

BRITISHER FOR DISARMAMENT

Opposes Briand Statement That Security Pledge Must Precede

"In our profound belief," he said, "security and disarmament are closely interlocked and nothing can make our peoples truly safe from war until a treaty of general disarmament has been made. Security is impossible if competitive military preparations continue as they are going on today. After all there is none of us who in his heart does not know that of all security measures disarmament is in itself the most important."

The British foreign minister insisted on the idea that only disarmament is consonant with article eight of the League of Nations covenant obliging members to reduce their naval and military establishments by international treaties.
"Reduction by individual powers," by small groups of powers, or in respect of certain forces only, do not fulfill the pledge we have made," said Mr. Henderson. "We hope that the world conference on disarmament may be summoned by the council for next year and that within the measurable future we shall take a decisive step toward fulfillment of the undertakings which bind us all."
Briand, asserting that in the French view absolute security must precede disarmament, also pleaded for reductions of armed forces. He expressed a belief that the naval negotiations now going on with Italy would "complete," and be added to the agreement of London. He said he hoped the Franco-Italian agreement would add something further, we hope the trust toward promoting the stabilization and peace of the world.

KENT SHOEMAKER NEW TRAFFIC HEAD

American Legion, secretary of the Hood River chamber of commerce, secretary of the Hood River hospital association, secretary of the Hood River Masonic lodge, secretary of the mid-Columbia chamber of commerce, manager of the Hood River Credit association, and manager of the Hood River branch of the Oregon state motor association.
Helped organize Guard Company
In 1916, when company 12, Oregon coast artillery, was organized in Hood River, Shoemaker was one of the most active proponents of the state guard unit. He became first sergeant of this military organization, which was mobilized for world war service the following year. Shoemaker was detailed by the government for special duty at the Presidio, California, and following this returned to duty at the mouth of the Columbia where his company received its preliminary training.
Mr. Shoemaker helped organize the Hood River Ski club and the Hood River Rag Rats, and always has taken an interest in promoting winter sports in the Mt. Hood district.

Paving Resumed By City's Plant

The Salem paving plant resumed operations yesterday after shutting down the previous day on account of the rains. The plant at Stayton remained idle yesterday, however, if there are no rains tonight it will probably open again today. The Salem plant is pouring on the 12th street job, and a stretch near Four Corners.

A corporation has been formed to manufacture face powder from an extensive deposit of clay in Georgia and Alabama.

Mickey Mouse NOTES

It has been quite a while since we had members of our own club give entertainment, but we sure had some real entertainment last Saturday.

Those who entertained with clever songs were Rita May Hill, and Dorothy Thomas, and last but not least, the five year old actor of renowned fame; little David Smith singing for us better than ever. They were all accompanied by David's mother, Mrs. Smith.

Now that we've started the fall season with good entertainment, let's have more of it.

M M C

The program this Saturday includes:
"Man Trouble" featuring Milton Sills and Dorothy Mackaill.
Fanchon & Marco's "Wild and Woolly" Ideas.
Chap. of "Fatal Warning"; "Into Thin Air."
Krazy Kat in "Jazz Rhythm."

M M C

The Screen Mirror is out and after the show Saturday any boys that are interested in selling them meet me after the show in Chief Dow's office.

M M C

Every Friday night at 6:00 and running until half past six, station KMTR puts on a Mickey Mouse program. The station is situated in Hollywood and broadcasts on 570 Kc. or 526 Meters.

M M C

Are you a boy and do you play an instrument? If so come to the Fox Elsinore Saturday at 11:00 and register for the boy's band, under the direction of Bill Brazeau and Prof. Fouzy. So far we have 12 members in it. We want 20 to 25—so come on in. It's a great opportunity to learn to play good music.

M M C

When people are appointed for positions, they are usually people who have done honor work in something. Get on the honor roll. We have one member on it this week; Dick Benton.

CLOVER SEED NOW IN GREAT DEMAND

Growers Meet at Rickreall and Learn Midwest is Light; Higher Prices

Clover seed is one crop that is worth more money this year than a year ago and farmers are finding a ready market for their seed at the present time. A meeting of clover seed growers was held at Rickreall Wednesday evening at which time it was announced that an eastern wholesaler was bidding for two or three carloads of red and Alsike clover from Polk county.

Crop reports indicate that the yield in most of the middle western states is short of a year ago and that the price is materially better. Farmers are interested in getting a good price for at least one of their crops this year so they resolved to get together one or more carloads of red and Alsike clover for direct shipment to this eastern wholesaler. Samples will be sent for bids.

After a thorough discussion of the clover seed situation the growers passed a motion authorizing County Agent J. R. Beck to secure samples from the different farmers and forward them for bids. It was made clear that any farmer having either red or Alsike clover who was interested in having a bid on his seed could submit a sample to Mr. Beck. These samples should be sent in right away along with a statement as to the number of pounds that would be available.

Farmers speaking at the meeting Wednesday night stated that their whole object was to get whatever the seed was worth at this time and that if they received a better offer from another source they would not be bound through having submitted a sample of their seed.

SPECULATION RIFE ON JUSTICE CHOICE

Tucker said he is now in a receptive mood.

Appointment of a circuit judge to succeed the late Justice McBride would give the governor two appointments.

Officials made it plain that the members of the state supreme court were taking no part in the appointment of Justice McBride's successor, and none of them has conferred with Governor Norblad.

No eastern Oregon man, as far as could be determined here, has been mentioned in connection with the appointment.

SALEM'S LARGEST THEATRES MERGED

plans yesterday, it is certain that formation of the holding company is prelude to inducement for some large theatre chain to take over or lease the two houses. FOX, which now holds a lease on the Elsinore until October 1, may be the chain to assume both the local houses. The holding company is also negotiating with other big chains.

Eight men are named in the incorporation articles: J. G. Helzel, Hassel Gearhart and Walter Fuhrer, and the following as board of directors: Harry Hawkins, T. A. Roberts, Frank

Bits of Personal News Gleaned About Interesting People

Salem's the better place to live, believes Glen Eddings, who is glad to get back to this city from Eugene, where he has been working a short time. He is engineer with the Southern Pacific and was stationed here prior to going to the Lane county metropolis.

Mrs. D. B. Wagner of St. Paul, Minn., was a visitor in Salem last week. But that's not the real news end of this little bit of information. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sinks, whom she visited here, have received a postcard, bearing postmark of Saturday 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, saying that she drove the 2,300 miles from Salem to St. Paul in four and a half days. That's fast traveling; folks usually take seven or nine days and it takes the train three days and three night to cover the distance. She left Salem at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and arrived in St. Paul Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Tourist travel has been the lightest for several years since Labor day, according to Goins, managers of the popular roadside stand on the Jefferson highway. During July and August, travel was almost as heavy as last year, but since Labor day the slump has been marked.

One business which seems unaffected by the depression is the art service sold to newspapers and department stores for display advertising use. Because sales are down newspapers and stores are trying every means to create sales and a better offer for advertising is increasing demand. G. Quilliam who represent the Meyer-Both company from Chicago brought this encouraging word as he visited customers in Salem yesterday.

Spears, William S. Walton and Frank Bligh.
Reduction in operating costs is given as main reason for the new move, one of those most interested said last night. This will be the case, whether General Theatres operates the house itself or leases to a chain.
