Salem Instructor Granted Leave For Study

Miss Ada Ross, well known Salem woman, is planning an interesting year which will begin about August 10, at which time she will leave Salem for California where she expects to register at the beginning of the fall term in the University of California at Berkeley, California.

Miss Ross has been granted a year's leave of absence for further work along her already well developed line, which will give her additional work in advanced English and supervisory methods in the teaching of English.

At the present time Miss Ross holds several high offices in local state and national English organizations. For the past seven years she has held the position as head of the English department of the Salem high school. For the past two years Miss Ross has served as president of the Oregon council of teachers of English.

In addition to that place she is acting as chairman of committees of English for secondary schools in the Inland Empire council of English teachers. This organization takes in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California. The last laurels were added to Miss Ross's name this year when she was elected upon the recommendation of State Superintendent C. A. Howard, to the office of state representative of the organization of supervisors to English in the national council of English teachers.

Miss Ross's plans for residence plans are indefinite but at the present time she expects to make her home at the "International."

Many social affairs are being planned before her departure for the south.

Miss Velma May, who sails on the S. S. Wilhelmnia for Honolulu, Hawaii, where she will enter the University of Hawaii this fall. Miss May will make her home with her uncle, Captain C. E. May while in Hawaii.

Pretty Luncheon At MacDonald Home

Mrs. Palmer MacDonald was an interesting hostess Wednesday afternoon when she entertained members of her bridge club with an attractive potluck bridge luncheon in her home on Center street.

Yellow and white were the colors chosen by the hostess which were daintily combined in the centerpiece of flowers, artistically arranged on the luncheon table. The soft glow of the candle light from the tall green tapers added much to the already pleasing effect. Those enjoying the afternoon with Mrs. Palmer were, Miss Helen Adolpser of Marshfield, Oregon, Miss Gertrude Hanger, Mrs. Wayne Loder, Mrs. W. E. Scandling, Miss Dorothy Liversoll, Mrs. James B. Young, Mrs. Jack Elliott, and Mrs. James Gallagher.

Enjoys Pot Luck Lunch ATN. S. Savage Home

An interesting meeting of the Southeast circle of the Ladies Aid society of the First Methodist church was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. T. N. S. Savage and her daughter, Miss Eugenia Savage, entertained at their home on South 14th street. The 12 o'clock "pot luck luncheon" was served in the shaded garden, bordered with flowers and the creek near by, adjoining the Savage home which added greatly to the pleasure of the guests. Following that luncheon a brief business meeting was held, after which inspiring devotional exercises, led by Mrs. C. E. Miller, who chose for her topic "The Betterment of the Society," were enjoyed. Miss Eugenia Savage presided over the group with several plans selections during the afternoon.

Following the business and devotional hour the afternoon was passed in conversation and sewing for the Children's Farm home at Corvallis.

The guests for the afternoon were, Mrs. L. P. Bennett, Mrs. W. S. Lehman, Mrs. Demarest, Mrs. J. H. Ross, Mrs. M. R. Withler, Mrs. George Eyrre, Mrs. Harriette Dirkenholmer, Mrs. Susan Balderston, Mrs. B. T. Kumlter, Mrs. George Davis, Mrs. A. M. Cook, Mrs. Roy Omart, Mrs. Claudia La Brie, Mrs. E. Miller, Mrs. D. F. Johnson, Miss Maud Simons, and the hostesses, Mrs. N. S. Savage and Miss Eugenia Savage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Levins, 1145 North 14th street, have as their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pike of Oakland, California, Mrs. Walter Monroe, Mrs. Gray Smith and daughter Miss Margaret, of Los Angeles, California. The party arrived Wednesday morning by motor and will spend a few days at the Levins home before going on Eastern Oregon points.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bailey of Medford, Oregon, were guests in the city Wednesday visiting friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey are former Salem people and well known in school circles. Mr. Bailey was debate coach at Salem High school before going to Medford.

Friends of Mr. Homer H. Smith will be pleased to know that he is again at home after a brief stay at Hot Lake Sanatorium in eastern Oregon and that his general condition is greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Braun, 1234 Court street, returned home a few days ago from Portland, where they were the guests of friends and relatives for a brief stay.

Miss Mary Eyrre, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George Eyrre, arrived home a few days ago after a motor trip through Yellowstone National park.

