PRESCHOOL HEALTH PROGRAM CHANGED

A large number of letters will be mailed this morning from the county health unit calling attention to the new status of preschool examinations.

This year, all preschool children who are examined during the summer will be excused from the regular first grade examinations in the fall, provided records of the summer health and immunizations are on the school black.

School blanks to be taken to the family doctor may be obtained at the city superintendent's office, the Salem health center or the medical-dental headquarters on South High. Examinations may be conducted either by the family doctor or at the health center here.

The letter says further: "In the past it has been the practice to examine the first and fifth graders during the school year. This year we are asking parents to have their preschool children examined and immunized before school opens in the fall so that defects may be corrected during the summer months and smallpox and diphtheria eliminated.

"Parents regularly look after clothes, books and other requirements, but often neglect the teeth, tonsils, eyes, heart and lungs. It is important that no chances be taken here. School is the child's first job. He must see new surroundings, responsibilities, and health hazards. He needs all the preparation and protection we can give him. That is why examination of these children about to enter school is so important."

Extraditions Are Hamilton's First Official Tasks

The first official act of Ralph S. Hamilton of Bend, who is serving as governor pending the return of Governor Norblad who is outside of the state, was that of authorizing the extradition of Bill Debellis who is wanted at Tacoma on a charge of forging a number of Northern Pacific pay checks.

The extradition was conditional on the dismissal of an indictment returned against Debellis in Portland.

Governor Hamilton also authorized the extradition of Frederick Walker, alias Fred Sutton, who is wanted at Los Angeles in connection with the theft of $15,000 from Joseph Wagner. Walker is under arrest in Portland.

'Wine' Taken As Girl Asks Right to Sell

Virginia Dare was the first white child born in the Virginia colony and her name now adorns certain bottles of "wine" sold in local drug stores.

But all the power of a first family name does not mean anything to Clark Valentine and H. L. Walp who slumbered last night in the county jail, unable to furnish $500 bail each for their alleged four bottles of Virginia Dare wine tonic.

Valentine and Walp were hauled into justice court to answer the charge Thursday afternoon, plead not guilty and will have a trial.

The two men are said to have entered a local drug store Wednesday afternoon and to have ordered four bottles of the wine. The girls waited on them and she had instructions not to sell the wine, whereupon Walp told her it was for a certain doctor in town.

The saleslady went to the telephone to call the doctor and when she returned the customers and the wine were gone.

Valentine and Walp were arrested later in the afternoon. Valentine on a similar charge filed some days ago, was held in jail for a few days and released.

Training School Boys Entertain At Elks Meeting

About 2,000 members of the Elks lodge were well entertained Thursday night at the temple by 40 lads from the Woodburn state training school for boys. A boxing match was offered under the coaching direction of Bud Huston, and selections from the boys were given under the leadership of O. J. Hill.

C. J. Lytle, assistant state, parole officer, gave an interesting short talk to supplement the program of the boys. W. H. Bailles, superintendent of the training school and E. L. Ferguson, state parole officer were also present for this evening.

GRAY HAIR EMBARRASSED HER SO SHE SELDOM TOOK HER HAT OFF

Used Tints—Results Were Very Disappointing. Then Used Lea's and Now Hair Is Beautiful and No Longer Gray

NO DANDRUFF NOW SINCE USING LEA'S

"I think most everyone is embarrassed more or less about their gray hair—especially if it is dry and sort of dull and dead looking. Like mine used to be. Every time I combed my hair it would come out in handfuls and dandruff was always bothering me. When I came out of the hospital after being there two and one-half weeks my hair was a sight, so I began using Lea's Hair Tonic and its splendid. It's the only preparation I know of or ever saw that will bring back your natural hair color. My hair is identically the same shade as of old and full of life and lustre, thanks to Mrs. Lea's Tonic. No person with dandruff, falling hair or turning gray should hesitate a moment. Lea's does its work beautifully," writes Mrs. Henry Behrens, of Shamrock, R. I., whose picture appears above.

"Thousands of men and women use Lea's for their hair, and have seen its appearance so much. There is utterly no excuse any more for looking old or being bothered with dandruff. Lea's does not effect your hair if it isn't gray. It is imperative for only a few drops massaged into the scalp each night does the work. Then when in beautiful youthful condition and color an application twice a month keeps the scalp and hair in healthsome condition. Obtain of your druggist. If out he will get it same shade as of old and full of life and lustre, thanks to Mrs. Lea's Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md. No Need to Write Novel Or End Life

Harlan A. Judd, who is a deputy in County Clerk Boyer's office, almost wrote a novel or committed suicide Thursday afternoon. The latter course seemed the most advisable for a moment as he contemplated his mistake; he had issued a marriage license to a couple when the applicants had a divorce decree dated March 10, 1930.

