

Drive Being Made to Save 100-Man Payroll for This City

PAPER MILL IN CRUCIAL STATE

Removal of Two Machines Is Necessitated if City Holds Back Growth

With only four more days remaining before the city council takes final action on the proposed vacation of Trade between Commercial and Front streets, public spirited citizens as well as stockholders and officers of the Oregon Pulp & Paper company are making a determined try to get each remonstrance signer to withdraw his name before Monday night's council meeting.

Of the 22 original signers, 10 had withdrawn their names Tuesday but yesterday's efforts with the protestors were ineffective as far as any direct results were concerned.

John Bayne, local attorney, repeated his statement that he would not budge in his protest despite the fact that hundreds of names have been secured in the last week, urging by petition that the street be vacated for a width of 43 feet.

Meanwhile the board of directors of the paper mill meeting here for the regular monthly session, heard F. W. Leadbetter, president of the company, declare that unless room was given the mill to expand, Machine No. 2 will be moved to the Tumwater, Wash., mill of the paper company while Machine No. 3 would be dismantled and moved to Vancouver, Wash.

50 New Jobs Possible

Leadbetter pointed out that the rebuilding of Machine No. 2 would mean 50 additional men on the payroll here while the removal of Machine No. 3 would reduce the local plant's payroll one-third.

Leadbetter declared that more storage and shipping space for the mill here was imperative if economical operation was to be secured. He expressed surprise at Salem's attitude in hampering the growth of industries when other cities were so ardently in quest of them.

"The difference in attitude toward industry at Salem and other places is emphasized at Vancouver, Wash., where we were offered an old iron plant for use as a machine shop. For us to utilize it requires the vacation of a street and the city was offered voluntarily by the mayor and council without protest. The city wants industries."

Cinder Cone Promised

At the directors' meeting a resolution was passed ordering the immediate construction of a cinder cone to eliminate cinders as a nuisance from the mill. Trade street desired can be vacated and the construction of an addition to the mill completed.

While much of the cinder trouble will be alleviated by use of the new boiler, eliminating forced feeding, a cause of the cinder trouble, the use of a cinder cone will solve the problem, the mill officials feel. To operate this cone will cost $50 daily but the mill owners feel the expense justified if other operation costs of the plant here can be reduced.

City's Attitude Surprises

"I am surprised at the hostile attitude manifested at Salem towards its largest industry," said Mr. Leadbetter, "when all over the country other communities are exerting their utmost efforts to secure industries and payrolls and offering every concession. There is no complaint at Oregon City or Portland or Vancouver or Seattle about cinders, yet none of the paper mills, lumber mills or other industries have installed cinder abating contrivances. Cinders are expected wherever hog fuel is utilized just as soon as expected in the manufacturing cities of the east utilizing soft coal. It is to our advantage to eliminate cinders and we have tried consistently to abate them and are willing to try the cinder cone if it will work. We hope our increased production secured by plant enlargement justifies the extra expense."

EXCELLENT RESULTS OBTAINED AT CAMP

Three Weeks' Work at Santaly See Girls Progress Y. W. Leader's View

"Excellent!" It took just that one word for Mrs. Elizabeth Gallaher to sum up the three weeks' annual Girl Reserve instructional and recreational period which closed Tuesday at Camp Santaly. Mrs. Gallaher, general director of the camps at which three groups of Girl Reserves were guests for a week each, returned to Salem Wednesday morning after attending to final details at camp. "Camp was far above my expectations and we enjoyed three very good weeks' activity," she says.

The arts and craft work, new to the camp this year, was a great success, as was also the instruction in music, reports the director. Deena Hart had charge of arts and craft, with Mrs. Gallaher assisting, and Doris Clarke has charge of the music.

Especially pleasing, too, were results of the swimming courses, given by Dorothy Hutchason, assisted by Eileen Moore. The director reports that girls who actually could not swim at camp were able to swim at the end of the week's instruction.

Mrs. Gallaher gives much credit for success of the camp to her immediate assistant, Helen Brethaupt, Dorothy Taylor was one of the advisors during the last week of camp.

Escaped Trusty Yet at Large, Report at Pen

Officers tonight had failed to find any trace of Douglas Day, who late yesterday escaped from the state penitentiary annex located five miles east of Salem. Day was serving a 12 year sentence for participation in the robbery of the Rose City bank, Portland, five years ago. He was received at the prison in April, 1925.

