

COUNTY PLANS WORK FOR 80

Unemployment Situation To Be Aided When Paving Plant Started

Nearly 80 men, including 40 on each plant, will be employed on the paving work in Marion county which will get under way Tuesday with opening of the county plants at Salem and Stayton. Otis Hoven will have charge of the Salem plant and Lester VanCleave will be in charge at Stayton. Nineteen or 20 men will be working at the plant sites at least six truck drivers will be employed and these with the spreading crew and headers will bring the total to close to 40.

Only a few of the men who are now working for the county will be placed on these jobs, says Roadmaster Frank Johnson. This means that opening of the paving plants will add its bit to relieving the unemployment situation over the county. The plants will operate for about three months and first work will be patching jobs.

NON-STOP RECORD IN SIGHT SUNDAY

now held at 420 hours by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien, the St. Louis pair will take the air in a month in an attempt to better any mark the "City of Chicago" may set.

CHICAGO, June 28—(AP)—The weary pilots of the monoplane "City of Chicago" John and Kenneth Hunter, were on the home stretch of an air race against time and endurance tonight. At 4:40 p. m., they had rounded out their 17th day aloft. At 5:01 a. m. Sunday the plane if still aloft will equal the 420-hour refueling record of the "St. Louis Robin" and an hour later establish a new record of human and mechanical endurance.

Dog-tired by the 17-day vigil deflated by the even roar of their motor, the Hunter brothers breathed the cool night air, propped drooping eyelids open and pluckily took their turns at the cockpit.

"All's well. We shall beat the record," they scribbled with trembling pencil in a note tossed to the ground crew below.

A few hours before it had not been so well. An oil plug, weakened by high pressure, burst and sprayed the cabin with hot oil. Their clothing soaked, the brothers tossed it overboard and tumbled in underwear five hours until the break was mended. Then the "Big Ben" flew overhead, made contact and popped fuel, fresh clothing and black coffee to fortify the sleepy pilots.

Close to Harbor the ship hovered tonight, dreading around a narrow orbit lest some mishap fling it too far from port and the mother ship. Down beneath the revolving eye of Sky Harbor's beacon the "City of Chicago" quivered—brothers Walter and Albert and sister Irene—watched to carry up equipment, gas and oil, and refreshments for the family champions in the air.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 28.—(AP)—W. A. Norby, Eastmoreland, today won the first Pacific northwest public links amateur golf championship, defeating Bill Hagan, Glendover, 2 and 1. Norby took an early lead, lost it, and then regained it to close the morning round one up. The new champion started the afternoon round in brilliant style and once he was four up on Blaine Hagan, he never looked back, and succeeded in securing the match on the 27th, but couldn't maintain the pace.

HOUSING OF STATE WARDS ISSUE SEEN

of commitments prior to the present 10 years period was on March 4, 1914, when it was 444. Comparing the latter high figure between 1909 and 1919, with the high figure of 896 on May 31, 1930, it appears that the increase in population is no so pronounced as is apparent from a comparison of the average yearly population during the past 20 years. The high population of 896 on May 31, 1930, is only 330 more than the high population of March 3, 1916, or 58 per cent. There probably will be 500 inmates of the prison by 1940.

"The state industrial school for girls, at the time it was established in 1913, had a population of 15. This population increased to 75 in 1929, and dropped to 74 on May 31, 1930. The population of this institution probably will increase between 60 and 75 during the next 10 year period.

"At the time the state tuberculosis hospital was established in Salem in 1916 there was a population of 26. This increased to 97 at the end of 1930, and was 197 in May 1930. A second hospital was established at The Dalles in July, 1919, with a population of December of that year of 29. The population for the two tuberculosis hospitals is now 306. Not less than 300 additional patients will be available for these institutions during the next 10 years.

"At the blind school in Salem the average population in 1916 was 30, with an increase to 45 on December 31, 1929. A new dormitory was provided in 1923. Other buildings at this institution are of an old type of construction and present hazards not conducive to the safety of the blind children.

"The average population at the state school for the deaf has increased from 77 in 1919 to 116 on May 31, 1930. The enrollment at this institution, on the basis of the past 20 years experience, can be fairly estimated at at least 160 by December 31, 1940."

Democrats Wet In Washington Campaign Plank

CENTRALIA, Wash., June 25.—(AP)—Washington democrat went wet in their convention here today when they voted 250 to 118 for the repeal of the 18th amendment. They urged the return of liquor control to the states.

The vote carried out the carefully planned campaign of A. Scott Bullitt but went through only after the militant Mrs. Edith Riley, Spokane won, nearly caused an upset.

DEADLINE NEAR FOR PETITIONS

Anti-Cigarette Measure Is Only One Assured of Place On Ballot

Measure providing for a state income tax upon net incomes of resident and nonresident persons, and providing for certain exemptions.

Attaches of the state department said petitions were now being circulated in behalf of the lieutenant governor amendment, Rogue river fishing amendment and the power utility district measure. It is probable that these will be filed early this week so that they may be placed on the November ballot.

