G. O. P. Leader Claims Measure Will Pass

Senator Watson, Indiana, republican leader, expressed the individual opinion that a bill would be passed, but tempered this with a statement that anything might happen.

"If our motion to obtain a further conference without any ties is lost the bill will be dead, he said.

Senator Harrison, Mississippi, a democratic conferee, said the most critical stage of the legislation had been reached and insisted that unless congress was given the final say over rates under the flexible provision there was little hope for a bill.

The democrats and republican independents are endeavoring to determine whether to make their fight when the request for a free conference is made or wait until a complete conference report is brought back to the senate, when the issue would be whether to accept or reject the entire bill.

TRAILING TROUBLE

FAVORITE TRICK HORSE

Horses have again come into their own on the 1930 program of the A. G. Barnes Circus. Trained stallions that work in troupes and groups, an entire company of Shetland ponies and the finest of European menage horses are made features of a performance that is filled with new acts from the gorgeous Oriental spectacle, "Persia," to the concluding exotic display, "The Pageant of Pekin." Also the Great "Gretonas" sensational high wire act—first time in America.

The public is accustomed to hearing of "the first American appearance of such and such an animal," but this is the first time an entire shipload of trained horses have been imported from foreign lands. Aside from these equines, there is a complete menage number in which the splendid high school horses ridden by their trainers perform in all parts of the hippodrome track.

These various and varied horse displays, coupled with the tremendous elephant acts and the all-new wild animal numbers, combine in what is by far the greatest array of dumb animal talent ever assembled. The famous A. G. Barnes Circus comes to Salem for afternoon and night exhibitions on Saturday, May 24, at Olinger Athletic Field.

NATIONALISTS WIN EXTENDED VICTORY

SHANGHAI, May 14.—(AP)—

The Nationalist government forces defeated the northern alliance rebels in a six day battle, taking 10,000 prisoners and driving the enemy out of the Anhwei province, the government announced tonight, with casualties not stated. The severity of the struggle was attested by previous dispatches which said that the nationalists wounded in the first two days of fighting, numbered 20,000.

Pursuing the retreating rebels, the nationalists attacked their new base at Kweteh in Honan province. Capture of that city, the nationalists asserted would force the northerners to fall back upon Kaifeng to consolidate their shattered ranks.

Led by Chiang Kai-shek, president of the nationalist government, and generalissimo of the armies, the nationalists captured numerous field guns and 7,000 rifles with their prisoners.

The rebels, beaten back in eastern Honan, developed a new offensive in central Honan as other columns drove southward along the railway toward Hankow, key point of central China. They were dispatched by Marshal Feng Yuxiang, one of China's leading generals and former supporter of the government. Advancing to meet the rebel threat, a nationalist force moved northward from Hankow, with a major engagement expected.

INDIA TENSE AS RAIDS AWAITED

Woman Leader of Campaign Drawing up Plans for Next Move

BOMBAY, India, May 14.—(AP)—

All India was tense tonight as Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, successor to Mahatma Gandhi as head of the civil resistance movement, went ahead with her plans to descend on the salt depot at Starasana. The government appeared equally determined there would be no raid.

Mrs. Naidu visited Bombay and then returned to Karachi enroute to Dharasana to which she is planning to lead a group of volunteers as a determined gesture against the government. Mahatma Gandhi's plan to lead a similar raid was one of the chief causes for his eventual arrest ten days ago.

Elaborate Precautions
Taken by Government

The government is taking drastic precautions against any attack on the salt depot. It has issued an order prohibiting the assembly of more than four persons in the neighborhood of Dharasana and is stated to have transferred the whole police force of Jalapur to the threatened point.

The all parties conference began its sessions here today, a debate regarded with special interest took place before the Calcutta corporation which adopted a resolution offering "most respectful homage to Mahatma Gandhi, apostle of non-violence, and tendering him most sincere felicitations of his incarceration and the signal triumph achieved by him and his campaign."

The resolution was opposed by Moslem members whose spokesman was A. K. Fazul, a former minister, he said he could not agree with the word homage in view of the oath which he had taken and because it was against the tenants of Islam.

Intolerance Against Mohammedans Feared

Moreover he declared, events in the corporation during the last few days had convinced the Moslems that if the congress really succeeded in capturing the administration of the country, there would be no hope for the Mohammedan minority in India.

The Gandhi movement, he contended, had failed to draw into its gulf the most stable elements of the Indian population. It was a move on the part of those who now were down in political life and were trying to retrieve their position, he said.

"Honey" now playing at the Fox Elsinore is a delightfully pretty musical comedy, through which runs an amusing plot made unusually good by the acting of Skeets Gallagher, Zasu Pitts, and Mitzi Green, and the large negro song festival.

Nancy is pretty and does some picturesque acting. One other thing in her favor is that she really has a pleasing singing voice. It is not startlingly beautiful but it is sweet and appealing.

Mitzi Green is a child prodigy. It seems uncanny to watch the activities of this youngster of very tender years acting, speaking and singing as a worldly-wise individual. The way she sings blues songs is enough to make one gasp. Nancy Carroll is now in New York City where she is making her first talking picture made in the east. Buddy Rodgers is also starting a talking picture in New York.

Muscle lovers of Salem will be given a musical treat it is promised, Friday evening, May 16, when the Portland opera club will present Bizet's grand opera "Carmen" at the Knight Memorial church in Salem. The entire opera will be given in concert form, that is, without costumes and action.

This beautiful opera was produced with distinct success by this group in Portland April 3, 4 and 5. No other amateur performance of this kind has ever won such merited praise from critics in Portland.

Sixty members of the club will come down and a fine concert is assured.

Everett H. Craven, formerly of Salem and Willamette university, sings the role of the Toreador. His singing of this won him laurels during the Portland showing.
