BRUNDIGE IS MUM AFTER TESTIFYING

CHICAGO, July 22.—(AP)—The grand jury listened for nearly three hours today to a St. Louis crime reporter's account of his investigations of alleged racketeering on the part of his Chicago brothers in the profession.

When Harry T. Brundige emerged from the jury chamber after telling his story all lips were sealed.

Brundige reiterated he would not repeat his testimony even to his own newspaper, although Frank W. Taylor, Jr., managing editor of the St. Louis Star was in the jury room part of the time with Brundige.

Brundige was called because of a series of articles in which he wrote that reporters other than Lingle were involved in gangland affairs here.

The latest gangland execution, that of Peter Inserra last night, apparently had gone the way of the rest—an unsolved homicide.

"Ashcan Pete's" saloon had been closed for a month and during that time, police said, he was understood to have formed some alliance with the Alamo-Moran liquor syndicate, charged by some with the slaying of Lingle.

Inserra was shot six times through the body and head. Police, unable to find any witnesses to the killing, blamed enemies of the Moran gang.

HOOVER SIGNATURE PLACED ON TREATY

Four of the American delegates to the London conference, Vice President Curtis and two members of the senate foreign relations committee, stood at the elbow of the chief executive as he affixed his signature to the treaty which had its beginning less than a year ago in a conference between himself and Prime Minister MacDonald at the presidential camp in Virginia.

RODINS RECOVERED

PORTLAND, Ore., July 22.—(AP)—The bodies of two missing men taken from the Willamette river today were identified by Dr. Charles Thompson, 50, Portland. The other, that of a man about 37 years old, has not been identified.

MILLIONAIRE HOBO DIES IN VIRGINIA

STAUNTON, Va., July 22.—(AP)—James Eads How, "millionaire hobo" died in a Staunton hospital today of pneumonia, "evidently superinduced by starvation," physicians said.

How was 56 years old, and a member of one of the wealthiest families of Louisiana, where he was born. His grandfather was the distinguished engineer, James Eads, who built the bridge over the Mississippi river at St. Louis.

The body was sent tonight to Washington, where it will be met by a brother, Louis How. In accordance with How's wishes, it will be cremated.

How arrived in Staunton last Friday, in a weak and enfeebled condition, and registered at a hotel. For several days he appeared in the lobby, but was in the dining room only a few times.

Hotel employees said he ate very little, and told them it will be met by a brother, Louis How. In accordance with How's wishes, it will be cremated.

REMONSTRANCE SAID EFFECTUAL BARRIER

practical procedure for the paper mill is to see that the remonstrance provisions of the law, adopted in 1884, be changed at the next legislature. As the law now exists, Keyes pointed out, one man can block the wishes of the majority.

Some local citizens said Tuesday the remonstrance signers were motivated mainly by the "under nuisance" caused by the mill. There was some hope expressed about town that if the mill would make written promises to see the signers were checked, the remonstrance signers could be made to withdraw their petition.

The sentiment revealed by queries directed to downtown business men yesterday revealed the great majority in favor of the mill. There was some hope expressed about town that if the mill would make written promises to see the signers were checked, the remonstrance signers could be made to withdraw their petition.

SIX YEAR PROGRAM OF NAVY PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(AP)—Consideration of a detailed six-year program under which nearly $1,000,000,000 may be spent on the navy under the London treaty ratified Monday was begun today by the navy general board.

General plans of treaty restrictions had been under discussion for several months but today's undertaking was the beginning of work upon the concrete construction program.

Whether the board would recommend building up to the maximum tonnage allowed under the treaty had not been decided. Some members of the board, and other navy officials have said such a construction program would place the country in an unfavorable position at the next limitations conference which the United States would have no substitute ships with which to negotiate.

Another controverted question the board deliberated over was whether it should recommend the construction of as many as 14 six inch gun cruisers, the maximum that could be built under the treaty, or whether the development of this type should be limited to afford the maximum number of eight-inch gun vessels permitted.

