Games Today Corvallis at Salem, 2:30 p. m., Olinger field. Albany at Eugene.

The Corvallis Chicks, frequent visitors on Olinger field because they are homeless wanderers in the Willamette valley league, will be here for the last time of the season this afternoon. Today's game will, in fact, be the Senators' last home league contest unless they figure in a playoff, which seems likely.

Aside from unconfirmed rumors that Ralph Coleman has signed up some scintillating new talent and may give the Senators a tough battle something the Chicks are capable of doing even though the rumors are true, for that matter—chief interest in this game lies in the fact that if the Senators win it, and the Eugene Townies perchance should lose to Albany, the local team will have the second half title sewed up. Albany and Corvains are already out of the race,

On the other hand if Salem and Eugene both win, the Townies will be in position where they may tie for first place at the end of the second half, but cannot head off Salem, If the Selons lose, they will still be in the thick of the fight.

It was the Chicks whom the Senators handed a no-hit no-run defeat several weeks ago, and prowess since that time, as was two for the Missions.

Public Links Championship His After Victory Over Greene

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. .- (AP)-Bob Wingate, golfing veteran of Jacksonville, brought the public links title to Dixie today for the first time since the competition began nine years ago. He won a thrilling 36-hole final match from Joseph S. Greene, 24 year old Philadelphia textile worker, one up.

Two golf balls rested on the 36th green, one a dead stymie to the other, and it looked like an impossible shot to everyone but Wingate. He needed to sink it to win, Wingate's ball was 18 inches from the cup while Greene's was only a few inches from the Greene played hard and the strain was too much for him. After Wingate passed him on the 27th hole 4 up, he collapsed but was revived at the club house. Hundreds of sweltering fans following the finalists saw plenty of thrilling action, climaxed by the winning putt.

Prospects for a winning team at our own favorite college are particularly bright with most of last year's stars returning. Other schools in the Northwest conference, however, will have better teams than last year, especially College of Idaho, which Willamette has to meet on the Caldwell field. Those Coyotes will be mighty tough, all hopped up over their first night game. Remember the overwhelming defeat they handed a promising Bearcat team two years ago at Boise?

 \sim Little problems such as that are highly speculative at this distance. The thing we're interested in at present is that the athletes will be rolling in less than a month from today -and some cooperation on the part of Salem's public is es-

Eugene and Corvallis, smalltowns than Salem, provide a good many more jobs for stulents, particularly athletes, than Salem does. That, we fear, is largely because Salem has not in the past been alive to the value of having a university in its midst and of that university making a good showing in athletics.

Last year Salem derived a lot of free advertising because Willamette's athletic teams performed as they did. Speaking of advertising, when we were in the press box at Vaughn street last Wednesday before the Amer-ican Legion junior ball game, one of the juvenile reporters from a Portland paper asked us where Silverton was located! There still may be people in Oregon who don't know where Silverton is, but there are mighty few who haven't heard of the place in the last few days.

Getting back to the subject, Salem could do considerably more than it has in cooperating with Willamette in this mat-There has been a big improvement in the last year, reflecting the growing respect for Willamette's athletic standing.

If Bearcat records are to be improved still more, it will come through the enrollment of more good athletes. The football team last fall, while strong, was weak in the matter of reserves. There's no "slush fund" at Willamette; any help that comes to the athletes will have to be in the form of jobs. Here's hoping they're forthcoming.
