Alfalfa markets strengthened somewhat during the week end-ing August 12. Offerings continued light due to a holding tendency generally prevalent among producers. Demand improved considerably with inreased credit to dairymen on the Pacific coast and further drought damage in the central western producing sections, according to the Weekly Alfalfa Hay Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. A wide area from the middle

Atlantic states westward to the Mississippi valley has had the driest growing season on record, while the shortage of rainfall for June and July in some south central states was far greater than for any previous year of which records are available, Pacific coast alfalfa markets strengthened somewhat with reports of drought in central and eastern parts of the country and a broader demand, due to improved credit conditions in dairy industry of that section. Los Angeles quotations advanced nary. about $1.00 per ton during the Temporary Dearth week, Although dairymen offer- Of Potatoes Noted ed a good outlet, the strength was largely due to a holding tendency on part of growers in the Antelope and Imperial valleys where prices were forced up 50c per on. Fertilizer interests continued to take considerable hay at prices ranging from $15.00-16.00 per ton, delivered to citrus growers. Alfalfa comparable to U. S. No. 2 was offered delivered to dairymen at about the same price; U. S. No. 1 alfalfa was quoted basis current sales at Los Angeles August 11 at $18.00-19.00; U. S. No. at $17.00-18.00; U. S.
