

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING HELD

Turner Scene of 39 Annual Convention of Christian Churches

TURNER, July 1 — The ninth annual meeting of the Oregon Christian church, held the missionary convention, with about the usual number of camps and cottages, occupied, at the tabernacle grounds.

The Sunday morning service was not quite as large as the first Sunday's attendance usually is. The biggest attendance was generally on the second Sunday. After the Bible school hour at 9:45 led by W. G. Maseley, the hour for worship opened at 11 o'clock.

The Turner church orchestra led by Mrs. Earl Cook gave a number, preceding the congregational singing led by Carmen E. Mell, with Mrs. Florence Howe McCracken, pianist. This was followed by a solo given in a very impressive manner by Carmen E. Mell.

Nebraska Speaker
Rev. George A. Miller of Omaha, Nebraska, was introduced as the convention speaker. "It pleased the Father that in him should all fullness dwell."

Christ's life has greater influence over the world today than ever before. The division of strength and power in the masculine and that of tenderness, Christ was a manly man and the attributes of love and tenderness, he being all things to all man kind.

There are more men in the churches today than ever before. The Jews stand out as a predominantly distinct race, with the same characteristics. We in America are well mixed as to our nationality. Christ came for all alike. There is a difference between principle and method, the former must remain but as the centuries come and go our methods necessarily must change, even our literature and art, also our manner in preaching is different; how many would like to hear a three hour sermon, and admit they enjoyed it. We are creatures of our times. Ingersoll's books are relegated to second hand stores; he proposed to write a book superior to the Bible but he didn't. Lastly our social life separates individuals in a more or less degree, but Christ who understands all conditions of life comes as the gift of God to all classes alike.

Communion Service Held
The communion service was preached at 3 o'clock to a good congregation, by V. E. Hoven of Eugene, followed by the administering of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The evening sermon was delivered by Rev. George A. Miller at 8 o'clock.

There were 558 who registered during the day, besides many who did not take the trouble to do so.

BREED RITES HELD

Pleasant Grove Church Has Annual Homecoming Service Rev. J. W. Caldwell Speaker

By ORA H. BEAR

TURNER, July 1 — The Pleasant Grove church which is situated about five miles south-east of Turner, is the oldest Presbyterian church now standing in Oregon. It was built by the inspiration of Rev. Philip Condit and his two sons, Cyrenus and Sylvanus, who were early settlers of that vicinity.

The church which was built 72 years ago is in a good state of preservation, the foundation of logs were hewn on the grounds. The original pulpit and pews are still in use, they were fashioned by the Condit family. At the present time, Rev. J. W. Caldwell of Albany is pastor of a small congregation.

Sunday was home coming day for the church, the program was arranged by the pastor and was opened at 11 o'clock by congregational singing. After scripture reading and prayer, G. W. Crowell of Albany gave an address, Miss Clara Stewart of Albany gave a solo.

The basket lunch was spread on tables beneath the beautiful shade trees in the church yard. The afternoon service opened at two o'clock with congregational singing, followed by a short scripture lesson read by Rev. J. W. Caldwell, with prayer by Rev. Stewart. Song "He Walks and Talks With Me," by a group of girls of Pleasant Grove church with Mrs. H. L. Dave accompanying.

Faith Is Topic
The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. J. W. Caldwell, who is superintendent of the "W. C. T. U. Children's Farm Home," near Corvallis. The theme of the discourse was "By Faith and Service." The pioneer churches are by far better monuments, than monuments built of marble or stone with just an inscription of some kind. It was by faith that the pioneers came to claim their homes from the forests amidst great privations. It was faith and service that built the early churches, which did for civilization what nothing else did. The pioneers had visions of helpfulness though they built up through, often most pathetic tragedy in doing soul work. By faith we must carry on, though we are almost blinded by the results of sin, on every hand.

At the close of Mr. Caldwell's talk he spoke briefly of the work at the Children's Farm Home. Many people of the state of Oregon have caught the vision that of salvaging young lives for good citizenship. The trouble behind these lives has been caused by sin somewhere. There are seven cottages and with barns and much equipment the property is now rated at $300,000. It houses 140 children and 20 employees besides the superintendent and his wife who is the head matron. Each day brings its problems. The children are hungry for love and are very appreciative of a good home. In most cases they try to obey the rules necessary for the home life and realize they are made for their welfare. It is a pleasant task to work among the children, but a tremendous responsibility.

STODDARD KING HEARD

Monmouth Normal Honors Famous Poet PROGRAM IS ENJOYED

MONMOUTH, July 1 — Stoddard King, poet laureate of the state of Washington, and for many years an editorial writer on the Spokane Spokesman-Review, was an interesting speaker at the Oregon Normal school Monday when a special convocation was called in his honor.

Mr. King, who is on a vacation trip, has been heard at the Normal on previous occasions, and his arrival was heralded with enthusiasm by students and faculty alike.

He gave a humorous dissertation on how to write poetry, reading many excerpts from his three latest books: Listen to the Mocking Bird; Grand Right and Left; and What the Queen Says.

Assuring his audience that he was the only poet to write a eulogy on the Angletworm; and the Dingbat—in the English language—he read both amusing poems.

In reading The Tie That Binds, and a sonnet, My Love is Like a School, he remarked that he always stole his titles from the best known authors, and preferred to enlighten his audiences promptly that they might not be misled.

Apples; Robb's Rabbit; Elegg Written in a Tourist Camp

Ground; The Five-Room Bang; and from Sankatoon, Saskatchewan to Walla Walla, Wash., were other delightful whimsies which the normal school listeners cheered heartily.

Mr. King spent part of the afternoon at the normal, and left for Corvallis to make an evening talk at Oregon State college.

SMOOTHING YOUR PATH ALONG EVERY HIGHWAY

Specially designed springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers contribute to the riding comfort of the new Ford

THE NEW FORD PHANTOM

ONE of the fine things about driving the new Ford is the way it takes you over the miles without strain or fatigue.

Mentally you are at ease because you are sure of the mechanical performance of the car. No matter how long the trip, or rough or devious the roadway, you know it will bring you safely, quickly to the journey's end.

Through thickest traffic, up steepest hills, along the open road, you will drive with security and confidence because the new Ford is so alert and capable and so easy to operate and control.

The steering wheel responds readily to a light touch. Gears shift smoothly and silently. Brakes take hold quickly and firmly even on rain-swept streets. Unusual acceleration, speed and power are especially appreciated in emergencies. A space but little longer than the car itself is all you need for parking.

These features simplify the mechanics of driving and, together with reliability, add a great deal to the mental comfort of motoring.

Physically, too, you will feel fresh and relaxed in the new Ford because it is such a roomy, easy-riding car.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

The restful, well-upholstered seats invite you to sit back and relax and enjoy the panorama of the passing miles. Steadily, evenly you travel along because of the specially designed springs and the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. They cushion the car against hard jolts and bumps, reduce bouncing, and smooth your path along every highway.

See the nearest dealer and have him take you for a demonstration ride in the new Ford. Take the wheel yourself. Plan to give it a severe test. Check up on comfort, safety, speed, acceleration, ease of control, and power on the hills. Talk to Ford owners and mechanics and get a line on reliability and economy.

Then you will know, from your own experience, that it brings you everything you want in an automobile at an unusually low price. Then you will know why so many millions of motorists say, "I'm glad I bought a Ford."