Judd recalled the Oregon law that a woman cannot be granted for marriage until six months have elapsed following a divorce. His dilemma was a real one; would the marriage if performed, be valid?

It was thus that the plot of a novel filtered through his brain at the same time he contemplated ending it all because of his mistake.

But light broke.

The couple was Charles A. Grenz, 25, of Jefferson, and Enola Grenz, 20, also of Jefferson. The records showed they were both divorced March 10, 1930!

There it was, and Judd grinned and was relieved. They'd just decided to try it again. And under the Oregon law the license was valid.

Judd admitted the June rush for licenses was trying and the complications of matrimony both serene and went on with his work.

Salem Lions will be in the field today to help sell enough stock of the LeEyer airplane production to purchase a sister ship of the Spirit of St. Louis. About $1000 worth of stock will be disposed of, it is hoped.

The sister ship of Lindy's famous craft is now at the municipal hangar here, and is just what the Eyerly corporation needs for passenger work, as it will carry five persons.

If the stock sale goes over, Eyerly will use the ship to take four Lions to Bend Saturday afternoon. The Lions will make the trip in order to be present at the final banquet of the state Lions' convention which opens in Bend today.

LIBEL UPON OREGON PRODUCTS CLAIMED

MEDFORD, Ore., June 5.—(AP)—A telegram to President Hoover accusing the United States farm board of attempting to force independent fruit growers of Oregon into the co-operative farm movement by what is alleged to be a "European fruit fly" scare, was dispatched today by Llewellyn A. Banks, publisher of the Medford Daily News, on behalf of members of the pear growers protective association of the Rogue river valley.

Statements by J. S. Merriam, of Goshen, member of the Oregon board of horticulture, to the effect that a quarantine on fruit crops of the state is threatened by the reported prevalence of a mysterious European fly was very spotted.

The growers declared that the mysterious European fly was a figment of the imagination, and that the scare campaign was a brazen attempt to frighten them into seeking the protection of the board.

Suffered 20 Years and Tried Everything, Couldn't Work

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY WORKED LIKE MAGIC

"I suffered with piles for twenty years and could not get relief until I read in the paper about these Colac Pile Pills you take internally. They are a real cure. I immediately declared W. D. Fox, a well known farmer of Mt. Jackson, Virginia.

"My stomach felt miserable and the piles would come down so bad they felt big as my fist. I could not sleep at night. I tried Colac Pile Pills, I'm free at last of that awful trouble. I couldn't believe that pills you swallowed at meal time would help piles in such a short time but after the first two doses I could see I was getting better. I'm glad to tell anybody what they did for me if they write and you can use my name all you want to. I mentioned this to other people and they say the same. No one should suffer another day or bother with nasty salves or suppositories. Do not endeavor this new internal way. Hurry and get it. Prune Crop Half Of Normal Says Local Observer

The 1930 prune crop in the Willamette valley will yield about half a normal tonnage in the opinion of E. A. Miller of the Hawkins and Roberts company here. Miller said Thursday that his inspection of orchards revealed the "scare" was very spotted.

Some orchards showed many green prunes coming on in one part of the orchard while in other sections trees would contain very little fruit. Miller explained that the heavy yield of 1929 may have caused this effect.

While some southern buyers have been in this territory, as yet no sound offers have been announced for the '30 yield.

9 Strawberries Fill Box, Beat Former Record

Strawberries are getting bigger and better. Last week a man brought in a box which was filled by 11 berries. This record was beaten yesterday when A. A. Withers who resides in the Eola hills five miles west of Salem, brought in several boxes and each was filled with nine big Marshall berries. Twelve of the big fellows weighed a pound. Mr. Withers has seven acres bearing this season. While the crop is light, the berries are heavy.

Mr. Withers is also a grower of gooseberries, his production running 2 1/2 tons to five acres this year.

faint voice of Brooks asking for water.

SEATTLE, June 5.—(AP)—Workers from the engineer's department were working frantically late today in an effort to extricate two men, A. G. Brooks, 45, senior street inspector, and Joe Ferro, 33, a pipe layer, from the cavern of clay and sand at the bottom of a 33 foot sewer excavation in West Seattle. Two others partly covered in the slide were rescued by firemen.

Cause of Accident

While hope was abandoned that the men would be recovered alive, rescue work was pushed forward vigorously and inhalator squads from the fire department and an ambulance stood by ready to lend any aid possible when the victims of the slide were brought out.

Pete Moore, a contractor, was supervising the work of the subcontractor on the job, said that in an inspection of the sewer trench earlier in the day he had found the walls safe and well shored. He said he was unable to determine the cause of the accident.

The men who escaped from the sudden cave-in were James Neel, 32, and Dominick d'Agostino, laborers.
