HEALTH WORK SCOPE WIDENS

Report on Demonstration's Success Here Filed By Dr. Walker

Public health work has mounted in importance and quality rapidly in this county since 1924, when the child health demonstration was started, according to figures submitted by Dr. W. F. Walker of the American Public Health association in his fifth annual appraisal completed yesterday. In the five years, the score in this county has increased from 202 points out of a possible 1,000 in 1924 to 819 in 1929.

This increase in scope is evidence of increase in service and public interest in the matter of health. The community is getting what it pays for. The greatest improvement has occurred in facilities for communicable disease control and for the promotion of health in infants and children.

Communicable disease control increased from 15 per cent to 86 per cent, due largely to improvement in control methods including work for the immunization of children and nursing follow-up of communicable disease cases. Tuberculosis service increased from 31 per cent to 71 per cent during this period. The development of nursing and clinical service and more extensive use of the hospital facilities has brought this about.

The infant mortality rate for the last four years has been reduced by ten points under what was already an admittedly low rate. The significance of the service for maternal hygiene may be appreciated when it is known that 482 cases were carried by the nursing service without one maternal death. The service for the protection and promotion of health for the school children has increased from 17 per cent in 1924 to 89 per cent in 1929.

The sanitary service which has to do with the control of milk, water and food supplies, and the collection and disposal of waste has improved from a rating of 33 per cent in 1924 to 70 per cent in 1929. Greater attention to cleanliness in milk production, improvement in rural water supplies and the extension of urban sewer systems are required before there will be much further raise in rating.

The most striking improvements of the past year have been the development of a sound and progressive program for improving the sanitation of rural schools, and industrial and auto camps. The increase in nursing and clinical service for the discovery and treatment of tuberculosis has materially helped this service.

The recent passage of the standard milk ordinance as its application to Salem should lead to the adoption of similar regulations by the other larger urban communities and should lead to the adoption of similar regulations for the control of food establishments and food handling.

Among the important next steps in the development and perfection of health work in the county should be mentioned: "1. The support of leaders in Marion county in securing a permissive legislation to provide for a county board of health in order to give permanence to the present county health unit organization. "2. There is need for the parents of Marion county to support the activities of the unit in securing the immunization of preschool age children against diphtheria and smallpox. At present but 61 per cent and 57 per cent of the school population are protected against these respective diseases. "3. There is need for providing hospital facilities for care of acute communicable diseases in the near future. A small number of beds, possibly six, in connection with a general hospital plant should be available for the isolation of transient cases or cases needing special care not available in the home. "4. There is need for the continued support of the health unit by all official and non-official groups thinking of what has been brought about by the splendid cooperative effort developed here. The marked success of the work in Marion county has been due to a unity of purpose."

BELLINGER GIVEN ROCK HAULING JOB

County to Pay 14-18 Cents Per Yard Mile to Put Gravel on Roads

To Allan Bellinger, route one, Scotts Mills, went the county contract Thursday for hauling 8,000 yards of crushed rock on to new road construction in District 14. The rock is to be crushed in the old Oeder pit on the William Mires property.

The court awarded Bellinger the job at the rate of 14 cents a yard mile and limited him to hauling not to exceed three yards to the truckload.

A clause in the contract provides that Bellinger cannot work his helpers more than 48 hours a week, except he pay them double time for all hours spent exceeding 48.

At the same time the court added 4 cents a rock mile to the allowance for hauling on the Bridge Creek road which is to be served from the same crusher.

Bellinger also won the award to haul 5,000 or more yards of crushed rock from the Crooked Finger crusher. This plant is located near the Crooked Finger schoolhouse. Much of the rock will be used on the new market road there. The contract price is 14 cents a yard mile.

NATURALIZATION EXAM LOOMS NEAR

GENERAL ASSEMBLY HELD BIG SUCCESS

The General Presbyterian assembly, just closed at Cincinnati, Ohio, was considered one of the best general assemblies held in years.

W. M. C. A. secretary of the Salem Y. M. C. A., who has been in attendance from here. Kells wrote Sunday from Cincinnati, and told of being present for two days at the Y. M. C. A. conference in Detroit. Remarkings on the Y. M. C. A. conference, he writes: "Conditions seem to be changing more in the east than in the west. Here the Y. M. C. A. seems to be more subject to the introduction of machinery. Changes in religious thinking were one of the big issues on which the directors agreed most of the first day in conference." An exhibit of Y. M. C. A. equipment at the session filled two rooms, he writes.

Kells plans to become acquainted with the Y. M. C. A. in Cincinnati, Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio, before traveling on east.