Mrs. Edith Joseph of McMinnville, arrived in the city Tuesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Ivan Brown for a few days.

Miss Grace Leto Wolverson of Portland, is the house guest of Miss Carlotta Crowley, elementary supervisor in Salem schools for the week.

Miss Bertha Hines, a teacher in the local schools, leaving for the summer, left Wednesday for her home in Ipsilanti, Michigan.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Olinger of this city are the guests at the home of Dr. Olinger's brother, Dr. Bert Olinger.

Mrs. Richard Churchill has as her house guest, her sister, Mrs. Charles Freeberg of Portland.

Light Tester Lights Illegal

The old adage that the shoemaker's family is always out of shoes was revived Wednesday night when local traffic officers stopped a car owned by Glen Dastfeld of Beaverton garage and found the machine to be carrying illegal light equipment. Mr. Dastfeld is the official light tester for this region.

OUTLOOK BLANK ON G. O. P. MEET

No Answer Ready For Vital Query "Who Will Be The Nominee?"

considered and it is to be doubted if he will get much support after the preliminary ballots.

There is always the possibility that there will be insufficient strength behind any of the candidates to secure a majority. In this event a compromise may result in a dark-horse. This candidate will be from the shadow fringe; men known to be capable but not actively pushed, by themselves or by newspaper or home-town loyalities.

Dark Horse List Has Possibilities

Included in this group could be placed Colonel Clark of Portland, W. Lair Thompson of the same city, Judge Lawrence C. Harris of Eugene, Judge Robert W. Sawyer of Bend. These are men less active politically than any of the men commonly spoken of for the nomination, but all well-qualified for executive leadership in Oregon.

At the momentous day arrives it is certain that the delegates will each resemble elephants crossing a bridge. They will put each foot forward cautiously. The preliminary skirmishes of the balloting will test the merits of the planks. It may be days before the 36 central committee men muster sufficient self-assurance and courage to walk across the seething river of discontent which yawned abruptly when the dynamic personality of George W. Joseph was suddenly mustered out.

Here, There And Yon

Bits of Personal News Gleaned About Interesting People

Clarence B. Bagley, accompanied by two of his grandsons, Lawrence Mercer Jenner and Park Daniel Bagley, is revisiting the scenes of his childhood in Salem and vicinity. Rev. Daniel Bagley, wife and Clarence started from Prineville, Idaho, in April, 1854, coming over the Old Oregon Trail and arriving in Salem on September 21 following. They lived in and near Salem for eight years. In October, 1860, the day Edward D. Baker and James Nesmith were elected to the United States senate from Oregon, the Bagley family started for Seattle. Fifteen days were consumed on the trip with ten days traveling time. Yesterday the trip was made in eight hours traveling time.

Mr. Bagley is the senior newspaper man of the Pacific northwest. For the past 30 years he has devoted most of his leisure time to historical work pertaining to the old Oregon country, and particularly to Puget Sound and the city of Seattle. He and his grandsons intend making a camping outing throughout most of the western part of Oregon.

Lee, or "C. M.," anything but "Mister" or the first name which is Chester, is the proper way to address C. M. Lee, manager of the Purity stores. Mr. Lee on Wednesday was answering the old question about the real value of a name. "I don't like the formality of the title 'Mister,'" he declared. "In business nowadays people like to be informally addressed and I'm certainly in business."

Baseball at night is fully as interesting to watch as the daylight game. In some ways the ball can be seen better than when Old Sol is shining for artificial lighting on the field throws light from all directions on the players and the ball. Once during the opening game in Portland this week, a very high foul tip of third base, was lost in darkness and the fielder missed it. Seven thousand people attended the first game, reported Gus Hixson, circulation manager for The Statesman, who was one of the local people to see the latest development in the national sport.

It was a pleasure indeed for W. C. "Boots" Paulus, cashier of the First National bank, to be back in Salem after a vacation trip to eastern Oregon where he formerly resided. "One hears so much pessimistic talk about the price of grain in that region it is disheartening," said Paulus yesterday. "Much of the talk of the federal farm loan leaders avails little," he added. "Eastern Oregon is a wheat country and cannot very reasonably feed its surplus to hogs and it cannot diversify for the land is suited only to wheat raising."

