VAN LEAR BLACK OFFICIALLY DEAD

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Van Lear Black, publisher, capitalist and world filer, who disappeared into the night from his yacht on August 18, was legally adjudged to be dead today after a hearing, and his will, disposing of an estate of more than $3,000,000, was admitted to probate.
The presence in court of an attorney for Van Lear Black, Jr., the eldest son, and two minor children of the publisher, who asked for a delay in recognizing the instrument, indicated the possibility that an attempt to break the will might be made, but none would discuss this.

Captain John N. Kelly, of the yacht Sabalo, a steward and Mr. Black's valet, Percy Sellers, testified they believed he had fallen overboard accidentally while sitting on the rail of the yacht, but the three judges of the orphan court, who conducted the hearing, ruled only that the fact of death had been established and that the will should be admitted.