Here, There And Yon

Bits of Personal News Cleaned About Interesting People

The initiative petitions for the bill for a lieutenant governor and for public ownership of water power are meeting with approval, according to C. G. Hulet, master of the Oregon State Grange, who was in Salem Saturday. Mr. Hulet says that county clerks are reporting their offices swamped with petitions to be checked. Mr. Hulet returned to Albany Saturday evening and next week will go to Hood River county and will be present at the dedication of the Parkdale grange hall on July 4.

Fruites in Washington county look to be about a 40 per cent normal crop this year according to Hugh McGilvra, editor of the News-Times at Forest Grove. Oddly enough growers who cultivated their orchards early in the year seem to have the lightest crop. McGilvra says the sap started to run early in the best-worked orchards and when the cold spell came in this spring, these orchards were so well advanced they were hurt while orchards less well cultivated and therefore retarded, seemed little hurt and will have a more nearly normal crop.

Sales work for W. P. Fuller and company is what landed Harvey Lemcke at the Salem airport Friday evening and carried him out as a star yesterday afternoon. Lemcke is covering the three coast states and British Columbia by airplane, his machine bearing the familiar "label." He set out from Texas in February, and has already covered California and Oregon with exception of Portland and California, on this trip. He is now on his way to two Oregon cities and Washington and British Columbia.

"When we entered the Willamette valley, we thought we had found the garden spot of the world." That is the word Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Knight of El Paso, Texas, left here Saturday morning as they pulled out from the municipal auto camp, en route to their way north. They had come up through California and will make the return trip over the Roosevelt highway and down the California coast. They declared they liked Willamette valley much better than California.

Little interest in politics on the part of most people, in fact not a fraction of the pre-primary interest is noted by Irvin Williamson, local barber. "No one seems to care very much now," he added. "I don't believe barbers can predict the result, anyway."

"We are just about holding our breath until Monday" said Mrs. M. M. Magee of Bixby who was in Salem Saturday. All this tension by the way is caused by the uncertainty of the weather and what its effect will be on the cherry crop. So far the cherries are not badly damaged, according to Mrs. Magee but more rain or extreme heat will cause heavy loss by cracking the fruit.

W. A. Cummings, manager of the Senator hotel, reports a splendid time during his ten day trip with the Hotel Men's caravan to the convention of the group at Pocatello, Idaho. The group left here, joined the caravan at Portland, went through Baker, Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello, Yellowstone national park, Butte, and Spokane. J. H. Lauterman of the Argo hotel, left the caravan at Butte for Denver, where he will spend some time. "We had wonderful weather as a rule, with only one partly cloudy day during the trip," he said commenting on his journey. Business conditions are about the same in that section of the country as they are here, he stated.

central chairmanship in the party to award Norblad, with his clean-sweep propensities, could make an end of combinations if he were nominated.

That statement raises another evident trend; to wit, the swing away from Norblad. The governor appears to have little if any strength. Not one newspaper in the state has proposed his name with any fervor and even his best friends appear not to urge him to run. Cleaning house by a defeated candidate who wanted to pay debts or get even, was a terrible bit of political strategy. Primary candidates apparently are taboo as aspirants for the favor of the 38 committeemen, but beyond that restriction the field is open. To date, no party has any certainty as a winner. Kay is admittedly the farthest along and is apparently strong. But if eastern Oregon should have a bloc, and vote against Kay, it would be impossible for him to win. It is understood the convention will require a majority vote to select a candidate; it is altogether probable that several ballots will be required and all manner of possibilities are in order even when the session has started. In the interim each delegate is going to be thoroughly worked over by the friends of numerous candidates and the result may be a cut-and-dried meeting. But with so many rival candidacies as there are, and with a Joseph sentiment that hangs over the party, all manner of upsets are possible.

FIGHTING AT PEAK IN CHINA, REPORT

Battle Now Under Way to Decide Fate of Current Rebellion

SHANGHAI, June 28.—(AP)—Rebel forces tonight were at grips with the nationalist armies in Honan province in an engagement that may prove the decisive battle of the rebellion.

The battle of 300,000 men raged all day, becoming more intense at night as each side rushed reinforcements to the front lines.

Fifty thousand soldiers were thrown into the battle by each commander without marked advantage in the crucial struggle of the series of battles which began May 8, in the rebel effort to break through to Nanking, overthrow the government and banish President Chiang Kai-shek.

The fighting was so fierce, said independent dispatches, either rebels or nationalists must give way. Contradictory nationalist claims of gains, rebel dispatches asserted northern forces were pounding the government lines so hard between Lanfang and Kaifeng that disintegration was imminent and victory certain.

Although predicting the nationalist forces would triumph Foreign Minister Wang admitted the government considered the crisis was the most critical it had experienced.

Shantung province dispatches said the nationalists were continuing their retreat southward before slowly advancing northern forces, but were still many miles north of the Kiangsu province border.

Meanwhile, civil war conditions south of the Yangtze river were chaotic. The government asserted its armies were scattering the Kwangsi rebels.
