

Thirteen Year old "Dr. Clark" Wins Governor's Derby

CLOSE FINISH ADDS THRILLS

Horse Which Once Beat Zev Shows Heels in Salem Day Feature Race

The premier event of yesterday's racing card at the state fair, the Governor Norblad derby, always the feature of Salem Day, was won by Dr. Clark, Clarence Belcher up. The time was 1:52 for the mile and a sixteen-cent race. Dr. Clark took the lead just after the break-away and held it throughout, though Sporting Vein finished but a half-length behind. Out of 25 entries, 11 horses started, and the event was easily the most brilliant of the afternoon program.

After securing the purse of $70 which was swung with ribbons over the track, Jockey Belcher brought his mount in front of the grandstand where Miss Eleanor Norblad, the daughter of Governor Norblad, placed the floral horseshoe on Dr. Clark's neck and Mrs. Ray Hartman presented Belcher with a handsome loving cup, the award of Hartman Bros. Dr. Clark is a horse with a history. He is 13 years old, a beautiful chestnut gelding. He is owned by A. Brundage of Los Angeles and has a long record of racing successes, including an even break with the famous Zev in two races, each winning one. Jockey Belcher was married in Walla Walla just recently and his bride was a happy spectator of his victory.

In the harness races the time in the 2:08 pace showed the slow condition of the track, the best time being 2:15 1/2. In this race Silver Gale won the first two heats and Dorothy Patch the third. The gelding Blonde, like Silver Gale, sired by the great Cavalier Gale, one of the famous racers of former years, won the 2:25 trot in one-two-three order with marked ease.

Sixteen Start in Mile Race
The closing race was a three-year old running event, one mile. The finish was the closest of any event of the day, the lead horses being closely bunched. Will Colnett took the $500 purse from the field of 16 starters out of 34 entries. The time was 1:45 1/4.

The grandstand was completely filled save for a few box seats, for the Wednesday performance. While the air was cool enough for coats in the track, the quite good show Ashley Cook's band furnished music, and there were many diverting interludes on the platform in the quarter-stretch, with dance numbers by Barbara Barnes school pupils, and some clever acts by professional entertainers. The crowd got quite a kick out of the performance of the trained bears who are qualified for "big time" in vaudeville.

SALEM'S GRID FANS INVITED TO EUGENE

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Sept. 24.—(Special)—The people of Salem, as special guests of the city of Eugene and the University of Oregon, have been invited to the Friday celebration of the fall state football game between the University of Oregon and Willamette university on Hayward field at 8:15. While the civic attractions will be enjoyed by many visitors in the city, the night grid contest, and the first in this end of the valley, will be the headliner of the program.

Many people in this vicinity, unable to attend football contests Saturday afternoons, will welcome this opportunity of watching Dr. Clarence W. Spears' first Oregon football team in action. The Webfoots already have vanquished Pacific 20 to 0, and will be in mid-season form for the tussle with the Bearcats.

Reports from cities where night football has made its debut declare that the game under the arc lights is decidedly more spectacular than in the afternoon. A more brilliant atmosphere and the unusualness of the increasing conditions have tended to increase the spirit of the game. It is declared Oregon and Willamette this year will meet on more equal terms than in the past. While Oregon struggled through to a slow 20 to 0 victory over Pacific, the Bearcats traditional rival in their own conference, Willamette downed the Badgers easily last season 26 to 0.

Jean Miller, two-year-old Salina, Kas., child was kept alive 12 days and nights by artificial respiration.

How Doc Spears Works the Webfoots

Plenty of hard scrimmage and tackling practices were doled out to the University of Oregon football men under the command of "Doc" Spears. The squad will be in good condition for the Oregon-Willamette football game which is to be held on Hayward field Friday night at 8:15, September 26.

"Comparative scores favor Willamette to defeat Oregon Friday night." That's the story that is being broadcast from Eugene this week, and while the purpose is to drum up interest in the Webfoot-Bearcat game, the basis is true. It just goes to show how futile this "comparative scores" gag is.

Oregon beat Pacific 20 to 0 last Saturday; Willamette beat Pacific 26 to 0 about 11 months ago. If you disregard the fact that it was last season, and that Pacific has a new coach and some new blood, it sounds pretty good.

About a year ago, though, we published some weird figures along that line, predicting what Willamette would do to its northwest conference enemies, and the funny thing was that with the exception of the most extravagant computation of all, it worked out pretty nearly right.

