GRANGE STAGES PROGRAMS

Kings Valley Group Goes Back to Days of Yore for Central Theme

KINGS VALLEY, July 3.—An innovation in programs was given Friday evening at the local grange hall when a mock "old time religious service" was held with C. W. Sloan as the "minister," assisted by the members as the "congregation."

The "announcements" were little jokes, puns, and jests taken from the "minister's" personal knowledge of the "congregation."

The "reunion" was held in the form of an allegory, in biblical language, founded on the story of King Solomon, with the members of the grange used as the characters.

All was interspersed with that subtle vein of humor that gave zest and interest to the program.

The "testimonials" of the "personal benefits derived from the grange" were little personal experiences and jests between the members of this order as seen from the sunny side of life.

Many patriotic, and old time songs were indulged in during the service.

This very successful program was the product of the fertile and ingenious mind of Mr. Sloan and the hearty cooperation of the members.
