

BOYS' DIVISION TO OPEN DRIVE

"Endurance Contest" Form Of Campaign for Young Y. M. C. A. Members

Monday will mark the launching of Salem's latest endurance contest, when members of the junior division of the Y. M. C. A. begin their drive to increase the membership of the boys' department of the association. This effort, styled an "aeroplane endurance" contest, is the first well-organized attempt of this sort to be made by the boys in the past two years. It will end Saturday, October 4. Organization and friendly rivalry are the keystones of this campaign. New and renewed memberships is the aim of the week's endeavors. Teams of boys under the direction of their board of directors will vie with each other; each dollar paid in for new memberships will count as two hours "up" and for renewed memberships, one. Which team can "stay" longest will be learned next Saturday night at the grand "windup" dinner and bean "feed."

Lynn Helse, with the appellation of general, and Irving Hale, as major-general, will direct the two competitive "divisions," headed by Phil Brownell and Jim Sehon, respectively. Each division chief will have at his command four team captains. All officers in the "endurance" forces are to be members of the junior board of directors. Competition will be spirited. Competition will no doubt rise to a high pitch when the five platoons in each division try to outdo each other and each division seeks to "stay up" longest and win the "feed" which will be the prize awarded next Saturday night. The losing division will have to be content with beans and "set up" the dinner for the lucky ones.

Individual trophies for solo "filers" will be: solo winner, silver Y.M.C.A. belt buckle; second, bronze buckle; third, Y. M. C. A. watch fob.

To determine campaign "report" hours for each day and attend to other last-minute details, the junior board will meet this afternoon at 1:30 at the Y.

This will also be "bring your friends" week for the boys' division. The junior life saving corps will complete its organization, which was begun Saturday.

Realty Activity Increases Here; Sales Announced

Real estate activity is considerably brighter for a number of the local dealers, judging from the number of deals which have been reported closed in the last seven days, or are now being closed. The Sears and Tucker office has just announced three trade. H. C. Finster exchanged his residence at 1238 Franklin street in West Salem for the home owned by H. M. Mead, Leo J. Rock of Stayton exchanged his house on 23rd and Chomeketa streets here for Lena Barber's property, consisting of a house and ten lots on 6th street. The Felix Wright house on Lee street becomes property of Ralph Sebern in an exchange whereby Wright secures Sebern's residence at 1272 Franklin, West Salem.

BUSICK'S at THE MARKET

Wednesday is the first day of another month. To some it's just another month. To others it brings home the realization that there should be some change made in the purchasing of family food requirements. The housewife, anxious to help and do her part, very naturally will think of Busick's Store as the most likely place to find consistent savings. As the average home will buy hundreds of items during the month, a few Saturday specials at a very low price will not offset higher prices on non-specials purchased through the days and weeks of the month. Most everyone not now buying at these stores fully intend to make one of the stores their future food store.—and we pledge you our best.

COMING!

The Cooking School That's Different

With pleasure we announce an event of more than average importance. A cooking school to be sure—but what a cooking school! Several months have been spent in planning three days that you will not soon forget—three days in a romantic kitchen—every moment crowded with new ideas. And this is the best part of our announcement: our school has been arranged by the Ella Lehr Cooking Schools, a name which means a great deal to women of the West. Every session will be under the personal supervision of one of the Ella Lehr staff of experts.

SALEM ARMORY

The Ella Lehr Schools are different—not only do they search out the best among all the multitudes of recipes and suggestions that are available, but they are devoted to creating new and practical ideas for use in the kitchen. In three days, the results of months of study are revealed before your very eyes. Every recipe has been tested and tried, every suggestion is practical—useful—helpful. Elaborate menus that require extensive equipment and expensive inroads on the family budget are not considered. But the simple pleasing ways of dressing up the good old "standbys" are the essential things in the school programs.

The Cooking School will be under the personal supervision of MISS HELEN GOODWIN of the Ella Lehr Cooking Schools.

Set aside the dates. Come and ask questions and make notes. We invite you as our guest at "The Cooking School that is different"—a thrilling and inspiring event that will help make life brighter during the rest of the year.
