

SALEM PLANS TO CELEBRATE

Old Fashioned Fourth Will Be Revived Here; Two Days Scheduled

It has been a long time since Salem had a rousing old fashioned Fourth of July celebration, but one is promised for this year to be held at the state fair grounds. There will be two days of it, Friday and Saturday, July 4 and 5. "Biddy" Bishop, who has just retired as commander of the American Legion, is the generalissimo of the celebration and those who know Biddy know that he puts through any entertainment program that he undertakes.

The Salem celebration is planned to give recreation and entertainment to the people of Salem and surrounding territory. It is a home celebration for home folks and the price has been put within reach of the man with a dozen in the family.

Races Feature Entertainment

Featured in the entertainment will be horse races with many of the best horses booked to start. As this is an off-territory it has been possible to obtain many of the same horses that come later in the fall for the state fair. In addition there will be motorcycle races, carnival attractions, a "jitney" dance. Airplane stunts in front of the grandstand are billed.

At night there will be fireworks including some novel pieces of rare quality. Bishop says the one admission at the gate admits the people to the grandstand and everywhere else except the corner of the carnival attractions. There is plenty of free parking space and picnic grounds are free.

POPE RAISES FIVE MEN TO CARDINALS

VATICAN CITY, June 30.—(AP)—Pope Pius today brought to a close his sacerdotal jubilee with a round of activities which included the raising of five men to the cardinalate, a denial of the church's responsibility for disturbances in Malta and denunciation of proselytizing activities in Rome.

His holiness held a secret consistory at which three Italians, a French prelate and a Brazilian received the high rank of a primate of the church.

The non-Italians were Archbishop Da Silveira Cintra, Rio Janeiro, and Bishop Lienart, Lille France. The Italians were Mgr. Marchetti-Selvaggi, secretary of the congregation for the propagation of the faith, former chief auditor at Washington; Mgr. Raffaele Rossi, assessor of the consistorial congregation and Mgr. Serafini, secretary of the congregation of the council.

COUNCIL TO OPEN BIDGE BIDS SOON

Opening of bids for a new bridge on North Commercial street appears to be the most important business to come before the city council next Monday night. Bids will be closed July 7. Several councilmen estimate the bridge will cost about $17,000.

Wife Wedding Six Times, Latest Hubby Declares

When C. M. Addington declared his former wife had been married no less than six times in the last 12 years, and that several of the ceremonies were illegal due to insufficient time elapsing between the divorce of the wife and her remarriage, Justice Zarsier Small became somewhat suspicious of the complaint Mrs. Addington made against her former spouse and took Addington's case under consideration.

INVESTIGATE IRON AND SUGAR DUTIES

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—Less than two weeks after enactment of the new tariff law the senate today added sugar and pig iron to the score of commodities it has asked the tariff commission to investigate under the flexible provisions to determine whether the rates actually equalize differences in production costs here and abroad.

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, proposed a resolution to direct the inquiry into the new duty on Cuban raw sugar. It was adopted without debate after approval had been given an amendment by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, adding pig iron for investigation.

The duty on Cuban raw sugar was raised from 1.75 to 2 cents by the new law. That on pig iron was left unchanged at $1.25 a ton, Senator Reed losing an amendment to raise it to $1.50, the duty recommended by the finance committee.

Under the resolution the commission would report its findings as early as practicable.

SMALLPOX CASE AT MILL CITY TRAGED

Death Tuesday of Mrs. Sarah Brown of Mill City following a two weeks' illness of smallpox, called Dr. Vernon A. Douglas, county health officer, there to make investigations.

Dr. Douglas reported upon his return here that Mrs. Brown lived on the Linn county side of the town and that no doctor had been called in the cases. Two other cases of sickness are suspected to be smallpox, the husband of Mrs. Brown being sick and the mother in another family, relative to the Browns, having been ill the past two days. Neither of these patients has broken out with the rash yet.

Two children in the Brown family show no symptoms of the disease. Contacts will be followed in the cases this morning, the health officer to return to Mill City for that purpose.

Dr. Douglas said last night he did not believe an epidemic would break out there, as most of the children were vaccinated several years ago when a number of cases were discovered.

Anti-Cigarette Petitions Here Held Sufficient

Completed petitions for the proposed initiative measure prohibiting the manufacture, sale, possession or giving away of cigarettes in Oregon, were accepted by the secretary of state here Tuesday. The petitions were filed a week ago.

The petitions contain the names of 16,112 voters. The measure will be referred to the voters at the November election.

The measure is being sponsored by the Anti-Cigarette league of Oregon.

CANNERY WORK PROVIDES JOBS

Employment Situation Here Improved; Over 2000 Busy on Fruit

Marked relief in the unemployment situation was noted in Salem this week when local canneries were able to put on larger crews. More than 2000 people are employed in fruit packing in Salem at the present time, according to a survey made Tuesday of local canneries and fruit packing plants.

Probably all of the women who want work in the fruit have found employment this week but many men are still seeking work.

The cherries coming in now are better than they were last week, according to W. G. Allen, manager of Hunt Brothers.

Most of Cherries Now Sold, Report Several local canneries have reported that they are following the lead of Hunt Brothers and buying cherries at five cents. Practically all growers who have marketable cherries have sold them.

The loganberry crop is turning out much better than was at first expected. The berries are of large size and excellent quality. There will be a larger crop than had been hoped for. Although many vines were winter killed the large berries have served to increase the expected tonnage.

Cherrians Asked To Take Part in Road Dedication

Salem Cherrians are being asked to represent this city in the Salmon river cutoff road opening and celebration July 19. The gathering is to be held at Valley Junction, near Grand Ronde, on the east end of the new road which forms the most direct route to connect the Willamette valley with the Roosevelt highway.

Letters sent by King Bing Hillman today to all Cherrians ask them to participate in the opening ceremonies.

Old Dobbin Takes One On the Chin

The horse takes another blow from the motoring public, with announcement by County Roadmaster Johnson yesterday that narrow strips of pavement on a number of the county roads will be widened as fast as is convenient.

These narrow strips, found on a number of hilly roads, were left when the pavement was laid in deference to Old Dobbin, who could gravel up and down a wet or frosty hill better with a gravel footing.

Now, as horses grow fewer and fewer, the county roadmaster has been forced to incline his ear more and more to growing demands of the motorist that these narrow places be widened to the regular size.

The first work of this nature will be done on the penitentiary road.

OFFICERS TO CHECK ON LICENSES TODAY

Sheriffs, traffic operatives and all other peace officers in Oregon will begin checking up today on motor vehicle owners who have not applied for the current year's license and drive their machines on the state highways. This was announced at the state department here Tuesday.

Telegrams were sent to all sheriffs Monday by Secretary of State

Hoss suggesting that persons driving motor vehicles not equipped with current license plates after July 1, be considered as violating the state traffic code and subject to arrest.

Tuesday's mail at the motor vehicle department was the heaviest for the year, and a long line of applicants was in evidence until late afternoon. More than 15,000 sets of license plates were issued Monday at the three Oregon offices.

Many motorists apparently were of the opinion that they would be allowed to operate their cars with old plates until after July 4.

Mining Company Will Intervene In Rate Hearing

The Eastern Oregon Mining association, with headquarters in Baker, Tuesday filed a petition asking the public service commission to intervene in the application filed by the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company and the Oregon Short line, for permission to abandon its line of railroad between Homestead and Robnetta.

The hearing, in case one is held, will be conducted by the interstate commerce commission.
