Cantaloupe Demand Is Slow at Portland, Report

PORTLAND, May 23-(AP)-Egg and butter prices continue weak, but unchanged.

Reviewing the fruit and vegetable situation, the Pertland Bureau of the U. S. Department of ment $36.25. Agriculture says:

"Demand for cantaloupes is rather slow at Portland, despite the fact that quality is very fine. This year, shippers were compelled to wait until a requisite degree of sugar was present in the melons, before shipping; and the result has been marked improvement in quality of early shipments. The cantaloupe market weakened slightly, both at shipping points, and at Portland and

Today's market was lower—about $3.25 per crate, to retailers—and further declines are expected by the trade.

Old potatoes are meeting with slow demand, partly because good new California potatoes are available at only a slight premium over old stock. There have been practically no carlot unloads of old potatoes this month, but with—PRODUCE "Strawberries are increasing in
