

Major Leagues Agree to Boycott of Non-Draft Minors

COAST CIRCUIT IS ONE OF LIST

Alternative is Acceptance of Universal Conscription of Players

CHICAGO, July 9—(AP)—American and national league club owners today declared for an absolute break of player relations after December 1 with five non-draft minor leagues, unless the latter accept the universal draft.

The decision was made in a joint meeting of the majors. It included a determination to buy no players nor release any to the Pacific coast league, American association, or the international league, class AA leagues, or the three eye league.

The resolution not only demanded the minors involved, which have been subject since 1923 to a modified draft, agree to the universal selection system, but a schedule of higher draft prices be inaugurated.

There was only one dissenting vote on the resolution, though several major league clubs operate teams in the minors involved as "farms" the dissenter's name was withheld.

Sam Brown, president of the St. Louis National league club, which owns or controls the Rochester club in the American association and the Danville club of the three eye league, favored the resolution, as did President William L. Veck, of the Chicago Cubs, which has the same relationship with Los Angeles of the coast league and reading of the international league.

Present Arrangement Held Unsatisfactory

If the minor league fail to accept the universal draft the only relations possible with the majors will be to continue to draft those players who have been sent to non-draft leagues under the modified arrangements under which they have operated since 1923.

The relations between major leagues and non-draft leagues during the past nine years have been considered extremely unsatisfactory from the beginning of organized baseball until 1921 when the universal draft was recognized.

The five league involved were freed from that rule. The situation was unsatisfactory to the majors in 1922 and they offered a compromise by which players sent to non-draft leagues should be subject to the draft. The minors refused the compromise for a year but later submitted to the modified draft.

Rifle Club Has Another Shoot Set For Friday

The Salem Rifle club conducted its regular semi-weekly shoot at the Turner range Tuesday evening, with three members present and firing.

The government N. R. A. course is used, consisting of 50 shots, with a possible score of 250 points. This score had not as yet been made on the local range however. Firing is done offhand, prone, squatting, sitting and at both rapid and deliberate fire. Rapid fire scores demand the firing of ten shots in one minute from the command. This includes taking either a prone or sitting position from standing, with rifle loaded and the safety on; both positions are fired.

The scores follow: Mosher, 21x39; Wiggins, 19x25; Craig, 18x20. Springfield rifles owned by the club and various members were the arms used. Krag rifles, or any other taking government ammunition, are allowed, and any sights not containing glass.

The next match will be fired Friday evening.

Fruitland's and North Howell's Teams to Meet

The Fruitland and Howell baseball nine will clash Sunday on the Central Howell school diamond in the third and deciding game. A close and hard fought battle is expected with Girod or Runner pitching for Fruitland and Tweed or Haverson for Howell.

An all star team will be chosen from these two teams which will meet West Stayton a week from Sunday and Turner in two weeks. There will be no admission to the game this Sunday.

Faces Final Test Today

NEW YORK WELCOMES CHAMPION - JONES IN ACTION.

Brand new pictures of Bobby Jones, who today faces the final test toward recognition as undisputed world champion of the links. He has won this year all the major championships England has to offer, and is now awaiting U. S. National Open, which starts today at Interlachen.

Battle of Bunkered Hills On Today at Interlachen; Jones Against the Field

By ALAN GOULD

INTERLACHEN COUNTRY CLUB, Minneapolis, July 9—(AP)—The battle of the bunkered hills of Interlachen with Bobby Jones defending his national open golf crown against the cream of the American amateur and professional crop, begins tomorrow with every prospect the King of the royal and ancient realm will have a fight on his hands as hot as the heat wave that has grabbed this section.

Once again, on the eve of the greatest of American golf classics, it is "Jones against the field." With the monarch of the fairways back from an all-conquering invasion of Great Britain, hot for another struggle, his followers are confident he will sustain his triumphant march.

The sweltering gallery of ring-side experts, in addition to a fair share of the field of 142 scheduled starters, was not so sure that Bobby would win. Naturally they regarded the great Georgian as the man to beat under all circumstances. Jones has demonstrated enough for them that laws of averages, precedents and all that sort of thing, can be tossed out so far as his golfing achievements are concerned. On the other hand, the professional challenge to Bobby's domination looms as the strongest combined attack mustered in many years.

Walter Hagen, keen and more anxious than ever to regain prestige he has lost on American links

KARASICK WINS OVER CANADIAN

Arthur Gives Russian Lots Of Trouble But Finds Him Bit Too Big

At Karasick proved a little too big and too tough for Ernie Arthur in Wednesday night's wrestling match at the armory, but Arthur gave the big Russian several things to think about before his own shoulders touched the mat twice.

