

PATTON WON'T CONTEST VOTE

Blackbery to Remain as G. O. P. Delegate, Indicated

Unless someone other than Hal D. Patton is willing to demand a new meeting of the republican central committee for Marion county, the nomination and election of Dr. F. N. Blackbery of Silverton will stand for the job of state central committeeman for Marion county. Patton said Wednesday he would make no move to have another vote taken.

Phil Metcham, state central committee chairman, as well as Ralph Williams, national committeeman, both have asserted that state central committeeman from any county must have received a majority of the votes cast. Blackbery received 20, Patton 19 and Hendricks one at the organization meeting held here a fortnight ago.

Patton, presiding at the time, held no election had been made but upon putting the question to the committee, the move for a second vote was quashed by a close margin.

The only question now arising is the possibility that someone might contest Blackbery's qualifications due to the fact he did not receive a majority. A week ago no consequence appeared to the election and the situation was forgotten. Now with Blackbery's vote increasing important, some friends of Patton have urged him to protest. He definitely stated Wednesday he would not launch a move himself for a new ballot. Blackbery is understood to feel badly about the situation and to have called Patton to Silverton for a conference. The two men have been long-time acquaintances and friends.

PROMOTED ON U. OF O. STAFF

Below, Earl M. Ballitt, registrar, who has been made executive secretary; and Paul W. Agor, who has been promoted from assistant comptroller to full rank as comptroller.

HEALTH REPORT IS ISSUED FOR MONTH

Communicable diseases reported in Marion county for May totaled 168 cases, from which six deaths resulted, according to the monthly report of the county health unit meeting at the health center here Wednesday night.

Births led deaths by 25, with 77 births reported as compared to 52 deaths. So far this year, 404 persons have been born in Marion county and 248 have died. Of the May babies, 44 were boys and 39 were born to Salem mothers and of the deaths 27 were male. Heart disease was responsible for 13 deaths; cancer and kidney disease for four each; auto accidents and other accidents for three each.

Chickenpox topped the list of communicable diseases, with 54 "converts;" measles were next with 30 cases; whooping cough third with 26 cases; and mumps fourth with 22 cases. Seventeen cases of venereal disease were reported, one death being due to this cause.

Two deaths resulted from the three pneumonia cases reported and three deaths from the five tuberculosis cases. Five cases of scarlet fever, one each of smallpox and typhoid and four of diphtheria were reported.

Guiding Your Child

TEMPTING HIM

When our children steal it is we who are guilty.

We leave loose change about and we are shocked when we find that Johnny has been appropriating it to buy candy.

We have never explained that the money was not, like food and furniture, community property.

We dispose of his toys to a brother or a playmate and are surprised when he makes free with the contents of our bureau drawers. We let him learn that all sorts of delightful things are to be had for money and then we give him no money of his own to spend.

When he comes home from play with a strange toy we perhaps make no real effort to find out where it came from or to restore it to its owner. We let him keep for his own use the playing to which he has, to say the least, a doubtful right. If he finds money we let him keep it.

Honesty with respect to property is not a natural trait but one which must be painstakingly taught and gradually learned. Respect your child's property. Let him dispose of his own toys. Do not force him to give or to share. Don't "borrow" one child's clothes to put on another. Don't leave loose change about the house. Don't send him to your purse for money when he asks for it. Never open his purse or search his private belongings.

As soon as he is old enough to want to spend give him a regular, fixed allowance, even if it is only a few cents a week. See to it that he has plenty of attractive playthings so there will be no temptation to appropriate the toys of other children, if he finds money let him put it in a box for charity.

3 Squares

Some time ago we promised to give you more of the favorite recipes of Elizabeth Reger and Victoria Warner who were so popular at The Statesman cooking school. Here is Victoria's recipe for luncheon biscuits with cheese that we like very much:

Make biscuit dough slightly richer than for plain biscuits, adding 1 tablespoon more of fat. Roll dough out to 1/2 inch thick and cut into rounds. Brush over with melted butter and shade as for Parkerhouse rolls. Bake at 450 to 475 degrees for about 15 minutes. Open halves slightly and fill with the following mixture. Serve with fruit or vegetable salad as a main luncheon course.

Cheese Filling
1/2 cup butter, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/2 cup soft cream cheese, 1/2 small green pepper chopped fine, few drops onion juice. Beat butter to cream and work in other ingredients.

For desert try this strawberry tart: Crust, one-half pound flour, 4 ounces butter, 2 egg yolks and the chopped peel of 1/2 lemon. Mix thoroughly, let rest in the ice box for three hours. Roll out and bake. Crust to be cooked before filling. (If you are not sure of these measurements look up your Ella Lehr from The Statesman of last Friday and find the measured equivalent of these weights.)

For the filling use 1 quart whipped cream, 4 sheets dissolved gelatine, 2 cups crushed strawberries sweetened to taste and four ounces powdered sugar. Mix thoroughly. Fill crust and place in ice box to cool. Then place large berries on top and sprinkle with the powdered sugar.

Local grown radishes are now in the market and are not only reasonable in price but of excellent quality. Fry using them for a meat garnish as well as for salad. The little red ones are very attractive as well as delicious.