Here, There And Yon Bits of Personal News Gleaned About Interesting People

NEW YORK may have its glamour, but the west is the place to live, intimated G. E. Hardy, Texan who is spending a short time in Salem while on his way from New York to California. Hardy, a newspaper man, has been in New York more than two years. He has made the trip west after the ride-arrive-walk-while fashion, arriving here in about 12 days' actual travel. Fast travel through Montana and North Dakota wasn't so easy, he found, for the hitch-hiker. Incidentally, he found on his trip across the continent that the so-called depression is general. There is vast unemployment among the unskilled labor class in the east, he says.

The recent advance in retail milk prices is for the benefit of the producer and not for the distributor, in Grover Hillman's opinion. The price of 11 cents for a quart of milk paid for in advance gives a fair deal to the consumer who keeps his bills up. On the other hand, the 12-cent price for credit service by the milk seller carries some of the loss on accounts which are not paid. "You'd be surprised at the amount of people who order milk for a week and then skip out without paying their account," Hillman declared.

A prune crop, one-third to one-half the normal tonnage, and grain prices far below normal are not making Sheridan farmers any too happy. This situation, in fact, coupled with lumber mill depression which has closed smaller plants in the rural districts, has made Sheridan business to date this year less than in '29. Leonard R. Sackett, in Salem on business Tuesday afternoon, made the report but hastened to add: "Don't quote me; I may have my facts wrong."

"Way back to the days when a sidewalk and parking strip along Trade street adjacent to the Southern Pacific freight warehouse was vacated for the use of Gladson Biols on Tuesday afternoon, the remonstrance filed against the street vacation. "We had a fight then, I recall. People said the street was valuable. However the convenience given the trucks using the warehouse far more than repaid the city. A municipality thrives on the commerce it attracts. Instead of opposing the wishes of the paper mill we ought to do anything reasonable to help it. Trade street, in my observation, is little used except by the industries, all of which joined in the petition for the street vacation."

Hoover Willing To Trade Heat For Chile Cold

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(AP)—Exchange of some of the capitol heat for the coolness of Chile would be considered a fair trade by President Hoover.

He was called on long distance telephone today by William S. Culbertson, ambassador to Chile, to exchange greetings with President Hoover.

When the ambassador remarked it was very cold down there with the winter months upon them, Mr. Hoover replied he should like to make a trade for some of the coolness.

Later he talked with President Hoover.

HEAT WAVE OVER EXCEPT IN SOUTH

By The Associated Press

Suffering heavy casualties from rain storms which swept over most of the east yesterday the armies of heat, humidity and drought, took up a valiant last stand in Virginia and thereabouts after a campaign of several days that has brought suffering to nearly every part of the country.

Slowly losing out in the other sections, where rain and cool breezes brought the temperature down to normal summer averages, the torrid sun continued to beat down upon the valleys of Virginia, sending the mercury soaring above 100 for the fourth consecutive day. A temperature of 102.3 at Richmond was the hottest July day on record.

Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Connecticut where remnants of the wave continued to linger as the sun rose yesterday, got promised relief later in the day.

The rain was especially welcome to towns in western Maryland and Pennsylvania where the menace of water shortage and forest fires added to the discomfort.

Scores of deaths attributed directly to the heat had been chalked up in these regions in the last four days. In New York and its metropolitan area alone at least 25 fatalities occurred. Two more were reported yesterday in Virginia and four in Maryland.

Hold Everything! How well put! For you'll surely have to when you see it. It's a scream from start to finish! Joe Brown and Winnie Lightner—can you name a funnier combination? If you miss it you'll be sorry! It's full of good, clean wit and wisecracks and the cast is strong enough to ably support "Joe and Winnie," the two stars.

Besides the funny side of the show—is the artistic side—which is exceptionally well done this time, in appropriate color and costume. There's a ballet alone that's well worth the small price of admission—and the time that the show takes to see it—well, it doesn't seem half long enough.

The work of the ballet can be classed only with a finished troupe—it's beautiful and unusually cleverly arranged. That's enough—"Action speaks louder than words." Go and see for yourselves.

$240 increase over Miss Burrough's, and Bradshaw's is $150 more than DeWitt's.