All we have to go on just now is the O. S. C.-Willamette and Oregon-Pacific games, and they give us no minor premise. Oregon beat Pacific 20 to 0 but Pacific didn't make a first down; O. S. C. beat Willamette 48 to 0 but the Bearcats made plenty of yardage, including one drive that took them to the 13-yard line and it took a pair of calipers to determine that they didn't have a first down there. And at that, Willamette's offense was only a shadow of its former self.

The Webfoots were all tired out when they played Pacific; they may get going and run up a score on Willamette. Then again, the Bearcats may hold 'em. Experts who have seen 'em both say Oregon State right now is a lot stronger than Oregon.

The athletic troubles of Eugene high are not yet at an end. Now Coach Weber has balked at being nominally in charge and letting Shy Huntington and Skeet Mansur do the actual coaching, so Bert Kerns takes his place. Or so the story goes.

Here in Salem, where Eugene athletes are none too popular, we might say indignantly at an apparent subterfuge to get around the new rule of the state association requiring coaches to be full time teachers. But what's the odd? Eugene is living up to the letter of the rule, the purpose of which, we believe, is to have a full time faculty man responsible for players' actions. Anyway, our supply of athletic indignation was all used up long ago.

Word comes from Centralia that Ernie Arthur won a wrestling match from Curley Woods, holder of the coast middleweight belt, but the clipping fails to state whether or not Ernie got the belt.

Speaking of sportsmen, where do you class Wrigley? Has to have a winner—one National league pennant and one near victory won't do so McCarthy gets the bounce and Hornsby is in. Hornsby will do as good a job as any man can, but we have a feeling McCarthy has been doing the same. Any way it's a long shot from Wrigley to Sir Thomas Lipton.

Veterans Looked for at Chemawa Mostly Missing But new Material Good

CHEMAWA, Sept. 23.—Instead of the veteran team that was expected at Chemawa this fall the Redskins' lineup is only a skeleton of what it might have been. Only three men were lost through graduation but for various reasons only three regulars are now out in suits. Two backfield men and one line man constitute the list of regulars around whom Coach Downie will have to mould a new team.

The others have just failed to return. Some on account of help needed at home and others for lack of a successful summer financially. At any rate the Indians are not downcast, but 25 or 30 husky boys are working out daily and among them are some mighty fine prospects. The toughest job Coach Downie will have is to fill the places left vacant in the center of his line.

Last year Ike Curley and George Little Light, both 190 pound guards filled those places to a nicety. They were big and fast and fitted into the Indians' style of play perfectly. They were aggressive defensive men and were able leaders in the interference. Till a day or so before the Washington game David Little Swallow, six feet three inches and weighing 190 pounds, was handling the ball at center. At the last minute it was announced he would be ineligible for participation this year because of his age. He became 20 just a couple of weeks too soon. Warren Wilder was on hand and did play against Washington, but the other day he was called home on account of the serious illness of a younger brother. Whether he will return or not is still a question in the Indians' stamping ground. However, the boys are not marking time but are flying at it with might and main and before many games are played it is hoped that they will deliver the goods.

Jones Only Holdover From 1929 Line
William Jones, 180 pound tackle is just like the lone pine tree. He is the only man of the Redskins' 1929 front line who is on hand to claim his job. However, he will not be alone long. George Thompson, 160; Alphonse Hoptowit, 175; Harry Archambault, 155; and Clifford Iron Moccasin, 150, have all the talents of good tackles and one of that quartet should fill the place of Captain James McKay who graduated last year.

Discuss Grid Plans

Coach Clarence W. Spears of the University of California, discussing the problems of the coming football season with Captain Carl Handy, guard, at the first workout of the season.

marked him as a valuable prospect.

Meachem Showing Speed at Fullback
Chemawa is still blessed with a ground gaining fullback. Roy Meachem stands five feet three inches and weighs 135 pounds but he is just that much dynamite on the offense. The way he picks holes and drives through them is a caution. Last season he made about as much yardage as all the other backs put together. Last Saturday against Washington high he appeared to be headed toward an even greater season. He pounded in and outside of tackle all the way from 2 to 62 yards. In spite of his size he is a good defensive man.

John Trotter, Howard Churchill and Grover Sanders are a trio of backfield men who will keep the regulars hustling if they want to keep their positions. Saturday afternoon when the Indians had a real battle among themselves these boys demonstrated that they were in line plunging, ball carrying bounds. All of them are short and stocky but are fast and elusive.

As usual, the Indians are last in filling their schedule and just now it looks like the small-pox. Several dates are open and Manager G. W. Bent is anxious to get them filled.

Schedule:
September 27—Open.
October 3—O. S. C. Rooks at Corvallis.

