

FOREST LANDS HEARINGS SOON

Classification Planned to Designate Areas for Reforestation

Hearings on the proposed classification of reforestation lands in Columbia, Washington and Yamhill counties will be held before one or more members of the Oregon state board of forestry on September 22, 23 and 24, according to a statement issued Saturday by State Forester L. V. Cross.

The purpose of these meetings is to give not only the owners of the lands involved but any interested party the opportunity to present arguments either for or against the classification of any particular tract.

It is then the duty of the commission to review the records and issue a final order either for or against the classification of any or all the lands. Should the decision be for classification, the assessor is notified and he then must place the lands upon a separate reforestation tax roll.

The lands then become subject to all provisions of the law on annual forest fee of five cents per acre, together with a 12 1/2 per cent yield tax of the gross yield at the time of the crop is harvested.

In making up lists of lands for classification, care has been taken to include only lands that clearly come under the provisions of the law. Those that do not now contain any merchantable forest values but are chiefly valuable for forest crop production.

Already one hearing has been held under the reforestation law, that being in Clatsop county last February, at which time nearly 100,000 acres were considered for classification.

REPAIR OF DAMAGED DIRIGIBLE STARTED

must be swung down from the top of the dirigible to apply glue and paint to the patch.

Meanwhile, refueling operations were continued and officers estimated the fin repairs would be completed and the ship ready to sail again within three days.

Officers who conducted a party of newspaper men about the dirigible today, minimized the reports that their craft was in danger Thursday afternoon when she was caught in the storm near Quebec and her fabric damaged.

The repairs were effected by a man lying across the rigging inside the envelope. They said, "and there was nothing very difficult about it."

Guster Upheld in Tygh Valley Principal Case

C. A. Howard, state superintendent of public instruction, Saturday upheld the Tygh Valley school board, in dismissing E. D. Stephens, principal of the Tygh Valley school, for conduct unbecoming an instructor.

Word of the success which a former Salem boy, Hubert Lewis, has been making in the army, the last few years has trickled back to Salem, where lives his mother, Mrs. C. I. Lewis.

Little Metchan talk and considerable support for J. H. Meier as an independent contractor has been heard at Forest Grove in recent days, reports Hugh McGilva, News-Times editor, who was in Salem on business Saturday.

V. M. Voorhees and G. M. Fitzchris returned to Seattle, their business the planning and operation of hotels. Mr. Voorhees, as an architect, has learned that a carefully prepared plan, with a clear picture of the exterior of the proposed hotel, aids in promotion of such a project.

This board, as required by statute, has appointed an executive secretary at an annual salary of $7,500, with an office at the capital, bringing the total annual cost of his office to over $10,000.

"With high-salaried directors, administering the nine new departments, numerous high-salaried chief of divisions, and other assistants, the increased expense of the state government would add to the annual budget of thousands of dollars a year, to say nothing of salaries state treasurer without duties. Where, then, is the efficiency of economy?"

"It is a fundamental principle of American government that there must be a system of checks and balances. No officer or department of government should be able to usurp all political power.

"The affirmative argument makes the claim that the cabinet system of government has been thoroughly tried out, among others, in our own federal government for over 140 years, but it also makes the damaging mistake of quoting from President Hoover to the effect that federal reorganization is a necessity for the present administrative system.

Lakeview hotel. There they found him.

Once more the police are seeking Ted Newberry, the erstwhile boss of Moran's whisky bureau, now of St. Joseph, Mo., who was reported to be in Chicago.

Mr. McCormick today said she would give a speech before the republican convention and at that time set forth the views which she is to carry on a politically historic course.

Lewis is formulating the foundation and taxation as dominant issues.

The former democratic senator said he would champion legislation to grant the state authority to determine the alcoholic content of beverages sold within their borders.

It was through Zuta's scheming that Newberry lost his job with the Moran gang and Zuta's friend, Solly Voren, fell heir to it.

Zuta was the first of the 25 "public enemies" listed several weeks ago by the Chicago crime commission to be disposed of, but like all other gangsters, he was executed by gangland instead of the law.

