DETROIT MURDERS IS TRACED TO CHICAGO:
GANG FUEDS BLAMED
CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP)—After questioning the "girl friend" of one of the victims, Chicago police were convinced that the fatal shooting of two men and the wounding of a third in front of a Detroit hotel tonight was a sequel to the bitter warfare now waging between rival Chicago gangs.

The three men are said by police to be members of the Moran gang and they believe the men fled Chicago to avoid questioning in connection with investigation of the killing of Alfred (Jack) Lingle, Tribune reporter.

Sweetheart Arrested
Julia Kuffel, who, officials say, was the sweetheart of William Dorland, alias Cannon, one of the victims, was arrested at a hotel here when it was learned she was the owner of the automobile in which the men were slain. Ownership was traced through the license plates. She told police she had loaned her car to Dorland and Collins two weeks ago, but professed not to know Sittel.

She said Dorland and Collins had been running liquor between Detroit and Chicago and also doing occasional hijacking. She expressed belief the men were slain because of jealous over Dorland's association with her.

"There will be no July 4 holiday in the cherry orchards," said R. W. Clark on Thursday. The cherry crop, according to Mr. Clark, is much better than had been estimated and although the percentage of cracks is large, the tonnage of marketable cherries will be good. Mr. Clark has 110 acres of cherries to pick this year.

"The Twilight of Christianity," a recently published book, along with two detective stories will occur by Martin F. Ferrey, local attorney, today as his Fourth vacation. Mr. Ferrey finds serious reading very entertaining when properly mixed with somewhat light and less strenuous.

"Whoever invented the slogan their uncle, W. W. Elder of Stayton, was the excuse for Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wilson and family of Long Beach, Calif., to stop in Salem last night. They have been touring the coast as far north as Vancouver, B. C., and are now on their way home. Wilson is engaged in apartment business in Long Beach. They stopped at the Marion last night and will motor over to Stayton this morning.

Whoever invented the slogan describing Salem and vicinity as the most wonderful country in the world, certainly hit the nail square on the head," was the opinion of R. E. Toner, commercial man, expressed after visiting Salem Thursday. He was at the Senator, and left last night for Seattle. Toner says that many people in the east, especially around Iowa and farther west to Montana, think of Willamette university as a theological seminary.

Charles E. Smith of Gates, and Rosalie G. Boatman, of San Francisco, were quietly married at the New Salem hotel Thursday and will leave this morning for a week's honeymooning at Yachats, where they will make their home. Judge Brazier Small performed the ceremony.

BANKER, IN PRISON HAS SENTENCE CUT

state of facts," read Judge Skipworth's letter, "that the heavy sentence was imposed by me. The state banking department later took charge of the bank. It now develops that the condition of the bank was not at all as it appeared at the time of the sentence. I am informed that the savings department will pay 80 per cent and that the commercial department will pay 92 per cent. I have commuted the other sentences or an absolute or conditional pardon as you may deem best."

Miss Weatherston Out
Harriet Weatherston, who was cashier of the bank under Bergman's administration, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement, and was sentenced to a term of six years in the penitentiary. She was received at the institution March 16, 1927, and was released March 18, 1929.

Bergman and Miss Weatherston were arrested in Alabama where they fled to escape the state indictments by the Lane county officials.

MAURICE CHEVALIER PRESENTS BIG HITS

Maurice Chevalier, prince of personality, sings two of the hit songs in Paramount's new-show-world film festival, "Paramount on Parade," each of the numbers having been written especially for his talents as an entertainer.

The first of the numbers is "Sweeping the Clouds Away," the second is "All I Want is Just One Girl."

"Sweeping the Clouds Away," is given a spectacular setting. Ernest Lubitsch, who directed both of Chevalier's numbers, took the Parisian songster and the scores of dancing girls who appear with him to the skys-tops of Paris and even into the skies, via a colorful rainbow, during the course of the lyric. The number was filmed entirely in technicolor.

The second of Chevalier's songs, "All I Want is Just One Girl," is introduced by a typical Chevalier-Lubitsch skit, played with a subtle humor reminiscent of "The Love Parade." In this skit, Chevalier appears as a Parisian gendarme, on duty in a park where lovers are wont to go.

Aquaplane Race Sound Recorded At 40 Miles Per Hour

Synchronized cameras and sound recording equipment scored a new conquest over the sea when they filmed aquaplane races at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

The action was taken for Paramount's "Manlylaughter," which features Claudette Colbert and Fredric March.