Arthur began concentrating on short arm scissors early in the first round and wore Karasick out with them after six minutes and 20 seconds. Ernie applied the hold in such manner that Karasick had a lot of trouble getting out of it. But when the local man started the same tactics in the second round, Karasick taught him a little trick. He finally pulled himself around Arthur's knees and then applied the short arm scissors counter, doubling Arthur up on his shoulder blades and pinning him there. It took 15 minutes and 25 seconds.

Final Fall Is Spectacular

The third round was fast and furious, with Arthur coming close to victory with a vicious leg split. Karasick took the fall in spectacular fashion after nine minutes and 45 seconds with a double arm bar, holding Arthur helpless after tossing him off his back and falling on top of him.

There was considerable "rough stuff," not as much as some fans had expected. Karasick was frequently accused of using a choke hold.

The preliminary bout was a whirlwind affair, the best ever staged here in the opinion of many fans. Art Reilly and Sammy Vangler battled 30 minutes without a fall.

CURT COMMENTS

Did we look bored enough to suit you? Oh, the bout wasn't so bad, but that "rough stuff," so called, leaves us cold. It just interrupts some good wrestling.

Irony of fate—predicament of the automobile owner who walks weary miles past 15-cent gasoline signs because he hasn't been able to afford a new license.

We've been watching the baseball scores for a month or more in hopes of encountering a "perfect day." What do we mean by a perfect day? Why, one that will provide the greatest satisfaction for the greatest number of fans, which would mean that all the home teams would win. That would please almost all of that day's cash customers, at least.

But that day hasn't come yet the nearest thing to it being the National League yesterday when five games were won by home teams, including one double header.

It would be rather exceptional for that to happen in the Coast league and both of the major leagues—especially if Portland happened to have a home game.

Those Washington Senators are certainly burning up the American league. We wouldn't mind seeing them take another pennant with old Walter Johnson telling them how.

It's about time we began thinking about Sunday's ball game. The Chicks from Corvallis will be back here again. Andy Peterson broke into the league against the Chicks and didn't quite manage to beat 'em.

Dangerous club, the Clicks, even though they've had their ups and downs. What a race! The last game of the first half coming up and three teams still have a chance to win. Of course there's still that Corvallis-Eugene "opening game" tie to be played but there's only a game and a half between Corvallis and Eugene, tied at the top, and Salem in the cellar; and if Salem had a game off, which complicates matters, and a half to play yet in the first half, it would be in the race too, thanks to its recent winning spurt. Watch Frisco's boys the second half!

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9—(AP)—Portland pounded out a 12-4 win over the San Francisco Seals today in a game that saw three local hurlers bombarded for 18 hits.

As things turned out, the visitors actually won the contest in the first inning by scoring five runs on two hits, two walks, two errors and a wild pitch.

Crosetti, shortstop, and Pinelli, third baseman, bobbled ball while McDougal threw it away in the disastrous inning.

ELKS BEAT ESPEE, MUST WIN 2 MORE

The Elks won another ball game Wednesday night, whittling down to two the number they must take to win the Commercial league pennant. This time they defeated the Espee decisively, 12 to 1.

A game will be played with the Legion Friday night on Sweetland field, and another with Espee early next week.

Taking advantage of the fact that Matthes, regular Espee pitcher, had been ill recently, the Elks landed on Guesner, his understudy, to bat around the hitting order in the first and third innings.

An Old Master's Effort

By HARDIN BURNLEY

WALTER HAGEN HAS HIS HEART SET ON WINNING THE OPEN—AND THE SPORT BUG IS ROOTING FOR THE OLD MASTER TO COME THROUGH!

THIS year Walter Hagen decided not to defend his British Open championship. He was enjoying a prosperous exhibition tour of Japan and the Antipodes in company with the greatest of all trick shot artists, Joe Kirkwood. But had the "Hag" been so disposed, he could have hurried over to Holyoke, instead, he returned to the United States weeks ago to practice seriously for the American Open which is being played this week on the Interlachen links at Minneapolis.

Ten annual U. S. Opens have become history since Hagen captured that event in a play-off with "Mike" Brady back in 1919. He was tied with Fred McLeod for runner-up in 1921, but both were traine strokes behind "Jim" Barnes, the winner. It was in 1914, that Sir Walter won that event first. In years other than those here mentioned, the "Hag" has been "just another player" in America's most prized links classic.

Now the "Hag" and his friends are inclined to attribute most of his success in the U. S. Open to excessive exhibition play right on the heels of the British Open which he has won four times. For years, Sir Walter scouted the idea that he was over-golfed, but his play at Winged Foot last June and his "best" in the Winter tournament decided him to train properly for the U. S. Open this year.

Rene Barlow, 1922 American Open champion and winner of the