Once killers got their men and slay with dramatic settings. They found Don O'Banion, years back, smiling a greeting amid the blooms of his floral shop.

They found seven of Moran's men in a north Clark street garage, a whisky depot. They lined them up and slaughtered them with machine guns—the St. Valentine day massacre.

CHENEKETS WILL MAKE OUTING PLANS

Plans and final arrangements for the annual outing of the Cheneke club will be made Tuesday night.

The four killers transacted their savage business in the matter of the gangland way. They stalked across the dance floor, bearing aside boys and girls, gliding to the pitter of a mechanical orchestra.

Those who are signed up are W. M. Hamilton, Helen Hamilton, Gladys Perry, Mrs. W. M. Hamilton, A. H. Hoffman, A. H. Julien, Mrs. E. A. Hoffman, Eddy Baldersee, Ben Rickli, and Gladys Miller.

The outing this year will be from August 10 to 24 in the Three Rivers region. Possibility that more than the average crowd of 20 will make the trip was expressed by Ben Rickli, a member of the committee.

SALEM IS HOST TODAY TO TOUR

Stunt Program Scheduled to Start at 3 P. M. at Airport Here

No parking space along the Turner road will be available. Other expenses totaling several hundred dollars have been incurred by the legion which anticipates a large crowd to cover the costs.

The flyers will be entertained here over tonight and Monday morning will take off to the next town. The tour started Tuesday morning at Vainover, Wash., and will be completed this week at Port Angeles, Wash.

The local committee in charge of arrangements includes Benriet C. Small, general chairman; J. J. Elliott, H. G. Malson, Douglas McKay and King Bartlett.

One Plane Forced Down at Dulles

PORTLAND, Oct. 3.—(AP)—A party of five in a seaplane crashed out of the eastern sky this afternoon and dropped to rest on Swan Island airport for the fifth night stop of the Pacific northwest air tour.

Only one plane failed to arrive. Miss Virginia Ogden, Seattle, was forced down twice on her flight from Pendleton. With her second forced landing at The Dalles, she sent word to Swan Island officials she was leaving her plane and taking a bus to Portland.

Tex Rankin and Miss Dorothy Hester, stunt program headliners, were forced down at Hood River by lack of fuel.

The routine program of outside and inside loops, intricate rolls and turns and parachute jumps got under way shortly after the last planes had arrived. More than 20,000 spectators were on the island and on the high cliffs near it.

Additional features of the program included the appearance of Lieutenant Basil B. Smith in his speed plane which flew at the recent American circus engine air derby. He gave an exhibition of his plane's speed.

Mechanics will overhaul the motors of the planes tonight and tomorrow the fleet will take off for Tillamook and Salem.

Wine Works in Untenanted Jail; Constable Wroth

HUTCHINSON, Kans., Aug. 3 (AP)—The little town of Turon has not much need of a jail and the lockup usually isn't a lockup at all for it's wide open.

Constable Fran Wroth yesterday noticed a shiny padlock on the door. Finding no one who admitted responsibility, he broke into the jail.

Within he found 50 gallons of fine wine in the making. Verbeck wants to know who has outraged the dignity of the constabulary.

H. L. Mencken to Web Writer of Popular Stories

BALTIMORE, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Announcement of the engagement of Sara Powell Hardt, writer for popular magazines, to Henry L. Mencken, Baltimore author, critic and editor of the American Mercury, was made today by Mrs. John Anton Hardt, Montgomery, Ala., her mother.

The wedding will be September 3, and they will continue to make their home here.

The author of "In Defense of Women" has been known for two decades, along with his literary associate, George Jean Nathan, New York theater critic, as almost professional bachelor. He will be 50 years old September 12.

Mr. Miller will be in charge of all engineering and planning work; Mr. Toussang will head the construction, maintenance and installation departments, and Mr. Prince will be in charge of the traffic operating department handling calls.

COMMUNISTS PLAN RIVER BARRICADE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Plans of communists to block the Stung Treng river and thus force the United States gunboat Palos to remain in the upper reaches of the stream in the vicinity of Chongsha were reported today to the navy department.

