GENERAL TREND OF MARKET DOWNWARD

Feeder and Stocker Grades of Hogs Show Only Advance of Week

PORTLAND, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The general market situation here reflected little optimism at the turn of the week. The general trend was downward. There was little activity in the livestock markets, cattle and sheep were practically at a standstill, and hog prices were barely steady.

The entire list of cattle showed a 25 to 75 cent decline. Good steers, 800-900 pounds, went for $5.00-$7.75, down 25-75c; good cows were $5.25-$8.00, down 25-50c, and weaners were down 25c to $10.50-$11.50 for good to choice milk-fed stuff.

In the hogs, feeder-stocker grades showed the only advance and were up 25c to $11.75-$13.25 for good to choice 70-130 pound animals. There was no change in the rest of the list which was going at these prices: Heavies, 250-290 lbs., $10.00-$11.50; lights, 160-180 lbs., $11.75-$12.00; mediums, 200-220 lbs., $10.75-$12.00.

Quietness in the sheep market was reflected in a 50c drop in lambs which were quoted at $5.50-$6.50 for good to choice stuff, 80 lb. down.

Wheat Declines

From Week ago

Moving along rather panicky lines but with a downward tendency, wheat prices averaged below last week's close. Big Bend bluestem was 93c; soft white and western white was going at 74c, and hard white, northern spring and western red was 73c. Oats improved 50 cents and was quoted at $24.00 for No. 2 38-lb. white, and No. 2 37-lb. white.

Based on buying prices, f. o. b. Portland, hay quotations were: alfalfa $18-$18.50; valley timothy $16.50; eastern Oregon timothy $18.50; clover $14; oat hay $14; oats and vetch $14.

Straw was $6.50 a ton. Eggs improved a cent to 33 cents for fresh extras, and butter extras were quoted at 39 cents.

Italian prunes were 5 1/2 to 7 1/2 cents, with petites going at 5 to 6 1/2 cents.

Eastern Oregon wool was quoted at 14-22 cents; valley coarse, 16, and medium grade, 20 cents a pound.

Oregon hops, 1930 crop, were moving at 10-12 cents a pound. The 1929 crop was selling around 6 1/2-7 cents a pound.

ENTIRE BLOCK AT ELGIN FIRE SWEEP

ELGIN, Ore., Sept. 27.—(AP)—An entire block of buildings was destroyed by fire here this afternoon. Early estimates placed the loss at about $50,000.

The fire was said to have started in a brush pile near the middle of the block and a high wind drove it to the Methodist church building. The church was soon at flame and the fire jumped to the parsonage next door and to the Charles E. Bean home on the other side. From there the fire jumped from one house to the next until the entire block was afire.

Hot cinders started a fire on the roof of the Masonic temple a three story frame building. All efforts to reach the fire were futile and the La Grande fire department, summoned to fight the fire, arrived too late to save the building. The La Grande fire fighters, however, succeeded in bringing the fire under control and prevented its spread to nearby homes.

Useful Individuals, These Four-H Club Workers; Have Their Inning at State Fair

Interesting Projects are Shown; Honors won by Most Proficient

By OLIVE M. DOAK

Out on the state fair grounds there is a building to the west of the grandstand and a barn marked "4-H club." The barn stands over pretty well to the north of "the circle," which term is used for the open space around which the livestock barns are grouped.

Upon entering that barn you will find an assortment of calves, yearlings and cows, and you will find the merriest, busiest group of boys and girls that you could ever hope to see.

One may be milking a great, patient Holstein cow. He is getting her under into shape for showing; another may be brushing the curls of an Aberdeen Angus, another shining the horns of a Jersey—whatever they are doing they are doing well and seriously and happily—for they are 4-H clubbers and they are showing their own cattle.

A 4-H club member takes any one of a number of projects of farm life—home work, gardening, stock raising and makes that his own particular work to carry through to completion according to certain rules of the club. He must learn to do all the work himself.

For instance Thursday night a "4-H dinner" was served. Mabel Edison of Lane county served the dinner. Each county has competing members in this contest. The idea is to buy, cook and serve a dinner for four people and not have it cost more than one dollar. The girl serving the meal must know about "a properly proportioned" meal—vitamins and calories and such, and she uses just the right amount of various kinds of food to create a perfect meal. At the place of each guest Mabel placed a summary of the calories contained in the meal served. Here it is:

One unit: Cocktail—100 cal.; Peaches, 25, 0.03; apples, 25, 0.04; cantaloupe, 30, .05; cherries, 20, .04.

One unit: Salad—100 cal.; Crackers, 25, .01; lettuce, 25, .05; tomato, 25, .02; C. cheese, 25, .05.

Seven units—dinner—100 cal.; Potato, 100, .03; bread, 200, .06; butter, 100, .02; spinach, 50, .20; egg, 100, .12; marmalade, 100, .04.

One unit: Dessert—200 cal.; Junket, 50, .08; cookies, 100, .04; strawberries and sugar, 100, .05.

By Mrs. Patterson. She has completed 26 club activities and is now acting as assistant county agent for club activities.

Four other youths were especially awarded for being consistent winners in club activities of any class. These four, two boys and two girls, whose names were announced Friday night were Elizabeth Rutherford, Wasco; Helen Clark, Portland; Joe Rogers, Independence; and Walter Jaeger, Wilsonville.

These four youngsters have won money on exhibits, sold large amounts of livestock, led clubs, and otherwise distinguished themselves as "producing individuals" in life before they have reached the age of 20.

Cove Girl Winner

In the 4-H club barn as you enter go straight to the end of the barn and to the right you will find a quiet little girl, dark eyes and hair, now at the great age of 15 and a freshman in high school. She is Gertrude Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bell of Cove, Oregon, a little town 16 miles from LaGrande.

Four years ago her father presented her with a few months old calf, Lion Farms Volunteer Belle by name. That cow will be standing in Miss Bell's corner of the barn and beside her will be three calves, one large one and two tiny ones. They are Miss Bell's very own and just this week Volunteer Belle won senior grand champion cow award over all the Jerseys exhibited at the state fair this year. And the cow is a 4-H club product.

Gertrude began club work four years ago. She has taken two years of sewing and one of cooking in addition to her four years of club work.

In 1929 she won the Linn trophy cup for the best Jersey calf, grand champion over all breeds at this year's eastern Oregon fair, and now her present senior grand champion award.

Is she going to college? Yes, she hopes to, but she is not sure what she wants to be. Two things upon which she is emphatic is that she will not stay on the farm all her life and that she will not be a "school teacher."

Interesting youngsters, all of them. Serious, and full of accomplishment and proud of their accomplishments. They have made a big addition to the state fair and seem to be pointing the way to the next "crop" of farmers. If this be true they of the future are going to be a grand business lot to reckon with.

Nearly 84 per cent of the motor cars registered in Poland and Finland are American-made.

HELPFUL HINTS for HEALTHFUL LIVING

SEWING and home beautification, personal health, and livestock and gardening, each and all come in for particular attention—teaching the boys and girls how to the better farmers and better housewives, teaching them that to use properly the heart, hand, head and care for the health, the 4-H's, is the most important thing in life, that is the work of 4-H club leaders.

Saturday the result of the contest to determine which girl could cook and serve the best one dollar meal was announced and Mabel was the winner. She was presented with a pressure cooker, this award being sponsored by Henry Crawford.

Leadership and ability are developed as a special activity of the club. An award was made Saturday morning for the girl or boy, who led the whole state according to points in this particular activity. The winner was 18 year old Viola Hansen of Moro. Out of 15,000 4-H club members in the state she was given the I. L. Patterson cup sponsored by Henry Crawford.