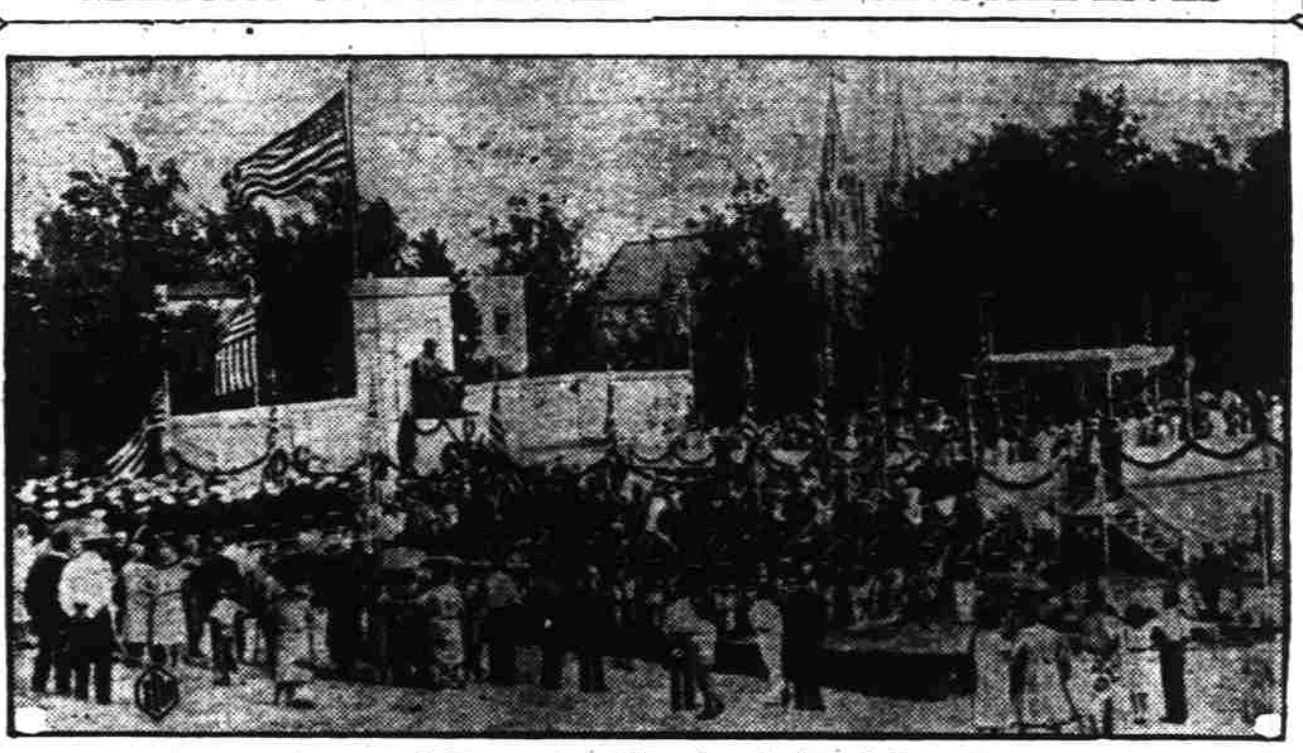

Cameras and newly perfected sound recording equipment were mounted in fast motor boats which kept pace with the surt boards ridden behind motor boats by the contestants.

Director George Abbott rode in one of the camera taxis while the sound technicians voyaged with their fast sea-going laboratory.

The races were filmed in the open sea off the coast of Catalina Island and within Avalon Bay.

BLIGH'S CAPITOL
Today—"Mummy" with Al Jolson.

Well, Al Jolson has made another "Jolson" picture. If you like Jolson you will like "Mummy," the picture now showing at Bligh's Capitol. You will have to like it for it is full of Jolson. He sings and his singing is not half so melodramatic as in previous productions; he talks and his lines are for the most part funny; he acts and his acting is individual.

The theme about which the play is built really makes a good plot, and it misses much of the hackneyed ideas of the current productions. The story has to do with a minstrel show which is touring the country. Down on its knees at first, it later takes new life through the quick thinking of Jolson, who is the chief comedian in the troop. As the show becomes prosperous Jolson's partner in the troop becomes a bit giddy and forgets the girl to whom he is supposed to be engaged. Jolson tries to help straighten matters between them and then there is a tragedy, which eventually works out with happiness for all.

There is much singing from the minstrel as they put on their show, there are some good comedy scenes, and all in all it works out to be a moving picture which furnishes more than an average evening of entertainment.

West Salem

WEST SALEM, July 3.—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brown of West Salem have gone to Hopewell, where they are camping, picking cherries for a fortnight. They are working for Mr. Long.

Mr. Grove returned to his home in West Salem Monday after attending the Methodist conference in Astoria the past few days. He brought back word that he will remain in West Salem as pastor of the Methodist church for the coming year.