The gunboat, laden with Americans evacuated from the city last week when it was destroyed by communists and bandit hordes relayed the report to the Yangtze river patrol which in turn communicated it to the navy.

The message said: "Reported if water falls attempt will be made to block river five miles downstream by granite loaded junk."

Another communication said: "Unreliable." Reports told of the execution of 20 rich Chinese, three miles east of the city, where 2,000 communists were supposed to be assembled. It added these apparently were no communists in Chongsha except a small detachment at the northern end.

Your Glasses Should Harmonize With Your Features

Woman all know that a hat or gown may be decidedly becoming to one woman and positively unbecoming to another wearer.

It's the same way with glasses, and for that reason no one should insist on any one particular style of mounting simply because that style "looks good" on some friend or acquaintance.

Optometrists make a specialty of selecting the lenses your eyes require and designing mountings that harmonize perfectly with your features and general appearance. Glasses properly fitted and mounted need never detract from one's appearance—rather, they should make a decided improvement, and often do—by relieving that tired, drawn look about the eyes and "smoothing out" the squint and frown.

Some look best in gold rimmed glasses, others in shell rims, or, perhaps, rimless. Optometrists have all the newest styles in mountings and lenses in both eye-glasses and spectacles, and can supply you with glasses that make you "see good look good."

If you are so unfortunate as to break your glasses—save the pieces and take them to an optometrist. Without re-examination of your eyes, they will duplicate the lenses you have been wearing.

The money you put into optometric service or a pair of good, correctly fitted glasses is well invested—not merely "spent."

WOMAN ON RUSSIAN ARCTIC EXPEDITION

FRITJOF NANSEN LAND (formerly Franz Joseph Land) U. S. E., Aug. 3.—(AP)—In a tiny tent of the northernmost fringe of this remote and desolate Arctic island, which may almost be called the roof of the world, today sat the world's first woman Arctic explorer.

She is Nina Petrovna Demney, Leningrad, and she is just 23 years old. She is a member of the Soviet Arctic expedition that arrived here today from Archangel aboard the Soviet icebreaker Sebey.

Miss Demney, ignoring warnings no woman could survive the rigors and privations of life in the frozen Arctic, insisted upon braving the perils of the polar regions with the veteran male explorers who compose the present expedition led by the well-known professor, Otto Schmidt.

While this dispatch announcing their arrival was being sent by wireless from the Sebey across the icy wastes of the polar ocean to Archangel, Miss Demney, who is second in

M'DONALD ADMITS HE WAS DRINKING

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The hearing of John MacDonald's story of "lies" told in the Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Miller trials in 1916 was concluded before Gov. C. C. Young and the advisory pardon board here late today after MacDonald was closely questioned for more than three hours.

Under questioning by Lieut. Gov. H. L. Cushman, chairman of the board, MacDonald admitted drinking whisky daily for a week before the preparedness day parade July 22, 1916. He said he got out of a San Francisco hospital about a week or ten days before the parade, after having undergone an operation.

MacDonald admitted drinking while testifying as a witness in the Billings and Mooney trials, but said he did not drink until court was over each day.

PULCHRITUDE SHOW ON AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Texas, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The chosen beauties of this country and from foreign nations began matching charms Saturday afternoon in the international pageant of pulchritude.

Hardly had 35 of the 40 contestants been introduced at a ball room luncheon than they were made ready for a float parade on the beach. At the luncheon each received a "diploma" signifying she had been selected to represent her locality in the competition to determine who shall be the 1930 "beauty queen of the universe."

Most of them had short hair and all were dressed in afternoon or sport costumes. A couple or so wore stockings.

No bathing suits will be worn until tomorrow's float parade, and the first title winner, "Miss Universe," will be selected Monday night. For the universal title, Miss United States will contest with seven foreign entries.

Meanwhile a mishap which had caused trouble involving the question as to who should be "Miss United States" was settled by an official that announcement which Florida Edwards would be so designated. She was designated as the official entry by the mayor of San Antonio and although Peggy Schramm had been reported at the headquarters yesterday to have been designated, she had not appeared.