"How's business?" some one asked John Blakely, manager of the Gray Belle. "Sorry to disappoint you," replied Blakely, "but it is fine." This business depression story is largely myth, according to Blakely, and under conditions better than they were last year.

Miss Hazel Froese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Froese, 65 East 75th street, North, Portland, was in Salem Wednesday looking upon the portrait of her great-grandfather, John P. Gaines, third territorial governor of the Oregon country. Mr. Gaines served as governor of the Oregon country during the period 1850 to 1855. His portrait is in the state senate chamber.

B. J. Howdarsell, president of the DeWeller corporation of Los Angeles, was in the city Wednesday "just looking over the valley." He plans to return this fall with a view to purchasing property in this section, he said. With him were his wife and a daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Woolstall, Baldwin Park, Cal., associated with him in business.

POWER CASE IS PUT OFF AGAIN

City and Company Seeking Development Rights to Confer Soon

commission, said there apparently was no legal preference between municipalities and private corporations in the matter of power development. He declared there was a legal preference if the water was to be used for domestic or irrigation purposes.

Attorneys for the power company intimated that in case the city perfected its filings and went ahead with the power development the Northwest Power company would expect to be reimbursed for money spent for surveys, filling fees and other expenses. The filing fees aggregate $3000. The other expenses were not enumerated by the power company's attorneys.

Governor Norblad made it plain that he was in favor of denying the application of the power company and surrendering the water to the municipality as a matter of principle. State Treasurer Kay, who was ill at the time of the original hearing, said he was not disposed to vote on the application until he had read the transcript. Hal E. Hoss, secretary of state, declared that he already had read the transcript of testimony offered at the hearing, but that would be compelled to defer his vote because of the recent action taken by the city of Salem.

At the time the hearing on the application was held last September, protests were filed by the cities of Salem and Albany, the state game commission, and a number of sportsmen's organizations. The cost of the proposed power development was estimated by the Northwest Power company at $6,600,000.

ambition to determine his fitness to testify.

The physicians reported he was suffering from appendicitis and he was taken to the Buffalo hospital from Hammond sport on Lake Keuka, his birthplace, known as "the cradle of aviation" because of his activities there.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Glenn, of Hammond sport and Miami, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Rutha Healy of Miami; his mother, Mrs. Lulu Curtiss of Hammond sport, and a half-brother, Carl G. Adams, of Miami.

Mr. Curtiss carried on many of his earlier activities here in Buffalo. In a suburb, Kenmore, is situated the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company, one of the principal units of that organization which links the name of aviation's leading pioneers, Curtiss and Wright.

They Ought To Read The Statesman

Objections to cost bills in two cases tried in the July term of circuit court yesterday and are based on failure of the attorneys to keep abreast of the times.

Several weeks ago the county clerk announced that as result of the increased population shown by the 1930 census, Marion county court fees took on a new aspect, included in which was reduction of witness fees from 10 cents a mile to five cents a mile.

In the case of Julia Stupel vs. Molalla Electric company and the case of W. A. Kothoff vs. Portland Seed company, cost bill included the old 10 cents a mile rate for witness fees. Losers, cognizant of the fee upheaval, objected and of course the matter will be ironed out—not, however it is presumed, to the satisfaction of the witnesses.

Objections to cost bill filed in the Seth Leavens Tire company's case against Walter Wolf, et al., was filed by defendants on grounds that plaintiff was not the prevailing part in the trial.

Lads and Lassies Picnic at Spong's Thursday

"Just a Wee Doc' Dory," "Auld Lang Syne" and other well known Scotch melodies will permeate the air Thursday when the local Scotch people will once more don their "plaids and kilts" and enjoy a get together picnic supper Thursday at Spong's Landing. With William McGilchrist, Sr. in charge of the affair nothing will be left undone which will make the event a success. In true Scotch fashion those attending are asked to "bring their own basket," but the program of songs and games will be furnished.

The G. K. P. club met Tuesday evening for a "surprise pot luck supper" honoring the club president, Mrs. Katherine Middleton, who is just recovering from a recent illness. The evening was particularly enjoyable due to the fact that all of the club members were present which included Messdames Will Foster, H. S. Gile, Harry Harris, O. H. Pickens, K. C. Pickens, J. F. Billeter, J. B. Taylor, Thomas Roen, T. A. Rafferty, Newell Williams, Walter Nelson and the honor guest, Mrs. Katherine Middleton.