The Sunday evening church service was one which was immensely enjoyed by all those who attended in that special music which was furnished by Miss Luella and Ruth Rees who sang a duet, Miss Helen Gosser who played a piano solo, Wesley Warren gave a whistling solo and Miss Ruth Rees gave a piano solo. Some very interesting speeches were given which were chosen by members of the gospel team, which was very recently organized. Those who talked were the following: Miss Helen Bliss talked on the subject of light, Mrs. Esther Anenson also talked on the subject of light and Lyle Thomas talked on the subject of world peace.

Cherry Picking On
Cherry picking in the West Salem district is now in full swing with a large percentage of West Salem people working in them.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas of Skinner street accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Carrick of 14th street, were motored to their homesteads near Bellfountain Saturday evening where they spent the night and Sunday. They returned home Sunday evening.

Move to Clear Lake
Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Thomas and family of Edgewater street motored to Clear Lake Sunday where they spent part of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wallace and family of Third street were visitors in Portland over the weekend.

Both of the West Salem camp grounds are quite well filled up at present and the owners are being kept quite busy.

Miss Smith Improves
Charlie Smith of Edgewater street is some improved after having an operation very recently. Miss Smith has been troubled with her eyes and seemed to be going blind in one of them and the cause is not yet thought to be determined.

Everly Thomas accompanied several of her friends Sunday evening on a visit to Hopewell.

Mrs. L. E. Davis of Ruge street recently received word of the death of her friend, Mrs. George Schoppert of Portland. Mrs. Schoppert left a five day old baby, besides her husband, George Schoppert.

Youths Seek to Fly Ocean With Towed Gliders

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP)—Two Long Island youths with a somewhat extraordinary idea about Atlantic crossing sailed today hoping to put their plan into effect.

With Hugh Keaney and Robert Lewis aboard the liner Saturnia were two gliders equipped with pontoons.

They announced as soon as the ship passed Ambrose Light they would climb into one of the gliders, launched it, and be towed to the Mediterranean by the liner.

The extra glider was taken just in case of accident.

Mickey Mouse NOTES

Mickey Mouse
Zotie Volchok

We must thank those who in rehearsal, brought so great a response from the Mickey Mouse Minstrel show. The ones I mean. Mice, are "Bill" Brazeau, Prof. Waldo Feagy and Dorothy Rullifson.

We Mice who saw the show were very pleased with the brothers and sisters of your club. When tiny Davis Smith Jr., sang his songs we just laughed and laughed—his reactions were so very funny. We like the joking and dancing of Ted and Dick Forman. Loave Lindsey gave a dandy song and dance. She came to rehearsal clear from Mill City. I think Jimmy White made a good endman. It was the fifty way Rowena Upjohn took care of her acrobatic number. Billy De Sousa was a satisfying saxophone player, and as a joker he was particularly okay. Hilda McDonald gave an excellent saxophone solo. Eleanor Brazeau, a topsy, must have seen some of us Mickey Mice smile—I could tell by the way she said "Howdy Folks."

Emily Ann Eckenbush was just wonderful. She received lots of applause. The Crites sisters gave a song and dance. Mary Ruth Rife gave us a nice dance. Dick Stearns must have had some hard nights of practicing, his piano accordion couldn't have done all that along. Janet Fryer's song and dance were swell. Lovan

Society Girl Runs Large Farm Place

AMERICUS, Ga.—(AP)—This back to the farm idea is more than a theory to Ellnor Free.

After ten years on Riverside drive, she has turned her back on New York to run a 1,200-acre Georgia farm.

She drives a truck, paints and varnishes, hammers nails, rides a horse for hours supervising farm work, directs a sawmill and feeds the chickens.

Ten years ago, at the age of 19, Miss Free inherited a considerable sum from her mother's estate in Texas and went to New York.

She maintained a residence on Riverside drive and spent her summers in the Catskills and her winters in Florida.

Her hobbies were aviation, which has yielded her a pilot's license, and photography.

But she tired of Gotham's south side, acquired 1,200 acres in Georgia and settled down to steady farming.

First she built an 11-room house drawing the plans herself. Then she built a sawmill which has turned out some 200,000 feet of lumber.

Her laborers are brought from among the white farmers of Texas instead of depending on Dixie's negro labor. Her crops, however, are all native to this section—corn, cotton, peanuts, oats and rye.

August 15 Set as Date to Start Production of Fibre Board in New Plant Here

Without much of hurrah, the Western Board Products company is soon to start production of a fibre board in Salem, with a daily crew of 35 men employed and with a market, as yet untouched, as a source for continuous expansion.

Financed principally by local capital, with D. B. Jarman as the principal supporter of the new industry, the company bids fair to be a thriving, prosperous concern within a short time.

August 15 has been set for the date for first production of fibre board and F. Puttaert, manager of the concern, declared this week that this date was hard and fast and would be followed unless some unexpected delay occurs.

