Model Cannery in Minnesota Forecasts Development Due Here Later

cent country covering a radius of about 30 miles. This plant has a larger daily production of canned vegetable products than any other plant in existence.

Sanitation Almost Beyond Belief
"So clean," said Mr. Stevens, "that a lady in evening dress could follow the full length of the canning process and not soil the most filmy gown. There is no odor and there is no waste. Livestock is kept to consume the refuse that is not sold to the farmers for fertilizer. The refuse is taken in carloads from the factory platform every 40 minutes. Workers are prepared to enter the work rooms even as a doctor is prepared to enter the operating room."

"Do you have the vision that come to the reporter if this can be done in Minnesota in one and a half years, what could not be expected in the Willamette Valley?" Mr. Stevens in speaking of the west said there "is no place like it in the world." Then he sketched visions of crowded districts with factories closed and coldest winter coming, and compared it with the wealth of food, fuel, room and climate which is the west's.

With fruit and vegetables in such abundance, with long canning seasons, and with excellent canning conditions the vision for Reid Murdoch and company plant in Rochester, hundreds of visitors call every day. Last Friday when Mr. Stevens was there, there were 700 registered for that day. That many guests calling on one Salem industry would mean something to the city.

Cannery Future Declared Assured
The future of the canning is assured in the mind of Mr. Stevens, for he said, "No home is equipped to can vegetables properly. Heat at 40 to 70 minutes at 240 degrees is necessary for protection. Homes can't do this. And then the only way for distant points to get fresh vegetables and fruit is through it being canned. Vegetables shipped from Seattle to New York City are not 'fresh' vegetables."
Mr. Stevens and Mr. Madden leave Salem this morning. Mr. Stevens for the east and Mr. Madden for his home in Seattle. These two men have been associated in the company for the past 45 years, the length of time Mr. Stevens has been with the company, and also, added Mr. Stevens laughing, the length of time he has been married and "to the same girl all the time."

entered as an independent opposed to the world court and league of nations. His political strength was an unknown quantity.
Mrs. O'Neill received a setback even before she filed. State Senator A. S. Cuthbertson, republican dry leader, today said he could continue to support Mrs. McCorkin.
"I note that Dr. Safford is quoted as having said the Anti-Saloon league will probably endorse Mrs. O'Neill," Cuthbertson said. "To follow such a course is unthinkable for the reason that every dry vote for Mrs. O'Neill will be a vote for Senator Lewis."

State Urged To Post Reward For Sutherland

Lane county officials, through Henry Myers, superintendent of the Oregon state penitentiary, Friday urged Governor Norblad to offer a reward of approximately $500 for the apprehension of Vic Sutherland, alleged Marcola moonshiner, who is wanted for the slaying of two deputy sheriffs in Lane county. Two other deputy sheriffs were wounded by Sutherland.
Myers reported that Lane county already has offered a reward of $500 for Sutherland's apprehension.
State Treasurer Kay informed Governor Norblad that he was opposed to offering the reward for the reason that it would establish a dangerous precedent.

VETERANS DEMAND DRY LAW'S REPEAL

was reelected surgeon general; George A. Henderson, Newark, N. J., health advocate general; R. B. Handy, Kansas City, quartermaster general, and Rabbi Emanuel J. Jack, Yonkers, N. Y., national chaplain.
Vote Close on Repeal Resolution
The demand for dry law repeal was adopted by the convention by a vote of 875 to 437 after it had set aside an adverse report by the resolutions committee. When the adverse report was returned, the convention floor became a scene of pandemonium.
Several parliamentary moves were made in an effort to have the resolution tabled, the committee report reversed or the question changed to place "retention" of the prohibition law before the states in a referendum. All were defeated and the direct question of repeal placed. It carried by a majority of more than 200.

Other resolutions adopted by the convention today were those petitioning the president and congress to have the "Star Spangled Banner" made the national anthem; protesting the admission to citizenship of any person unwilling to take the oath of allegiance as at present outlined; requesting national authorities to deport all habitual criminals and undesirable aliens and urging the immigration officials to examine more stringently aliens seeking entry into the United States.

WHITNEY SAYS HE DIDN'T TEAR BOOK

SEATTLE, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Former assistant prohibition administrator William M. Whitney denied on the stand in the Lyle bribery and conspiracy trial here today statements of government witness that he tore a page from the "black book" seized from Roy Olmsted, former liquor king, or that he saw any notation in the book indicating bribe payments to himself, Roy Lyle or Thomas P. Revelle.
Lyle, former prohibition administrator, is one of the four defendants with Whitney in the trial but Revelle, former United States attorney here, is not a defendant but has been mentioned frequently in the trial in connection with his campaign for governor while he held the federal office.
Also denying he tipped off the Olmsted ring to the Woodmont beach raid which led to their conviction in the rum running trials here, Whitney testified a police prowler tipped off Olmsted before a prohibition agents raid on the Olmsted stables in 1925.