ALL FAVORITES BUT JONES OUT

Von Elm, in Last Tourney, Loses Heartbreaker To McCarthy

By ALAN GOULD
MERION CRICKET CLUB, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The shades of night again were falling rapidly over the bunkered battleground this evening when George Von Elm of Los Angeles, last survivor of the entire set of "seeded" favorites Maccarty, Bobby Jones, lost to Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr. of New York, in a spectacular battle that went exactly ten extra holes to the 28th, and shattered all endurance records for the American amateur golf championship.

Tied after the first nine holes of the second round match, all square again at the 18th, Von Elm and McCarthy, weary but still game, went to the tenth extra hole still deadlocked.

It was the 48th hole of the day when the first nine holes of the second round match, all square again at the 18th, Von Elm and McCarthy, weary but still game, went to the tenth extra hole still deadlocked.

This was to be Von Elm's last amateur tournament and he was fighting with grim desperation to avoid the jinx that has beset him in the opening day's "sudden death" matches ever since he whipped Bobby Jones in the finals four years ago.

Reversing the situation of a year ago at Pebble Beach where the great Jones was the principal victim of an upset, Bobby came through with flying colors today to win both his 18-hole contests and enter the third round while all seven of the remaining seeded contestants were handed knockout wallop.

In the manner in which they will meet tomorrow at 36 holes, the quarter finalists present this lineup:

Gene Homans of Englewood, N. J., former Princeton star, and Paul Lehman of Chicago, western amateur champion and former big ten titleholder.
Charles Seaver, 19 year old Los Angeles youth, a qualifier in the tournament for the first time, versus William F. (Billy) McPhail, Boston star and an ex-caddy.

Maurice McCarthy, Jr., the "dawn to dusk" champion, and metropolitan titleholder, vs. Jess Sweetser, ex-British as well as American champion.
Bobby Jones vs. Fay Coleman, 25 year old sharpshooter from Los Angeles.

PORTLAND WINS IN BIG SCOTCH FIGHT

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Hank McDonald, Portland's lanky kid pitcher, let the visiting San Francisco Seals down with four hits and won the opening game of the series, 7 to 3, here tonight before a small crowd that shivered in the cold.

A double and three singles in the sixth by the Beavers gave them two runs and broke a 2-all tie. Three runs on three hits in the eighth put the contest away. The Seals got one in the ninth in a delayed rally.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Los Angeles ..... 2 6 0

SEATTLE, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Oakland ..... 17 1 1

Louisville Wins First Battle in "Little Series"

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 24.—(AP)—A six run rally in the fourth inning, resulting from four timely hits combined with two errors and as many walks, gave Louisville, American association champions, a 7 to 3 victory over the Rochester Red Wings, international tag team standard bearers, in the first game of the little world series here today.

Local Girl Will Do 'Chute Drop

A Salem girl, aged 18, will take a parachute drop at the Salem airport Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock under the direction of "Wild Bob" West. It was announced Wednesday. The girl's name has not been announced. All of the afternoon jumpers this week have been local people. West himself does an illuminated jump each night at 9 o'clock. Crowds have been large, West reports.

Seeded net Stars Fall By Wayside

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Youth was served in the quarter finals men's singles of the Pacific southwest tennis championship today, at the expense of three Davis cup players.

Two southern California youths, Keith Gledhill and Ellsworth Vines, the same pair who yesterday eliminated two seeded contenders, figured prominently in the day's performances which left only two ranking entries number 4 and number 7 for tomorrow's semifinal round.

Vines, the tall Pasadena blond, whose chief bid to court fame this summer was his singles championship in the Metropolitan grass court tournament, eliminated Wilmer Allison. His erratic backhand shots notwithstanding, Vines won 5-7, 6-3, 12-10, 7-5.

Gledhill, Stanford university sophomore from Santa Barbara, took the cocksure Sidney Wood into hand in straight sets, 16-2, 6-4, 14-12.

The two international players besides Allison to drop by the wayside, were George Lott, Jr., Chicago and Berkeley Bell, Austin, Texas. Gregory Mangin, from Georgetown university, one of the outstanding young stars from the east was Lott's nemesis. The score was 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

Copies of "Children of the Covered Wagon," a book embracing the five years' work and findings of the Marion county child health demonstration, have been received in Salem this week from the publications department of the commonwealth fund, sponsor of the demonstration health program which ended here last January.

The book contains, in addition to complete statistics on the health activities, an interesting running story account of the plan of public health work and its development. The book has 124 pages, with eight chapters and statistical summaries, and is generously illustrated. Dr. Estella Ford Warner, director of the demonstration, and Geddes Smith of the commonwealth fund prepared the material.

Anyone interested may see a copy of the book at the county health unit center on North High street.
