

Joseph Disbarment Proceedings Stricken From Records

COURT OPINION IS WITHDRAWN

Only Referee's Report is Left to Tell Unusual Episode

All proceedings involving the permanent disbarment of the late George W. Joseph, Portland attorney and republican nominee for governor, excepting the report of the referee who presided at the original trial of the case, were ordered stricken from the state supreme court records in an opinion handed down by the court here Tuesday.

The court also ordered that the original opinion be withdrawn, and that it be not printed in the official reports of this state. The action was taken by the court in connection with a petition for rehearing in the Joseph case, which arrived at the offices of the supreme court shortly after his death was reported.

The supreme court also handed down an opinion affirming Judge Louis P. Hewitt of the Multnomah county circuit court in a suit brought by Howard Sutherland, federal property custodian, to recover damages from Edward W. Wickes, Dow W. Walker and August Wemme, resulting from the sale of 46 shares of stock in the E. Henry Wemme company.

The circuit court for Multnomah county returned a judgment against the three defendants in the amount of $87,505.50, which was claimed was the difference between the sale price and the actual value of the stock. Walker and Wemme subsequently appealed to the supreme court for final consideration of the case.

Wickes, prior to purchasing the stock, was an attorney for the federal alien property custodian department in Washington, and was sent to Portland to negotiate the sale of the E. Henry Wemme company property.

The predominant petition was written by Chief Justice Coshov, with Justice Bean dissenting. Wemme loses in habeas corpus case. In another opinion the court dissolved the habeas corpus writ in the case of August Wemme against T. M. Hurlburt, sheriff of Multnomah county.

Other opinions handed down by the supreme court Tuesday follow: Grace Merritt and the state of Oregon vs. George Merritt, appellant; appeal from Jackson county; appeal from order in contempt for failure to pay alimony. Opinion by Justice Belt, Judge H. D. Norton reversed.

C. I. Reckard vs. James Ryan, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; action for forcible entry and detainer. Opinion by Justice Belt, Judge W. M. Duncan affirmed in part.

Grace Hendricks, by Bradley A. Ewers, guardian, vs. Portland Electric Power company, appellant; appeal from Multnomah county; action to recover damages. Opinion by Justice Belt, Judge W. A. Eckwall affirmed.

The closing lecture of the convention was given by Josef Borissoff, no speaker of the convention so charmed his audience as did Mr. Borissoff. He said in part that so far as he was concerned there was no country in the world that could be compared with America for symphony orchestras and likewise that no part of the world was as advanced musically as America, and he said this after just having completed a concert tour which circled the world.

Much of this progress in music Mr. Borissoff attributed to the efforts of women through their clubs and musical organizations.

Olga Steeb Recital Is Applauded

By OLIVE M. DOAK

The final curtain fell on the last act of the fifteenth annual convention of the Oregon Music Teacher's association Tuesday night in Waller hall, Willamette university, and what a rich-toned curtain, made by the hand of an artist, Olga Steeb, concert pianist, appearing before a Salem audience for the second time in her life.

Miss Steeb placed her notes like an artist his colors with the final result a perfect picture, sometimes made up of sound color in large masses as the "Rhapsody, Op. 78, No. 1," Brahms, and again the most delicate etching as "Spinning Girls of Caranec," Rhene-Baton.

At all times in her playing there was the characteristic of crystal clarity of notes and a certain reverent appreciation that did much to fire the enthusiasm of her audience. And certainly she played to an enthusiastic audience. Applause rang long and persistent after each of the three groups of three and five numbers each. At the conclusion of Chopin's "Scherzo G sharp minor" the audience fairly begged for another and Miss Steeb gave "Butterfly Etude," Chopin.

Again at the conclusion of her program she gave an encore, the solemn "Dedication" by Schumann. List before her audience would let her go. Perhaps of all the numbers played the interpretive "Spinning Girls of Caranec," Rhene-Baton, combined most completely the beauty of expression, delicacy, mastery technique, brilliancy and strength and intelligence which made the complete program so delightfully satisfying.

The two artists programs brought to Salem by the Music Teacher's association mean a much to the city for it gave the public a chance to hear artists not ordinarily heard here. The Monday night program played by Josef Borissoff accompanied by an artist accompanist, Myron Jacobsen, was memorable, for both the work of Mr. Borissoff and Mr. Jacobsen was brilliant. And a perfect conclusion was the piano concert of Olga Steeb.

LEGION WITHDRAWS FROM FILM SCHEME

Interest Among Members Lukewarm From Start Now Disclosed

Capital Post No. 9, American Legion, Tuesday morning withdrew from participation with the Dagmar Pictures of Hollywood in production of the proposed first Willamette valley motion picture.

Contract between the Legion and film company was cancelled following an airing of views relative to the picture on part of a Legion committee and representatives of the picture company. Lack of interest on part of the Legion and not the picture company is given as the main reason for cancellation.

First intimation that the Legion might not care to go ahead with the production came Monday, following general talk that the frolic given at the fairgrounds last Saturday night was a pronounced flop. The frolic was arranged by the picture company with the cooperation of the legion.

The legion post actually gave little support to the frolic and picture, the Dagmar officials told a Statesman reporter as early as last Friday. Lack of cooperation was given by Dagmar men as one reason for the poor showing made at the frolic.

Dagmar staff members may stay on in this operation for a short time to film operations at several industrial plants here and other valley points, where their services had already been requested.

SALEM HEIGHTS, June 17.—(Special)—There are a number of people in Salem Heights and vicinity who are greatly incensed over the moving picture fiasco at the fair grounds Saturday night.

Phil Metschan, of Portland, chairman of the republican state central committee, Tuesday requested an opinion of the attorney general as to whether the old republican state central committee existing before the primary election on May 18 has authority to nominate a successor to George W. Joseph, or whether this should be done by the new committee which is not yet organized.

Mr. Joseph, who received the republican nomination for governor at the primary election, died suddenly at Camp Clatsop Monday.

Attorney General Van Winkle indicated that it would be several days before the opinion is completed.

BOLIVIAN REVOLT REPORTED RAGING

BUENOS AIRES, June 17.—(AP)—The outbreak of an insurrectionary movement in Bolivia was reported today in dispatches to the newspaper La Nacion from La Quiaca, Argentine railroad station on the Bolivian frontier.

The movement was under the leadership of Robert Hinojosa, formerly of the Bolivian diplomatic service and now a Bolivian radical leader. He has a following among communist circles.

With a party of Bolivian and Argentine followers Hinojosa was said to have captured the Bolivian town of Villazon, just over the Bolivian frontier from La Quiaca.

Early this morning they captured the police station, looted the railway station and seized funds at the customs house and post and telegraph offices.

Argentine agents of Hinojosa claimed important successes for the insurgents, but these could not be directly confirmed because of interruption of telegraphic communication.