Serious Blaze Now Spreading In Idaho Woods

LEWISTON, Idaho, Sept. 5.—(AP)—A fire which started in slashings on state timber land and spread into the Selway national forest on Settler creek, ten miles north of Kootenai, was raging uncontrolled tonight.
The fire covered at least 1000 acres of valuable red fir and cedar pole timber leased by the Kootenai Cedar company. Three hundred fighters were on the line, but breezes and powder dry conditions were favorable to the blaze. The blaze was started Wednesday by a cigarette. It was believed and was not considered dangerous until it spread into the Selway forest. It is the largest blaze in commercial timber in this region this year.

Motorman Held Up, Thug Then Gives him gun

SPOKANE, Sept. 5.—(AP)—This is Motorman M. G. Smith's story and he says he has evidence to uphold it:
Late tonight, Smith recounted at police headquarters, a man boarded his car, poked a pistol into his ribs and remarked: "I haven't eaten for three days; shell out."
Smith "shelled out" 50 cents. As he turned to leave, the hungry one handed the motorman his pistol. Smith took the weapon, bounced it off the holdup's head and then watched him break for a get away. As he ran through the darkness Smith took a shot at him and missed.
The motorman brought the pistol, with one cartridge fired, to the police station.

As is always the case in the aftermath of disaster, whether the catastrophe be due to fire or flood, wind or earthquake, there were during the first paralyzed period after the hurricane passed some instances of looting. But today the city was under martial law and the relief work went forward in the chaotic city with perfect order.
"Because others" could not be spared and in order to utilize every available agency in at least 1000 cases, the government reconstruction program that will have to be put into effect to rebuild the city, prisoners were set to work today clearing the debris from the streets.

BIG MATT REFUSES GAME BOARD POST

The unusual happened Friday when M. R. Matthews of The Dalles refused to accept an appointment by Governor Norblad on the state game commission to succeed L. A. Wright of Union, chairman of the commission, who had resigned. Soon after the governor had announced the resignation of Wright and the appointment of Matthews came a press dispatch saying that Matthews would not accept.
Pressure of personal business was the only reason given for the resignation of Wright. Matthews, whom the governor attempted to appoint, is a traveling salesman and an active sportsman.
When informed, that Matthews had refused to accept the office, Governor Norblad declared that he probably exercised good judgment and had escaped a lot of grief.
The savior himself would not be able to please a selection of the Multnomah county sportsmen," Governor Norblad said.
The governor said he would not appoint another successor to Wright until such time as he receives official notification that Matthews has refused to accept the office.

TWO SUSPECTS IN CONLON CASE HELD

One, Miguel Garcia, Also Declared Slayer of His Wife Friday

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Two suspects in the double murder of Lois Kentle, Los Angeles co-ed and her fiancé, Francis Conlon, at Ensenada, Mexico, August 26, were arrested today, one while his hands still bore traces of blood from the killing of his wife here a few hours previously.
Slender clues connected the two with the double murder, principally their vague stories of their recent whereabouts and the possession by one of a detailed newspaper story of the Ensenada tragedy. The two are Miguel Garcia, 34, of Los Angeles, and Harry Harmon, 23 years old, oil worker of Valley Center, Kansas.

A woman's screams led to Garcia's capture. J. B. Machiak, working near the Garcia home, heard the cries and ran to the house, overpowering Garcia, as he attempted to flee. Twenty-three stab wounds were counted on the woman's body.
Machiak's Remembrance
She was slashed to death in a manner similar to the stabbing of Conlon and Miss Kentle, who were slain apparently while asleep in their tent on the Ensenada beach. Authorities said the killings were the work of a maniac and that Garcia fitted description of "mad Mexican" sought since the deaths of the young couple.

At police headquarters Garcia was subjected to a severe questioning. Police said they obtained information which might prove important but declined to reveal it.
Harmon was taken from his automobile by officers at Huntington park, a suburb, in company with Miss Clytia Conine, formerly of Valley Center and now living at Venice, California. Beside Harmon was found a week-old newspaper folded to display an account of the Ensenada murders.
Harmon admitted he had been in Tijuana, Mexico, 70 miles north of Ensenada and had been reading the paper in hope of solving the crime. Authorities said that while Harmon owned the car he was driving, it was not fully paid for and a charge of suspicion of grand theft was made against him. Miss Conine was released.

MELON THEFT ENDS FATALLY FOR YOUTH

DAVENPORT, Wash., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Thirteen pellets from a shotgun were found tonight in the body of Shirley Brooks, 16, who was drowned in the Spokane river after fleeing from a melon patch he and four other boys raided.
Dewey Hayter, whose patch the boys raided, said he fired his shotgun in the air four or five times to frighten the raiders. Brooks apparently ran to the river and was swept away by the current.
Hayter was not held, but R. M. Dye, Lincoln county prosecutor, ordered an inquest for tomorrow morning.
George Sims, 15, one of Brooks' companions, also was hit by bird shot.

Better Weather Aids Battle on Forest Blazes

favorable progress in controlling fires in western Washington today.

The only new fire of any considerable proportions reported was a slashings fire which threatened the camp of the Mount Vernon Logging company near Mount Vernon, Wash. Twenty men were fighting the fire, which was reported burning toward Green Timber.
Large crews were still battling several fires in the south central part of the state, but forest officials believed the flames could be held within present lines if favorable weather continued.
