

BISHOP CANNON RETURNS HOME

Refuses to Comment Upon New Charges Until he Reads Documents

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, returned to the United States today to face charges filed against him by four clergymen of his denomination.

He arrived with his bride of three months and former secretary, Mrs. Helen McCallum Cannon, on the liner American Legion from Brazil and left the pier in a taxicab presumably to enroute for Washington.

At first he declined to see newspapermen, but later granted an interview on prohibition, refusing, however, to discuss the charges against him.

On that point, he said: "I will say nothing until I have an opportunity to read the official documents in the case."

The bishop declined to pose for photographers and Mrs. Cannon kept to her stateroom while the bishop was closing their baggage through the customs. She then attempted to leave the ship by a freight gangway, but was greeted by a bombardment of flashlights. She took refuge behind the backs of ship officers and workers on the pier and waited until the bishop drove in a taxicab. She entered the cab, pulled down the curtains and it drove away.

Bishop Cannon, who is a bishop of Brazil, had been in the South American country for several weeks aiding the formation of the Methodist church in Brazil, and giving temperance lectures.

MERGERS PRAISED AT POWER CONFER

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., Sept. 29 (AP)—Continuation of the merger trend in the power industry was advocated in an address prepared for delivery tonight by Charles H. Hodkinson, president of the New England division of the National Electric Light association, at the annual convention here. He assailed those who, he said, made false accusations against the industry because of the combination of companies.

"To serve Americans electrically with the best service possible at a cost which will be fair to the consumers and the companies, and to keep pace with the rapid expansion in the business which is still going on, enormous sums of money will be required," Hodkinson said, "and a still further combination of companies and the consolidation of their resources for economic reasons must follow and the size of these transactions should not disturb the public mind."

"The public today is getting much misinformation about this industry from men who would not know a power station from a gasoline station, and who seem to have minds that cannot comprehend anything done on a large scale."

INTANGIBLES TAX TURNOVER IS MADE

Second half payments under the state intangibles tax law aggregated $310,000, according to an announcement made by the state tax commission here Monday. A total of $102,000 excise tax returns also has been turned over to the state treasurer. The excise tax receipts represent advance payments as this tax is not due until October 1.

Records of the state tax commission show that the returns from the state intangibles tax law this year will aggregate slightly less than a million dollars. FOX ELSINORE Today — Claudette Colbert in "Young Man of Manhattan."

THE GRAND Today — "On with the Show." Wednesday — Alexander Gray in "Spring is Here." Friday — Richard Arlen in "Light of Western Stars."

THE HOLLYWOOD Today — "Paramount" on "Parade." Wednesday — Maurice Chevalier in "The Big Pond." Friday — Buck Jones in "The Lone Rider."

Claudette Colbert in "Young Man of Manhattan" adds one more laurel to her fast growing supply, and you will agree with me on that Mr. and Mrs. Reader, no matter what kind of literature you like most. And you will also agree with me that Charles Ruggles is one of the most amusing men to appear on the screen for many a day, if ever. He is a comedian without the pies, pantomime, horn-rimmed glasses, or feet. He is intelligently funny yet is easy enough to understand that even children could be amused by his foolishness. It is my opinion that he has a good time in this world along with the people whom he makes laugh.

The "Young Man of Manhattan" is Norman Foster and he is also very good in his part. The play is the story of two young newspaper folk who fall in love at first sight. The girl is ambitious and the man is brilliant but lazy. She makes the money and he is always going to do something. Too much liquor, too much jealousy, an extra man and an extra woman and the problem of matrimony becomes very difficult. The solution is a surprise and quite logical.