The next meeting of this group will be with Mrs. Thomas Roen. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Pickell of Salem, motored to Yachats a few days ago, while their daughter followed later by aeroplane. Miss Pickell will be remembered as "Miss Santiam" who just recently won honors in a western Oregon beauty contest. She reports a delightful trip in the plane as the visibility was exceptionally good and a very distinct view of the mountains and coastline were thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Taylor have returned to their home in Sunnyside after an interesting train trip to Washington, D. C. The couple visited with Mr. Taylor's relatives in West Virginia and with Mrs. Taylor's relatives in Oklahoma. Stop overs were made in Kansas City and Denver enroute home.

Miss Signe Paulson who has been on the teaching staff of the local schools, left Wednesday for her home in Eugene, where she will be a guest of her parents until the opening of the fall term of school. Miss Paulson has accepted a position on the staff of the Seattle schools for the coming year.

Mrs. Harry Albert, sister of Mrs. Carolyn Hurst, arrived Wednesday evening from St. Helens, Oregon, to be the guest in the Hurst home for a short time.

Mrs. Frank Deckebach Honored at Luncheon

A group of the younger maids and matrons were entertained Tuesday afternoon with a delightful bridge luncheon at the home of the Misses Marjorie and Mildred Christensen, honoring Mrs. Frank Deckebach who is leaving soon to make her home in Portland. A guest prize was presented to Mrs. Deckebach; high score was awarded to Mrs. Kenneth Perry and second honors went to Mrs. Clifford Knodell of Albany, who is house guest at the Christensen home. Three tables of bridge were in play for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Williams of Whittier, California, were guests in the city this week at the home of Mrs. Kate W. Pemberton, enroute to Seattle, Washington on a combined business and pleasure trip. Mr. Williams who is president of the Pacific Coast Baseball league is well known in sporting circles.

Mrs. J. D. Borwick and children, Doris and Douglas accompanied by Mrs. Borwick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill of Salem, returned home this week from Neskovin, where they have been for the past two weeks vacationing at the coast. Mr. Borwick joined the family week ends.

Miss Cora May Milson arrived in the city a few days ago from her home in Pendleton, Oregon, to be the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Prime. The little visitor will spend the remainder of the school vacation in Salem.

Mrs. E. T. Stevenson of Burley, Idaho, who has been a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Wright, will leave Salem the first of the coming week for her Idaho home.

Salem Teachers Take Cruise to Alaska

A group of prominent local women are making plans to leave Salem, August 4, for Eugene where they will attend a short course offered by the extension division of the University of Oregon, preparatory to sailing August 14 on the summer motor cruise sponsored by the university, which takes the group the inland passage to Alaska, returning home about August 26. Those making the trip include Mrs. Viola Price Franklin, Miss Meri McKelvey, Miss Earl Dimmick and Miss Carlotta Crowley, all of whom are well known in educational circles throughout the state.

Extensive plans are being formulated for the annual all day picnic to be sponsored Friday by the Hal Hibbard auxiliary of the U. S. Spanish War Veterans at Hager's Grove. It has been requested that all the members of the organization bring their own baskets but that coffee and ice cream will be furnished on the grounds. Mrs. Henry Miller is in charge of the transportation facilities for the day.

Mrs. Harvey Parker has as her house guests this week her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Judge Peets of Oakland, California, and their two small children, John Edward and Rollin Frederick. The California people are making the trip by motor and plan to return in about two weeks when they will be accompanied by Miss Geraldine Parker, young daughter of Mrs. Harvey Parker. Several dinners, picnics and informal affairs are being arranged for their pleasure.

Miss Helen Hayman and Miss Helen Kennedy who have been in the city for the past six weeks acting in the capacity of critic teachers for the summer session of the local schools, left Wednesday for their homes in California. They are planning an interesting return trip, going from here to Rainer national park, Crater lake and south over the Redwood highway to California.

Miss Edna Mings, head of the English department in the Oregon State Normal school at Monmouth, who is leaving soon, on an extended trip abroad, will be guest of honor at a bridge party given by a few of her intimate friends Saturday afternoon in Monmouth. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Beulah Thornton, Miss Maurie Mitchell and Miss Florence Johnson. Miss Ada Ross of this city will motor to Monmouth for the afternoon.
