Margaret Cosper Sees Europe In Company With Anne Shannon Monroe; Relates Adventures

Garfield School Principal Enthusiastic Over Historic Spots Viewed

By OLIVE M. DOAK
We sat before a great wide window, Miss Margaret Cosper and I, and to see Europe through Miss Cosper's eyes I found a very delightful experience.

This tall, slender, vivacious woman, whose long experience has been able to carry out the plans for Garfield school has permeated her every look and attitude with the spirit and interest of the youth with whom she has associated, made Europe more across the stage of Marion Square in most interesting fashion.

In the past Miss Cosper had planned several trips to Europe but was unable to carry out these plans before the World war occurred. Following that she rather lost her interest in such a trip. Then came an invitation from Ann Shannon Monroe to Miss Cosper asking her to join Miss Monroe and Miss Betty Walton, to be on a trip to Europe in a summer trip to Europe.

May 25 of the past spring, Miss Cosper left Salem to join the Monroe party, and May 30 found the party of four on the high seas on the S. S. Gripsholm, bound for their first stop, Gothenburg, Sweden.

Meets Reporters
"There were reporters to meet the boat at Gothenburg," said Miss Cosper. "They came out on the tender with the inspector who met us in the harbor. They had heard about the celebrities on board, eight multi-millionaires, a Swedish singer, a sculptor, and Miss Monroe, an American writer."

"Many such special attentions came our way," smiled Miss Cosper, "because of Miss Monroe. Either people knew about her before the war or else when they became aware that she was a writer there were many special invitations extended our party in compliment to her."

Gothenburg is built on rocks, and the way that vegetation has been made to grow there is wonderful said Miss Cosper. The city is like all Sweden, astonishingly clean. Not even scraps of paper are to be found on the streets which are as clean as the floors of a home. If any one is seen throwing any sort of waste upon the street, even an empty envelope, he will certainly be arrested and fined, and the offense is not repeated. Law there is not an idle threat, and the Swedish people are very proud of the fact that their officials are free from graft and that public offices are taken as service to the country and office holders.

Miss Cosper found the Scandinavian people most pleasing. They permeate their countries

ONE DISTRICT LINE CHANGED

Elementary School Boundary List Announced; aid To new Families

Change in boundaries between the Park and Washington school marks the principal difference in the district lines for the nine elementary schools in Salem for the school year 1930-31. Under the new lines between Park and Washington, several more blocks are included in the Park territory because some residents of the Washington district had so requested last year.

For the benefit of newcomers to the city, and those residents of the districts where changes have been made, boundaries for all the schools in the city are announced:

ENGLEWOOD SCHOOL—Beginning at the north boundary of school district No. 21 on the Southern Pacific railway, following railway to D street, east on D to 15th, south on 15th to A, east on A to 20th and Center, south to Chemeketa, east on Chemeketa to district boundary.

GARFIELD SCHOOL—Beginning at Willamette river east on E street to Capitol, south on Capitol to Court, west on Court to Bellevue, west on Bellevue to Willamette river.

GRANT SCHOOL—Beginning at Willamette river east on E street to railroad track, north on railway to Tule road, west on Tule road to Fairgrounds road, southwest on Fairgrounds road to Madison, west on Madison to Fourth, south on Fourth to Norway, west on Norway to River.

HIGHLAND SCHOOL—Beginning at Willamette river and Norway street, east to Fourth, north on Fourth to Madison, east on Madison to Fairgrounds road, northeast on Fairgrounds road to Tule road, east on Tule road to S. P. railway, north on railway to district boundary.

LINCOLN SCHOOL—Beginning at Willamette river on Bellevue, east to Church, south on Church to creek, along creek to Winter, south on Winter and through Bush's pasture to Davidson st., southeast on Davidson to Howard, east on Howard to High.

After Holland and its interesting people the travelers returned to England. Two weeks were spent in London, Oxford, Eaton, the Shakespearean country, the lake country and rural England. The latter proved most delightful to Miss Cosper.

Then came a visit to Scotland, Arre and the Bobby Burns country, lured the visitors as did Glasgow and the Trossachs country, where Sir Walter Scott brought Rob Roy and all his interesting kin and kin into existence.

Edinburgh, Scotland, quite captivated the heart of Miss Cosper with its glorious beauty. Most of the large cities of Europe have built war memorial buildings, and the most beautiful one found in Miss Cosper's travels was Edinburgh castle in Edinburgh.

From Edinburgh the travelers took the "Flying Scotman" which travels at the rate of 100 miles an hour to London. Here they embarked for the United States on the S. S. Lafayette. "It was a superb boat," said Miss Cosper. "Each state room was provided with a shower. The decorations were all Tudoristic, and the boat only carries first class passengers. As for cost it was less than the S. S. Gripsholm which carried the party to Europe."

Were they a gay party coming home? "Well, no," said Miss Cosper. "You see we had all been so many places and seen so much that on the homeward trip we were all inclined to just sit and discuss what we had seen and done."

There was only one thing that drew the slightest word of complaint from Miss Cosper, and that was only in fun—the cobblestones which pave the streets and walks of Europe she would sometimes have covered with anything smooth, even Oregon blacktop. "But this was only after hours of tramping and then not seriously for in truth the cobblestone walk is beautiful."
