MacDowell Club Honors new Director

One of the delightful events of the week was the informal reception for which Mrs. Hal Hoss was hostess Monday night and at which time members of the Mac-Dowell club chorus and a group of the new active club members paid honor to Lena Belle Tartar, the new director of the club for this year.

A charmingly informal evening with several lovely solos sung by Miss Tartar was completed with a late refreshment bour.

During the early part of the evening a short business meeting was held and some important decisions reached. One decision made public from this meeting was that the MacDowell club will become a member of the state federation of music clubs and thereby participate in the state wide musical activities. This is a wide step forward by the local organization.

Two other important announcements are made from the Mac-Dowell club. The first Mac-Dowell club program will be given Otcober 27, at the residence studio of Prof. and Mrs. Roberts. An informal evening of music with Prof. Roberts playing several pipe organ selections will precede an informal reception in which it is hoped that all the members of the MacDowell club, the chorus and those holding sason tickets will join.

Season tickets are now on sale. Mrs. W. L. Phillips, treasurer of the club has charge of the selling and any one interested may call Mrs. Phillips for information.

The Christmas program of the club will be a choice one with the Portland string quartet giving the program. The exact date has not yet been told. Beautiful programs have been planned by the MacDowell club for the coming season and will add much to the most musical winter that Salem has had, per haps ever. The Monday night reception with its enthusiasm, and ambitious plans seems to promise much from this organization during the winter.

The guest rooms of the Hoss home made an especially beautiful background for the evening through the use of a profusion of brilliant crimson gladioli.