6 STATES IN ROCKY GROUP SHOW GAIN

26.7 Per Cent Growth Shown in Decade; California Leads

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—The geographical section designated as the west by the census bureau, comprising Pacific and Rocky Mountain states, increased by 2,911,390 in the decade just past, a 27.7 per cent growth. The 1920 total was 11,854,172 as against 8,942,782 in 1910.

This jump, greater in percentage than the growth of the north or the south was due to the coastal influx particularly in California.

The eight Rocky Mountain states showed a 29.7 per cent growth in 1920 compared with the coastal 23.8 per cent but had slowed to a 9.8 per cent increase in 1920. Washington, Oregon and California had jumped 46.4 per cent over the 1920 figure. In 1920, the census bureau figures show 3.4 per cent of the total population living in "the west."

The 1920 per centage has not been figured.

Montana decreasing 2.8 per cent was the only state showing a loss. Colorado was the first mountain state ever to number more than 1,000,000 inhabitants with a 1920 total of 1,022,158. Oregon, with a population of 951,790, increased 21.5 per cent in the last decade.

strange story, he dominates the play. But the midget, Harry Earles, steals a share of the show in several spots and his action brings forth not a few genuine laughs.

"The Unholy Three" are a great lot, and few will see the show who don't agree it's worth spending the time and money involved.

Tuffy Griffiths Takes Win Over Old Tom Heeneey

OFFICER IDENTIFIES FOSTER AS SLAYER

a sporting goods dealer to Foster, he was indicted for the murder. Foster had protested he had an alibi and, further, he had long since disposed of the weapon.

His attorneys wanted Foster freed on bond.

Didn't See Face. Ruth said Foster as the man who studied him after Lingie was shot. Ruth looked at the gangster from every angle. Admitting he had not seen the fugitive's face, the policeman said he was certain of the identification. He could not say whether the fugitive he chased was the man who shot Lingie, as he did not see the slaying.

The witness was excused, the defense ended its presentation and Judge Daniel P. Trade ordered the state to bring Foster to trial for the murder on September 9, or to admit it to $25,000 bail.

REVISED SCHEDULE GOES INTO EFFECT

Reduced Lighting Rates to Apply Here August 15, Announced

rate, five and a half cents per kilowatt hour is charged for the first 20 kw used per month; three cents for the next 40 kw used per month and one and eight-tenths cents for all additional energy.

However, one additional kw hour will be billed at the five and a half cent rate for each 25 watts of connected load of lighting in excess of 600 watts, except in no case will more than 125 kw be billed at the five and a half cent rate. On this schedule, no installation will be considered as having less than 600 watts connected load.

The minimum monthly charge under this is $1 for lighting and $2 where heating, cooking and other appliances exceed a total rated capacity of 2,000 watts.

In the room demand rate, 25 cents each month per room and an energy charge of two and three-fourths cents per kw for the first kw used per month is charged. There is 1.8 cents per kw for all additional energy used. No installation is considered for this schedule as having less than four rooms.

Smaller Rooms Are Not Counted

Using this rate, all rooms are counted except hallways, alcoves, closets, pantries, fruit rooms, lavatories, bathrooms, unfinished attic, basement, trunk and laundry rooms, porches, sleeping rooms not permanently closed and garages. Bedrooms or living rooms in connection with garages will be counted as one room.

Some quirks of the new schedules were shown by Mr. Hamilton. For example, in a six room house having a total lighting load of 840 watts, the room demand rate amounts to $2.80 and the load demand rate brings a $2.20 bill. If the total lighting load is more than 840 watts, the bill will be more on the load demand rate and if the total load is less than 840 watts the bill will be less than on the load demand rate.

Using the same six-room house, if 100 kw per month are used, tables show the bill will be $2.98 on the room demand rate and $3.76 on the load demand rate. But if the lighting load is 1080 watts instead of 840, the bill on the load demand rate will be $4.10 as compared to $3.96 on the room demand.

Load Demand Best For Smaller Homes

In the main, the load demand is the cheaper on smaller installations and the room rate less expensive when large num-

SILVERTON LAD IS HURT IN BAD SMASH

SILVERTON, July 30.—Lawrence Solle, of Silverton, was painfully injured, suffering a broken leg, bruises and head cuts, when his motorcycle crashed into a car driven by Albert Funnre, also of Silverton, as the machines were climbing East hill.

Witnesses said the motorcycle hit the Funnre machine as it turned into a driveway. Solle was driving closely behind Funnre and was unable to avoid the crash when the car turned off the street.

The motorcycle was badly damaged as result of the collision, but Funnre's car was practically undamaged.

Solle was taken to the Silverton hospital where it was said his injuries would not prove serious.
