House Going Up - Mrs. Em-ma Murphy Brown Monday ansounced plans for construction of a six-room house on North 15th street, this building being in addition to the two which she now has under construction. The new residence will be next to the dwelling she recently sold to Mr, and Mrs. Ted Purvine. Mrs. Brown says that prevailing pessimism in regard to building conditions is a state of mind, rather than based on present conditions, and she backs her own optimism up with the construction project.

GEORGE C. ANDERSON SAYS SALEM IS BEST TOWN AND HE GIVES REASONS FOR IT

From Tailor to Candy Maker is Experience of This Loyal Salemite

By OLIVE DOAK

"Are you Mr. Anderson?".
"Sometimes," said the person addressed. "Well, are you Mr. Anderson today?"

"Yes," came back a jolly answer and the conversation was on. While the interviewer balanced on a stool at the ice cream counter, and the aforesaid Mr. Anderson, George C., sold some shiny chocolates to one person, some English toffy to another, an ice cream concoction to another and furnished information to a tow headed boy these few remarks were bandled about.

"Where was I born. Right here in Oregon-at Albany, Say, what are you going to do, write a story about me? That's not my idea of good subject. I have read some of these newspaper stories and they make a fellow sound like he was bragging and that is one thing I don't want to do-not on paper anyway-for I haven't anything to brag about."

Said the person on the stool, "I promise not to make it sound that way. Newspapers just tell the truth. You have always lived in Oregon?'

Salem Once "Poor" Farm "Sure, I can remember Salem when it was such a poor town that the traveling salesman would not stop here. And now look at it! I'd rather live here than any place have ever heard about."

A customer went out with a bag of good looking candy and South Commercial street; broththe person on the stool waited, er of Mrs. S. P. McCracken, Raylooked hungry with no results, and then said:

"Have you always made candy?" And that question brought forth the famous Anderson laugh. "No, from tailor to candy maker, that's me. Tailoring was too confining for a boy so I gave that up. Barbers seemed to have a lot of time on their hands and looked real nice in their white collars, so I tried that, but working Saturday night did not suitme, so I gave that up and took up street near State Mondy night. a job where you work all the time

-that is the candy maker." Some little scribbling and then here came the "stool piegon" again with "When did you go in to business for yourself?" what a laugh that brought?

Started in Newport wife, three trays of taffy, 15 cents in change and a showcase made of two two by 12 planks resting on two sawhorses, and covered with offeloth. But I stayed all summer and went into business stayed for three years. From there took a little vacation and then In Southern Oregon—T. L. A kindly piece of advice but the person on the stool hated to think such drastic action had become a necessity. Work Long Hours

Recreation of a candy maker? More candymaking—both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson work in the shop and their hours are from 9 o'clock until 11:30 o'clock 365 days of the year.

But be the work as it may, it cannot, or at least it has not yet succeeded in drowning the Anderson laugh, and sense of humor.
