Willamette and O. S. C. Elevens all set for Opening Fray

Little. Fullback, is Only Sophomore in 11 Picked By Schissler

CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 19-(AP)-One sophomore will be in the starting lineup for Oregon State when the Beavers meet the Willamette university Bearcats here Saturday night in the first O. S. C. game of the year and the first night football game of the season, at 8:15 p. m.

Paul J. Schissler, coach, announced today Frank Little, sensational fullback of last year's freshman team, will start in that position on the varsity. Ten lettermen will fill the remaining berths at the start but Schissler expects that most of his squad will see action before the end of Interest in the game apparently exceeds that of any previous opener. This is attributed to Willamette's conference championship last year and partly to interest in night football.

Thursday night the Orangemen went through their first scrimmage practice and came out with only a few minor injuries. None of the injuries were serious enough to keep any of the players out of the game. This morning the Beaver gridsters went through another strenuous scrimmage to top off the play of the night before.

This year's Oregon State team will be considerable heavier and faster than it has been for some time. The Orange line will average around 195 pounds with a backfield averaging about 185 pounds.

Coach Schissler has said very little concerning the prospects of his team. By holding practice behind closed gates Schissler has kept the Beaver team more or less of a secret.

BEARCAT TEAM Salem High Grid Squad to Report Monday; Prospect For Season is Promising

From all sides come claims of the "first night football game in last schools to open, Holly ex-Oregon." Portland claims it for the high school tilt in that city tonight, O. S. C. claims it for the game with Willamette at Corvallis tonight; and the University of Willamette there a week hence.

The fact is, there was an unsuccessful attempt many years ago under arc lights; and an independent game in Oregon City was played at night last

Portland apparently can rightfully claim the first night interscholastic game as its tilt starts ten will battle for guard positions at 7:30, and the Bearcats will and Anderson, veteran center, will play in the first intercollegiate again be pivot man.