Building Finished
For the new $1,500,000 plant of the company has just been finished by A. E. Slewert on the six-acre site near the state fairgrounds, much of the machinery is here and partly installed and an adequate supply of raw material will be continuously available.

A digester, which is a rotating, tubular shaped "cooker," 30 feet in length and eight feet in diameter, is to be shipped from New Jersey July 11 and as soon as this arrives and is installed, production can be started.

Mr. Puttaert, who has spent 45 years in connection with paper board and similar manufacturing says that Salem is ideally located for the plant. Shives obtained from the scutching mill at the state flax plant as well as screenings from the pulp from the Oregon-Pulp and Paper company here, furnish the raw material for the plant. In addition, Salem's water supply is adequate to serve all the needs of the factory.

When operated with three shifts daily, as Mr. Puttaert proposes to run the plant as soon as the newly installed machinery has been tested, the daily production will be eight tons of the fibre board selling to the distributors at $80 and upward a ton.

Many Orders on Hand
Puttaert says he already has many orders at hand and a constant stream of inquiries for more information on the board he is to produce. For building construction, for boxes, for shipping containers and for other similar uses, the fibre board has a wide demand and yet production in the country is said to be comparatively small.

The new plant completed this week is 65 by 175 feet in size with two addition buildings added to the equipment. These are a boiler room 30 by 40 feet in size and a storage shed 30 by 50 feet in size. The manufacturing plant is of one story with a full basement below for storage vats and for aging of material.

When manufacturing begins, the raw material will first be placed in the digester where it will be cooked under 75 pounds of steam pressure. Mixed with proper chemicals, the fibre is heated into the right consistency for casting into sheets. It is then dumped from the digester and is shoveled into the beater. After the fibres are here divided, they are carried into the basement and stored in a 10,000 gallon capacity tank. The fibre is then carried by a pump to the mouths of the two board machines where the fibre is rolled into soft board under heavy rollers whose size determines the width of the board. Men take the soft board away from the machines and pile it on trucks, each piece of board separated by a strip which allows air to circulate

Vancouver Will Offer Big Site For Vets' Home

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 3.—(AP)—The Vancouver chamber of commerce today decided to acquire 100 acres in Clark county to offer to the federal government as a site for the soldiers' home to be located in the Pacific northwest. A committee has been appointed to raise money for the project.

Roseburg also is bidding for the home.

Colossal Work In Granite Be Seen Today

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 3.—(AP)—The colossal figure of George Washington, carved on granite on the face of Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills, will be unveiled tomorrow as the first step in the completion of Gutson Borglum's sculpturing of a national monument overshadowing the largest art works in history.

At noon on Independence day a large American flag will be withdrawn, revealing Borglum's gigantic head of Washington, 60 feet from wig to chin and topping the figure on the scale of a man 420 feet tall.

BUILDS MINIATURE COURSES OPELIKA, Ala.—(AP)—Robert A. Botsford, jr., 16 years old, this year has planned and constructed two miniature golf courses. Four years ago, he drew the plans and directed the construction of his father's eight room brick bungalow.

RATS MENACE MEXICO MEXICO CITY, July 3.—(AP)—The department of agriculture today was asked by a delegation from Michoacan and Jalisco for aid in combating a rat plague in those states.

The drying room, just being finished, is divided into three compartments through which the drying fibre board is carried. By means of a circulation of hot air, the board is evenly dried in the 24 hours it stays in the drying room.

The dried board is then sent through a series of sizing machines and later is cut to the desired size and tested for its thickness, different grades being sold.

Storage space provided in the main floor will not be much used in Puttaert's opinion since the heavy demand will keep the board utilized about as fast as it is made. A railroad siding has been built alongside the factory.

Box Patents Valuable
Mr. Puttaert, who is assisted as manager by his son, Henry Puttaert, has obtained several general collapsible boxes which utilize the fibre board. He declares that he has oral orders for millions of these boxes for use in shipment of fruit and other products, once he can get them in to large production. The box is light, has great tensile strength, is collapsible and can be reused and yet can be made much more cheaply than wooden boxes. It is easily put together and can be thoroughly sealed by the use of only two nails.

It is Mr. Puttaert's idea that another factory can be built adjoining the plant of the Western Board Products company to take care of the production of these boxes.

Mr. Jarman, leader in the financing of the company, has been active in overseeing plans and specifications, along with Fred Thielsen and other officers of the company.

License Plates Go Out Faster; High Mark Hit

A total of 186,700 sets of motor vehicle license plates had been issued up until Thursday against 83,000 sets on the corresponding date last January, according to a report prepared by Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state.

The secretary of state announced that the motor vehicle department will be open all day Saturday.

An act of the 1929 legislature provides that motor vehicle licenses are due July 1 instead of January 1 as under the old law.
